Diefenbaker Choosing Cabinet

Pearkes Seems Sure Of Defence Ministry

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

OTTAWA (BUP)—Ontario, British Columbia and Quebec today confronted Prime Minister-Designate John Diefenbaker as problem provinces in planning his new cabinet, but for different and even contrary reasons in each case.

MAJ.-GEN. G. R. PEARKES, VC
. . . defence minister?

In Ontario the difficulty is the concentration of too much cabinet material in the city of Toronto. Messrs. Donald Fleming, J. M. MacDonnell, George Hees, and Roland Michener all have valid claims for preference, while from the adjoining area John Hamilton of West York and Michael Starr of Oshawa also are conceded to be contenders. The combined list constitutes an embarrassing surfeit of material for the Toronto district.

TWO NOT ENOUGH

In British Columbia the problem also is one of selection. Normally the West Coast province rates only one cabinet minister, but in recent years it has been accorded two as the result of a cabinet deal when the Liberal ministers couldn't decided between the entry of James Sinclair and Ralph Campney, QC, and compromised by admitting both. But even two ministers won't give the new Prime Minister sufficient leeway.

He has on hand Messrs. Howard Green, E. Davie Fulton, and General George Pearkes, VC. Rejection of any one of the triumvirate is impossible. But alloting British Columbia three cabinet posts is equally impossible. It is the classic situation of an irresistible force meeting an immovable object.

In Quebec the problem swings to the other extreme. Diefenbaker is bound by a pledge to give the French-speaking province the same number of cabinet posts as did the Liberals. That means the appointment of five ministers. But the new Prime Minister has a maximum of eight elected Quebec MP's amongst whom to choose, and of the eight, not more than three are regarded as sufficiently experienced to be classed as possible cabinet material.

MAY BE SENATORS

In the situation Diefenbaker is expected to name two appointees to the Senate who will serve as members of the cabinet until another election gives Quebec province the opportunity of returning a greater number of supporters amongst whom he can choose.

Diefenbaker said he will announce his ministry on Friday. But it is expected that the list will be incomplete and that a number of minor portfolios will be left vacant to be filled on his return from London.

In the Friday announcement it is anticipated that there will be three Quebec appointees: Messrs. Leon Balcer of Three Rivers, William Hamilton of Notre Dame de Grace, and Paul Comtois of Nicolet-Yamaska. Possible later additions via the Senate appointment route are rumored to include Rene Duranleau, who unsuccessfully opposed Liberal cabinet minister Lionel Chevrier in Montreal-Laurier.

Latest speculation on the first draft of the cabinet assigns J. M. MacDonnell to the post of Finance Minister, Donald Fleming to trade and commerce, George Pearkes, VC, to national defence, and E. Davie Fulton to external affairs.

Other inclusions in the first draft will be A. J. Brooks of New Brunwick, George Knowlan of Nova Scotia and Angus McLean of Prince Edward Island.

One of the most significant of the current rumors is that Diefenbaker proposes to take General Pearkes with him to next week's London conference. If he does, the obvious purpose will be to observe first hand the streamlining which United Kingdom defence forces have been undergoing. It is well known that the new government hopes to get a substantial part of the money it is going to need to meet its increased pension, tax reduction, and other pledges from savings in defence expenditures.

Mao Taking Over As Red Leader?

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Communist China's leader Mao Tse-tung admits that "contradictions" exist in a Communist society—and thereby differs with Soviet ideologists who maintain such a thing is impossible.

In a speech made public today, Mao declared that any attempt to deal with such contradictions by "coercive measures will not only be ineffective but harmful."

"We cannot abolish religion by administrative orders, nor can we force people not to believe in it," he said. "We cannot compel people to give up idealism, no more than we can force them to believe in Marxism. In settling matters of controversial issues among the people we can only use democratic methods, methods of discussion, of criticism, and not coercive nor high-handed methods."

DIFFERS WITH KREMLIN

Mao, who appears to have taken over as the ideological high priest of world Communism since Stalin's death, denied the often voiced claim of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, that leaders and the masses can never find themselves in contradiction in a Communist state.

Mao's speech, broadcast by Peiping radio, was originally delivered Feb. 27 at the 11th session of Red China's supreme state conference.

Hitherto, the 17,000-word text had been a Communist secret, with only a few passages having leaked out several months ago from Poland, where Mao's reasoning apparently was used to bolster the independent Communist regime of Ladislaw Gomulka. The broadcast said Mao had gone over the verbatim text and made certain additions.

Mao conceded that the Hungarian uprising last autumn caused stirrings even inside Communist China, with some people hoping for a two-party system on the Western model. He said:

"Certain people in our country were delighted when the Hungarian events took place. They hoped that something similar would happen in China, that thousands upon thousands of people would demonstrate in the streets against the people's government."

But this "ran counter to the interests of the masses."

For the first time, Mao made it clear the Hungarian uprising had brought doubts to some Chinese circles. It was impossible to determine how widespread these doubts were.

MARILYN BELL ENGAGED TO FORMER LIFE GUARD

TORONTO (CP)—Marilyn Bell, first swimmer to conquer Lake Ontario, is engaged to Joseph Chipper Di Lascio, 22, of Atlantic City, N.J., her father said today.

Syd Bell, father of the 19-year-old swim star, said the two are engaged "but that wedding plans are indefinite."

Marilyn met her fiance in 1954 when she won the women's world champion title at the 26-mile Atlantic City swim. Di Lascio, then 18 and employed as a lifeguard during the summer at the beach, was attending La Salle University of Philadelphia.

Asked whether the money she has gained from swimming will make any difference, Marilyn said "a lot of people perhaps think I have a fortune, but it isn't really."

Disarmament Talks Facing New Snags

LONDON (UP)—The official Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today accused Harold E. Stassen of trying to wreck the London disarmament talks although he threw his support Monday to a new Soviet disarmament scheme.

The Izvestia blast and reports that France plans to reject any outright ban on nuclear tests because it expects to have nuclear weapons of its own within two years raised major new snags in the London talks which resume Thursday.

An Izvestia editorial broadcast by Moscow radio said "intrigues" had sprung up around Stassen aimed at wrecking the talks. It said Stassen had been given the task of trying to discredit the Soviet proposals by leading the UN disarmament sub-committee into an impasse and shifting responsibility for failure of the talks onto the Soviet Union.

A New York dispatch in Izvestia attacked American "opponents of international operation," declared the "overwhelming majority of the American public wants immediate ending of nuclear tests" and said the calculations of the Washington "atomaniacs" are "build on sand and doomed to failure."

The Russian blast was unexpected because western delegates—especially the American delegates—said they were prepared to move toward the disarmament position.

WIRE BRIEFS

Bids for Island

The negotiations, with the City of Nanaimo, are for a price of $200,000.

Austerity in France

PARIS (Reuters)—France today embarked on a new austerity regime—the first drastic step by the young government of Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury.

Beer-eries?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A majority of Vancouver grocery operators favor selling beer and wine to the public in Vancouver, it was indicated Monday in the returns of a mail questionnaire by the B.C. branch of the Retail Merchants Association.

Forest Fires Beaten

HARRISON, B.C. (CP) — The flames which roared over 1,600 acres of forest here last week are just about out now, but it will be many weeks before the area is considered safe.

10 Die in Crash

ALGIERS (AP) — A military vehicle loaded with soldiers struck a mine near Tlencen in western Algeria and 10 were killed, French officials reported today.

No Taxes Paid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John L. McClellan (Dem. Ark.) said today the Senate rackets investigating committee has discovered no one paid federal income taxes on about $60,000 raised at a 1956 dinner to buy a new home for Max Kralstein, New York boss of the Bakers' Union.

Goodwill Tour

TOKYO (AP) — A 13-member Japanese iron and steel industrial mission leaves on a two-week goodwill tour of Canada.

UNEF Kills Arabs

CAIRO (Reuters) — Headquarters of the United Nations Emergency Force said today two Arabs have been killed and one taken into custody by a UNEF patrol close to the Gaza demarcation line separating Egypt and Israel.

Relief Coming For Burned Up Eastern Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Relief from the record-breaking heat wave that has scorched Southern Ontario and Quebec for the last two days was forecast today by the weatherman.

Cooler air, preceded by thunderstorms, is expected to push into the hot, humid air mass bringing relief to southern Ontario late Wednesday, but not to Quebec for at least another day.

A broiling 95 degrees was forecast for Windsor today, 90 for Toronto and Hamilton. Montreal, at the edge of the warm air belt, was expected to be cooler—at 85.

COOLER ELSEWHERE

The early heat wave was restricted to the two central provinces. It was cloudy with showers in British Columbia Monday and the forecast for today called for clearing weather along the coast and unsettled conditions in the interior.

The Prairies had a comfortable 70 to 75 degrees Monday. A few showers were forecast for Alberta and Saskatchewan with temperatures reaching the 70s or low 80s. There was rain in eastern Manitoba, but cooler, drier air was predicted for later in the day.

By contrast with the torrid heat in Quebec and Ontario, frost nipped farmers' crops in eastern Nova Scotia. The mercury dipped to 31 at Copper Lake. Halifax had a low of 47 and Fredericton a low of 49. Sydney's 34 was one degree cooler than a record set in 1932.

NEW YORK HIT

The metropolis baked in 90-degree heat for the third day in a row. The city's sweltering millions face more of the same today. Thousands of air conditioners were switched on as the temperature soared. That helped boost the power load toward the breaking point.

A similar power crisis developed in Chicago. Household voltage dropped from the standard of 120 volts to 113.

EUROPE, TOO

Berlin reported a high of 89.6 degrees. It was 87 in London and Paris had 86.

In France, five persons were drowned in swimming and boating accidents in the Seine. A sixth person died of a sunstroke.

In Italy, the death toll from Alpine floods and whirlwinds rose to 17. The body of a man was found among the twisted girders of a bridge which collapsed over the Stura River.

Neighbors See, Hear Man Die in Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man, trying to crawl to the door and safety from his fire-swept store, died in the flames early today.

He died within sight and hearing of neighbors who were turned back by roaring flames when they tried to go to his assistance.

The victim was not immediately identified.

Firemen said the rear of the building was a mass of flames when they arrived. The building housed four business premises with living quarters above. The blaze apparently started in a sofa in one of the suites.

Mrs. William Morton said she awoke to hear a man screaming, "Help me, help me."

She looked across from her rear window and saw a silhouette "dancing around in flames. Then the flames shot up higher and he disappeared from sight."

Era Ended In Shadow Of Monday Evening

By DON PEACOCK

OTTAWA (CP)—The end of Canada's biggest political guessing game in years, 22 years perhaps, came in sweat and heat.

By sundown Monday the pieces of the puzzle began to fit together:

The Progressive Conservative leader accepted Mr. Massey's invitation to form a new government, ending 22 years of Liberal rule.

As he was leaving, the sun had disappeared behind the trees; the spacious lawns were deep in shadow as a happy Mr. Diefenbaker mused:

"Every day is a holiday for me, I suppose, from now on."

But it was no holiday Monday. It was hot and sweaty. It was frequently frantic. It was also, however, history.

The thermometer on the shady side of a portico pillar at Rideau Hall read 90 degrees when Mr. St. Laurent arrived at 6.16 p.m. EDT (3.16 PDT) to tender his resignation. It had crept down to 84 when Mr. Diefenbaker showed up two hours and nine minutes later.

But most of the heat and sweat was concentrated in the second-floor corridor outside the Privy Council offices in the east block of the Parliament Buildings.

There the Liberal cabinet met to quit office. There Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Diefenbaker had their 40-minute late-afternoon meeting while the nation awaited the final outcome.

New PM Faces Heavy Task In Implementing Promises

OTTAWA (CP) — The new Progressive Conservative government of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will have to plan on a hefty legislative program to make good its election campaign promises.

The promises cover a wide range of subjects—from social security to agriculture, from resources development to fiscal policy, from parliamentary rights to international trade.

Some can be implemented immediately; others will take longer because they are long-term efforts.

But as Mr. Diefenbaker said at one point in his 100-speech campaign:

"My idea of politics is that promises should only be made that can be effectuated."

$300,000,000 HIS ESTIMATE

Later he said his party's promises would cost no more than $300,000,000 for current expenditures, excluding spending on self-liquidating projects which would pay themselves off over the years. That would be one-fifth of the $1,500,000,000 price tag the Liberals placed on the Conservative pledges.

And, on top of that, he promised to reduce "unnecessary" taxes, including the 10 per cent excise tax on automobiles.

Mr. Diefenbaker promised a September session to increase old age and other pensions to "a fair and reasonable" figure tied to cost-of-living increases.

Social security measures would be maintained at "a high standard to keep pace with national productivity."

A large section of Mr. Diefenbaker's election platform was filled with planks aimed at agriculture.

He pledged the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the spread between the

Three Men Convicted Of $11,000 Robbery

VANCOUVER—Three men, identified as part of a foursome seen by a police inspector "giggling" as they counted $11,500 in stolen money, were convicted Monday of armed robbery.

Magistrate Oscar Orr found James Semenoff, 23; his brother, John Semenoff, 22, and Raymond Peters, 27, guilty of robbing the downtown Drake Hotel April 25. A fourth man, Vern Barnes, 23, was remanded until Thursday for a decision. The others will be sentenced the same day.

Police Inspector Ian McGregor said earlier he peered through a hotel room keyhole and saw three men counting money. He testified he and other officers broke down the door and arrested Barnes, James Semenoff and Peters. John Semenoff was arrested in the hallway.

SUNDAY BALL HEARING

VANCOUVER — Hearing of a charge against the Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League for playing Sunday baseball games was adjourned Monday to June 26.

The adjournment was granted at request of Crown counsel Stewart McMorran. Senator J. W. De B. Farris, defence counsel, said he will seek a further adjournment on the new date.

ZUCCO REFUSED PENSION

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Bea Zucco, who has staged three sit-down protests at government buildings in efforts to get a pension for her sick husband, Monday suffered another defeat in her campaign.

The Workmen's Compensation Board said a board of medical referees has been unable to find evidence of silicosis in former miner Jack Zucco, a patient at Vancouver's Pearson Tuberculosis Hospital.

The board said it is unable to grant a pension without such evidence.

FRANK WARD DIES

VANCOUVER — Funeral services will be held here Wednesday for Frank G. Ward, founder and president of the largest and oldest surviving music house in B.C. He died suddenly over the weekend at his home at the age of 62.

Born in Valleyfield, Que., he came here in 1904 and started work three years later for a musical firm.

TRAPPED BY CAVE-IN

NORTH VANCOUVER—Lloyd Thorpe, 29, was taken to North Vancouver General Hospital Monday with possible internal injuries after being trapped up to his neck in a ditch cave-in.

Witnesses said Thorpe was removing shoring timbers from the 13-foot ditch when a side wall of earth fell on him.

Fellow workers rescued him.

CLOSER CHECK URGED

VANCOUVER—A coroner's jury investigating a recent death in a city jail has recommended closer and more frequent observation of intoxicated prisoners.

The recommendation Monday followed an inquest into the June 8 death of Woodrow Thomas Gibbs, 39. The jury ruled he died accidentally as a result of being under the influence of alcohol.

60 SUITS STOLEN

VANCOUVER—Men's suits valued at $5,250 have been stolen in the last two weeks from the Hastings Street store of Murray Goldman. Goldman reported Monday that 50 suits worth $3,500 were stolen in a burglary at the store during the weekend. Last week, Goldman reported theft of 10 suits valued at $750 between June 1 and 7.

A Conservative government also would approach Britain to buy Canadian wheat with $17,000,000 interest she owes Canada from last year on a post-war loan.

PROCESSING AT HOME

Development of natural resources and encouragement of more processing in Canada of raw materials now being exported to the U.S. was promised.

The resources program would be a 10-year effort and would include the development of north-south highways.

Priority would be given to federal aid to help British Columbia develop the Columbia River power project. The South Saskatchewan River dam and irrigation project would receive federal aid.

Mr. Diefenbaker pledged establishment of a Canadian energy board to encourage balanced power development among coal, oil, gas and atomic coal, oil, gas and atomic energy.

Provincial and municipal governments would receive a larger share of the national income. A new federal-provincial tax conference would be called to give the provinces a better deal.

WOULD AID CITIES

A Conservative government would end what Mr. Diefenbaker described as federal interference with the rights of the provinces and would take steps to relieve municipalities which find themselves hard hit by federal tight-money policies.

The question of parliamentary supremacy drew from Mr. Diefenbaker the pledge to abolish the rule of debate-limiting closure. He also supported the idea of appointing a permanent Commons Speaker.

He proposed non-partisan redistribution of Commons seats and reform of the Senate.

Canada would spearhead a call for a Commonwealth trade and economic conference to help restore to this country's exports some of the Commonwealth markets lost to other countries.

43 INJURED IN TORONTO TROLLEY CRASH

TORONTO (CP) — A rear-end collision of two streetcars in east-end Toronto today sent 43 persons to hospital.

Passengers were flung on top of one another when a Kingston Road car, operated by a student driver, crashed into the rear of a standing westbound Queen Street car.

'Kingpin' Killed In New York Gangland Slaying

Two assassins pumped four bullets into Frank Scalise, 55, and fled in a black sedan. Police described Scalise as an associate of gambler Frank Costello and Charles (Lucky) Luciano, deported vice lord.

Federal authorities suspected Scalise of being involved in international narcotics smuggling. He had been sought for questioning in three murders.

Moments before his death Scalise purchased 90 cents worth of peaches and lettuce. He was stuffing money into a pocket when the gunmen struck.

Enrico Mazzaro, 61-year-old store owner, was booked for his own protection, as a material witness. He was held in $100,000 bail.

Police said the shooting was not connected with the recent attempt on Costello's life.

Train Off Tracks In France; 10 Die

ARRAS, France (UP) — Three cars of a Paris-bound express train jumped the tracks near here today while traveling at 50 miles an hour. Police said 10 persons were killed and 20 injured.

Doctors to Set Own Standards For Hospitals

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian medical men are preparing for their own hospital-standards check. Doctors are anxious to increase the supply of laboratory technologists. They will step up cancer refresher courses, and soon will have new fee schedules for veterans.

But all these decisions at Monday's opening of the Canadian Medical Association's annual convention were overshadowed briefly by the experiment of giving two groups of 400 laymen close-up views of appendectomies via color television.

Meanwhile, the CMA's general council, described as "the parliament of the medical profession in Canada," began studying national problems.

WILL "RUN OWN SHOW"

Of major importance Monday was the firm decision to split from the joint Canada - United States commission on hospital accreditation, on which the CMA is the only Canadian representative. The joint group has handled hospital standards in both countries since 1952 and previously it was the sole chore of the American College of Surgeons.

The all-Canadian program, toward which the CMA has been working for the last several years, is scheduled to become effective January 1, 1959.

Dr. Arthur F. Van Wart, of Fredericton, Monday night was named president-elect of the association.

Dr. Norman H. Gosse, of Halifax, was named chairman of the CMA's general council, and Dr. G. W. Halpenny, of Montreal, was elected honorary treasurer at the annual meeting here.

U.S. Blasts Fourth Atomic Test Shot

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Atomic scientists exploded the fourth shot in the current atomic test series at 5.45 a.m. MDT today.

The Atomic Energy Commission said "light fallout" from the blast forced evacuation of the test site control point.

Five minutes later the billowing mushroom cloud, rising almost six miles into the sky, began to sift radio-active contamination toward the control point.

AEC officials said later the fall-out was not severe enough to constitute a health hazard. The evacuation was carried out as a drill.

Aid Promised Tories—St. Laurent

"Although no party will have a clear majority in the new Parliament the Progressive Conservative party appears to have the largest number of elected members.

PROPER COURSE

"In the circumstances I reached the conclusion that the proper course for me to take was to submit the resignation of the Liberal administration to his excellency the governor - general, which I have done today.

"Before doing so, I advised the leader of the Progressive Conservative party of my intention, adding that of course we would carry on if he was not prepared to accept the responsibility of forming a government, but that if he does, my colleagues and I would extend full co-operation to him and his party in their arrangements for taking over so that the Queen's government can go on without interruption.

"I have also told Mr. Diefenbaker that I feel the Liberal members of Parliament will not attempt by obstruction to prevent the new government from carrying through Parliament the program it has placed before the people, though we shall, of course exercise our right to express our views freely on the measures introduced in Parliament.

"We feel that the growth and prosperity of the country should not be endangered by instability of government which would come from irresponsible obstruction."

Polish, German Reds Conferring

Bitterest Communist Feud at Issue As Gomulka Seeks to Settle Quarrel

BERLIN (AP)—Polish leader Wladyslaw Gomulka today opened talks with East Germany's Stalinist rulers aimed at working out an end to one of the bitterest feuds inside the Soviet bloc.

Party and government delegations of the two Red satellites opened a three-day closed-door conference shortly after the Polish visitors got a red-carpet welcome.

Gomulka said "we believe in co-operation among all countries regardless of the order of their societies and we believe this sort of co-operation is of importance for the future of Germany and Europe."

IMPORTANT PROBLEMS

The talks, he said, would deal with "important problems of mutual interest involving the development of socialism and safeguarding of European security."

Since Gomulka broke away from tight Moscow control last October, Polish and East German politicos have been sniping at each other. Apparently only Russian intervention has prevented the quarrel from flaring into an open rift in relations.

Walter Ulbricht, Stalinist secretary of the East German Communist party, has condemned Gomulka's liberal ideas and the so-called independent road to communism. Ulbricht hews close to the Moscow line.

The article says "the prevailing atmosphere in the army . . . is worrying us greatly." It clearly indicates that the feeling in the army is as widespread as in the rest of Poland.

Zarzychi says "we notice doubts in the purposefulness of our alliance with the Soviet Union, of the importance of Soviet aid for our economy, and of Soviet support for our national interests."

He says Communists in the army should stop living the life of "offended virgins" and either push the official line or leave the party.

WARSAW (AP) — The defence ministry has called for a broad political offensive to stamp out widespread anti-Communist and anti-Soviet feeling in the Polish army.

The call was made in an article by Vice-Defence Minister Zarzycki in the Polish Army Journal.

3 Cheat Death Mile Above Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Three men were rescued by helicopter and private boat late Monday night after a harrowing two hours in the Niagara River a mile above the cataract.

Two of the men were clinging to a rock. The third was in a 16-foot outboard motorboat.

Authorities said Dennis Miller, 36, and Thomas Sterling, 50, both of Niagara Falls, Ont., were cruising in the motorboat when the engine failed.

Miller fell overboard as the two were trying to fix it, but was able to swim to a rock about 150 yards off shore.

The third man, Robert Bryan, of this city, said he heard Miller's cries from the shore. He swam to Miller's aid while others called police.

Miller and Bryan said they clung to the rock for nearly two hours. Later Miller told authorities, "I would have let go long ago if it hadn't been for him comforting me."

Sterling, in the boat, was taken in tow by a private motorboat, while a two-place helicopter from the air force base here settled down near the rock to pick up Miller.

Signs of Levelling Off Seen in Canada's Economy

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's economy showed some signs of levelling off in the first three months of 1957 after a prolonged period of continuing rises, the bureau of statistics reported today.

An indicator was the gross national product, value of all goods and services produced, which stood at an annual rate of $30,910,000,000 for the three months.

While sharply higher than the annual rate of $28,726,000,000 in the first quarter of 1956, the 1957 rate was slightly below the record $30,960,000,000 in the October-December period of last year.

Canada, for the year as a whole had gross national product of $29,866,000,000 for 1956. The Liberal government earlier this year forecast an increase to $31,250,000,000 for 1957.

37th ANNUAL REPORT OF

DOMINION STORES LIMITED

TO THE SHOPPING PUBLIC

Recently, Dominion Stores Limited mailed its 37th Annual Report to the 3,280 men and women who as shareholders in the Company own the business.

In addition to reporting thus to the people who own the business, Dominion believes also in making an Annual Report to the millions of satisfied customers from coast to coast whose ever-increasing patronage has built Dominion from three small stores in 1919 to more than 325 today.

Following are some of the highlights from Dominion's 37th Annual Report for the fiscal year ended March 23, 1957:

- Dominion attracted the greatest number of customers in its history. As a result, sales increased by more than 50 million dollars to a record total of $270,518,579. (See at right a breakdown of where each customer's money goes.)
- Thirty modern new markets were opened during the year, and construction was started on an additional 31 from Vancouver to Halifax.
- More than a thousand new jobs were created by Dominion's growth, and at year end a total of 5,797 full-time and 4,681 part-time people were employed in the stores, plants and offices of the Dominion organization.
- A new $4,000,000 Distribution Centre was opened at Montreal, one of the modern centres where Dominion gathers the products of Canadian farms, fisheries, meat packers, and processing plants, for fast, efficient distribution to our retail stores. It is the efficiency of behind-the-scenes food handling that enables Dominion to offer the shopping public merchandise at the highest peak of freshness and quality, at the lowest possible price.
- Net profit for the year amounted to slightly more than two cents on every dollar sales. Of this, almost 1½ cents is being reinvested in the business to expand and improve our service to the shopping public.

We sincerely thank the millions of customers whose patronage has built this great truly Canadian enterprise. In appreciation we will continue to strive for ever-increasing efficiency at every level of our operations, to help cut food costs and provide maximum shopping comfort and convenience.

The New Government

MR. DIEFENBAKER BECOMES Prime Minister on Friday and all Canadians must hope for his success in that office. But by forming a Conservative Government Mr. Diefenbaker will not have solved the parliamentary stalemate or ended the present political confusion. We are only beginning a process of clarification which will take some time, several months at least.

The new Prime Minister must be given a reasonable period to organize a Cabinet, to represent the nation at the Commonwealth Conference and to concert a policy. Then, at no distant date and certainly by early autumn, he is bound to meet Parliament and see whether it is ready to vote confidence in him. Meanwhile he has the constitutional right and obligation to carry on the routine affairs of Government. Lacking a parliamentary majority, he has no right to inaugurate any important new policy or to take any decisive act which Parliament might repudiate.

Unless the new Government makes some unlikely mistake it seems assured of a vote of confidence as soon as the new Parliament meets. None of the opposition parties wishes to precipitate an election at the moment. The Liberal Opposition will be perfectly entitled to support the Government for the time being even on policies that it does not accept, since its own policies have been rejected by the people. The C.C.F. and Social Credit parties evidently are prepared to co-operate with Mr. Diefenbaker for a time, anyway.

It will be the Government not the Opposition that will desire an early election and we may be sure that the Government will arrange such an election as soon as possible. Mr. Diefenbaker cannot long tolerate a precarious minority position in which his Government's life is always at the hazard of a parliamentary vote.

Moreover, the Government will wish to reach the electorate before the bloom of the recent election victory has rubbed off, before the other parties have begun to recover from their defeat and before any controversial public issue has arisen. Mr. Diefenbaker will certainly feel confident of a clear majority at the polls if he can reach the country soon enough. For these reasons the opposition parties may try to stall off an election but it probably will be called before snow flies.

It is to be expected that Mr. Diefenbaker will convene Parliament during the summer and submit at least the first instalment of a policy —no doubt higher old age pensions, reduction in income tax, financial assistance to farmers and other items in the Conservative election program. All these proposals, we may safely assume, will be ratified by a Parliament which is not ready to quarrel with the Government and precipitate an election.

Once Mr. Diefenbaker has a vote of confidence, but not before, he will unquestionably have the constitutional right to dissolve Parliament at any time to suit his convenience. The Crown's obligation to take his advice on dissolution was established for all time in the constitutional crisis of 1926. Therefore if he wants an early election, as presumably he does, he can have it even if he has met no obstruction in Parliament.

The recent poll revealed that the nation did not have confidence in the St. Laurent Government but it did not prove that the nation had confidence in any available alternative. The Conservative delegation in Parliament is far less than a majority, the Conservative vote in the country less than half the total and even less than the Liberal vote.

Nevertheless the nation believes that Mr. Diefenbaker should have his chance to govern and it will have its own chance, not long from now, to say whether he should be confirmed in office for the next four or five years.

Thus the party structure of Parliament has been shattered for the time being but the constitution, a far more important concern, has come through this crisis inviolate, to the honor of the Government and the Opposition alike. So ends a long and illustrious Liberal era which transformed the nation. So begins the Conservative era which we hope will continue more than two decades of national progress.

In Which We Serve

PRESS REPRESENTATIVES who yesterday saw the future HMCS Fraser in the final phase of her builder's trials received a very vivid impression of what a modern warship is like. The new anti-submarine destroyer escort is more advanced over the ships of 1939 than the latter were over those of 1914.

In manoeuvrability, speed and intricate controls, in defence against atomic radiation, in the comfort of the officers and men who will serve in the ship, this product of Yarrow's Ltd. is an eye-opener. On June 28 she will become a unit of the Canadian Navy, a source of pride for the service and the makers alike.

The Fraser is a defensive warship. She is designed to find and destroy enemy submarines, and for that highly specialized job there are few ships in the world to equal her. At $25 millions she is a heavy investment in defence, but she could return this investment with interest by saving one important convoy in wartime. With thirteen other ships of her class she will form a vital part of Canada's seawall, and an important part of this country's contribution to the joint defence program of NATO.

The local builders are to be congratulated on an excellent accomplishment; the Defence Department and the Navy are to be commended for an outstanding addition to our sea strength. Canada may well be proud of this new ship and the men who will take her to sea.

A Community Property

THE VICTORIA KINSMEN have a plan to spend about $22,000 of their money to develop a park area at the Gorge. Quite logically, they want definite assurance that the region they improve will remain a park and not be sold for building lots or commercial development.

The area they have in mind is part, or all, of the old Gorge Park owned by the city below the Gorge Bridge. This property is located in Saanich.

Victoria's city council has before it a suggestion to sell the area to Saanich. The suggestion is excellent if the price is right.

The price, we suggest, should be one dollar and the definite assurance that the land conveyed to Saanich shall always be used for park purposes. That qualification should meet the requirements of the Kinsmen. It should also serve the long-term interests of this entire community.

A brief look at fairly recent history justifies that claim. In the days when the Gorge was Greater Victoria's summer playground, Victoria operated the "Free" bathing house on the shore northeast of the Gorge Bridge. It also maintained the picnic area and gardens stretching further east. In those days it was used universally by Greater Victorians and was the site of some of the outstanding aquatic events of the capital's history.

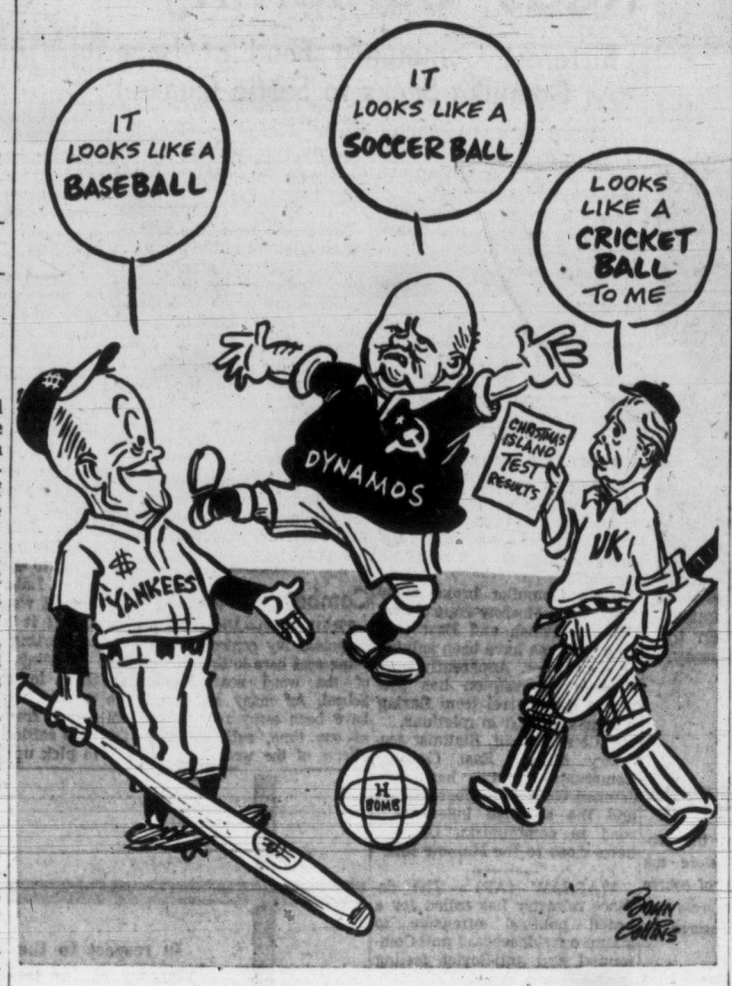
If it is again developed and regains some of the popularity it knew 30 or 40 years ago, it will still be a centre for recreation. As such it will continue to be a community asset and a fitting part of a metropolitan parks system when Victoria, Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay finally recognize the desirability of such an arrangement.

If there is some concern now over the fact that it is owned by one member of the Greater Victoria family and housed by another, then any possible embarrassment could be overcome by this simple transfer.

Unless the time arises when each municipal unit in this community raises gates to close against residents from other municipal units, the formality of ownership should be of little public interest.

The fact remains that all of Greater Victoria must hold onto, and acquire more, parks, not particularly for immediate needs but for obvious requirements a few years hence. If the Kinsmen are willing to put their money into such a worthy development as that proposed at the Gorge, commonsense dictates that they be given every encouragement to do so. Assuring them that the land would remain a park is a small enough expression of appreciation for what they are ready to do.

In the Big Leagues Now



LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Smooth and the Rough

NOW that its superficial confusions are being straightened out, it is time perhaps to consider what last week's election meant fundamentally. But not time yet, of course, to attempt any conclusion, for the true meaning of these events cannot be guessed at the moment either by the victor or the vanquished.

Hutchison

Still, I think we can discern something pretty fundamental in the electors' verdict on money. The election, it seems to me, was more important in this respect than in any other. For it tested something much larger than the policy of a government and the policy of an opposition. It tested the ability of a free people to manage their money collectively and, apart from foreign affairs, that is the biggest question before any free society at this point in history.

NOW, I am not speaking here of the wisdom of any particular government or opposition since the electors already have made up their minds on that issue. I am thinking of a process which will long outlast all living politicians.

It would be re-assuring to assume that the voters rejected the existing government because they had carefully considered its so-called tight-money policy and decided that it was unwise, that they wanted another and a definite policy.

Unfortunately we cannot assume that. The tight-money policy was not really considered at all and could not be when the government utterly failed to explain or defend it and the opposition did not try to understand it. Moreover, a thousand other questions troubled the electors, chief among them, I imagine, the age and smugness of the government.

THUS it cannot be said in truth that the electorate as a whole deliberately and consciously rejected hard money in favor of soft. But, unfortunately, in practical politics the electorate's decision may be so interpreted.

The Cyclical Budget, which every party accepted in theory some ten years ago perished once it was applied in practice. It survived, under Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, with his huge post-war budget surpluses, so long as the government was unassailably in power for other reasons. It died, under Mr. Harris, with a very small and cautious surplus, as soon as the government lost its hold on the voters for other reasons.

IF nothing else is certain in the prospects of a Conservative government we may be sure of one thing—never again, in the visible future, will a finance minister budget for surpluses to pay off debt and temper inflation, when in a time of boom. That may be sound in economics. It has been found impossible in politics. And there, in politics, the Keynesian system of economics falls to the ground because the electors appear unwilling to take the rough patches with the smooth.

The whole Keynesian apparatus—budget surpluses in good times, interest rates fixed by the market, tight money or call it what you will—annoyed the electorate not because it was unwise (even if it was unwise) but because it was hard to take. Sound economists might attack this system as unsound, both in theory and practice. The politicians attacked it, quite successfully, because it was irritating, difficult and misunderstood.

THE question arising in every thoughtful mind before the election was not whether the government's exact fiscal policy deserved support but whether any policy strong enough to preserve the value of money can long survive in a democracy.

The easy answer from the ballot box is in the negative. Any man observing that apparent answer may be excused if he unloads every government bond he owns, his life insurance and other fixed savings as soon as possible and invests in equities as a hedge against inevitable, perpetual inflation. But this impulse is probably too desperate and premature.

THE people rejected a government, yes. But they did not necessarily reject the principle that it is the duty of any government to preserve their savings. Though they didn't want the existing government and its policy, they expect its successor to preserve their savings by some other policy.

The real question, therefore, is how the new government will accomplish that result. It must have in its own mind a clear alternative to the existing policy and it must be given a fair, full chance to present that alternative. Therein, despite all the superficial confusion, we can discern already the fundamental test of Mr. Diefenbaker. Let us all hope that he can meet it.

'Down the Drain'

Well, sir, the not altogether unexpected has finally come to pass, and it is now evident that the federal Liberals almost went "down the drain," if you'll pardon the borrowed vulgarism.

But, strange to say, it is not Mr. Bennett and his Social Crackpots who are to be applauded as the power which brought about the near calamity to the Liberals.

As a matter of fact if it were not for the Bennett and Manning Social Crackpots taking up space in the political field, the true Conservative party would undoubtedly have put a real landslide under the Liberal party and truly sent it "down the drain."

Next time around it may well be the Social Crackpots who will be drained off, once and for all, from the Canadian political picture.

For Saanich Ratepayers

I wonder if the ratepayers of Saanich are taking notice of the continual absurd antics of the Saanich Council.

Another piece of "woolly thinking," lack of common sense and ordinary business methods is now being crudely perpetrated on the taxpayers of Saanich. I refer to the colossal blunder now going on regarding the addition to the municipal hall. Apparently, the only man on the council who has sense enough to see it is Reeve Ash. Of course, according to the rest of the members of council, he is always wrong.

These brilliantly learned (?) gentlemen of the "old guard" are bound the ratepayers will have no say in spending $225,000 of their money and in which Councillor Casey states, "this figure was drawn from a hat." In their rush to ignore the taxpayers wishes, and their fanatically frenzied attempt to stop all investigation of a joint municipal hall with Victoria, and amalgamation of the urban area of Saanich, as suggested by Reeve Ash, they care not what it will cost so long as they can oppose any and all suggestions made by the Reeve. These "little generals" of Saanich want to hold on to their positions as Councillors regardless of the cost and the future results to Saanich.

It is to be hoped that the Minister of Municipal Affairs will see to it that the taxpayers have the opportunity to vote on this question. If this building is allowed, it will be a white elephant later, and a lasting monument to the stupidity of men who refused to look to the future.

There is yet time for common sense to prevail.

No Agreement

Under the heading "CCF and Profits" in your issue of Monday, June 10, Mr. J. E. Jenkins again voices his wrath at what he terms "absurdity" and lack of consistency on the part of the CCF.

He instances Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan as an example of such failure but neglects to note that when Tommy Douglas was elected as head of that government he was forced to work with and to do the best he could under world conditions and circumstances over which he had no control as head of the government of just one small province in a country of nine smaller provinces in a world of profit-seeking and capitalist-minded people.

Premier Aberhart in Alberta, facing like world conditions was unable to eradicate profit-seeking and to install his Douglas theory of greater socialism The Labor Party in Britain also found itself inadequate to abolish the profit-seeking capitalistic impulses of the human animal. And in 1918, when Russia was by force of arms attempting to in her own land and territory abolish capitalism, she was invaded by armies already at war among themselves—Germany, France, Britain, Canada and others, but together fighting Russia in Russia, in a determined attempt to prevent Russia having such an improvement, and of forming its own economic system to meet only its own need.

Mr. Jenkins is quite correct in saying that in the capitalist world, and especially in Canada no mandate has as yet been given to any group or party to end the profit system. And in Canada there seems small hope of any such mandate being given in the near future. Here today, immediately after a federal election none of the four parties seeking election has been returned strong enough to dominate the other three. And among the 260 members elected there is not sufficient co-operation, too much selfish partyism, too much prejudice, too great a lack of disposition to agree to meet the need of only 16,000,000 people. Already there is talk of a new election in order that one party may be strong enough to force its will on all others.

Would Mr. Jenkins kindly tell us why he denounces one party when in Canada no two parties, no two provinces, no two churches, and hardly any two dozen people can agree about any political policy, about any religious belief, or even about any educational system. With whom does Mr. Jenkins agree, or who agrees with Mr. Jenkins?

Heaven Forbid—Emily, Too

With regard to the so-called "sculpture" that the Centennial Committee proposed to place on the lawn of the Parliament Buildings, heaven forbid! It shocks one to know that these self-styled "artists" can take themselves seriously and expect others to do the same.

The formless monstrosity depicted in the Times recently is merely a waste of good stone and has no place anywhere except on a rock-slide where no one can see it.

Surely it is time that people came to their senses and saw with their own eyes instead of slavishly following the fashionable insanity that they are told is "art"?

Real art is beauty. There is none in this distortion in stone. Any more than there is in the childish and grotesque daubs painted by Emily Carr and others. Careless incompetence splashed on a canvas is not art. And how posterity will laugh!

Show Consideration

As the time has come for the tourists to come to our fair city to shop, I would like to make a couple of suggestions to our good citizens.

I think it is only fair to the Chamber of Commerce and store owners that we leave Wednesday afternoon and Friday evening for these people to buy, thus giving them the best of attention. I am told that is why the stores are staying open 6 days a week during the tourist season.

At the same time I would like to suggest to all the people working on a five day week to try and shop Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday as I am sure the clerks would also like to see a five day week. I belong to a trade union myself and I'm sure on my day-off (Saturday) I can do all the shopping that my pocket-book will allow. By shopping on these days mentioned we can show consideration to our sales clerks.

FROM WASHINGTON — By WALTER LIPPMANN

More Nuclear Tests?

THE United States administration is no doubt well aware that on the issue of the testing of nuclear weapons, it must not only make the right decisions. It must also justify them to the opinion of mankind. For the air belongs to all mankind, and the fallout from the American, the British, and the Russian nuclear explosions does not fall exclusively on American, British and Russian territory. We are confronted with Khrushchev's "proposal to put an end to all explosions," and, whatever we may think of the sincerity or the wisdom of the proposal, it is one that we must discuss fully and frankly.

Lippmann

In his television interview a week ago Sunday, Khrushchev had some things to say which provide a good opening for the discussion.

He had been asked by Mr. Schorr of the Columbia Broadcasting System why the Soviet government has not given notice of, or even announced afterwards, the last five tests conducted in the Soviet Union. Khrushchev's answer was in substance: if your country were big enough, as is Russian territory, for you to explode these tests in the United States, you would not warn of these tests beforehand.

Unknown Tests?

This does not happen to be strictly true in that we do announce the tests inside American territory. But what is important about the statement is not this minor inaccuracy. It is the possible implication that the territory of Russia is so big that nuclear explosions could take place within it and remain unknown.

To be quite fair, Khrushchev did not say explicitly that explosions in Russia, if they were not too big, could take place undetected. But he came near enough to saying it to warrant our asking him about it.

For this is precisely the point which troubles people on this continent who would otherwise be glad to see an agreement to suspend the tests. They believe that it is in fact quite possible to set off an explosion in Siberia which would not be detected.

Beyond this there lies the question of whether, supposing that technical arrangements could be agreed to for detecting explosions, it would be wise to abolish further testing. On this there is a wide difference of opinion within the administration and the armed services.

There are those who believe that if there were no more tests here or in Russia or anywhere else, we would be ending the race securely in the lead.

There are others who believe that if the tests are discontinued at this point, the development of the new weapons, which is now under way, will be thrown into confusion.

As a result of these differences of opinion, the United States is not speaking to the world as clearly as we should.

At one time it seems to be saying that it would halt the tests if reliable methods could be agreed upon for enforcing the agreement.

At other times, for example in the President's recent press conference, the U.S. position seems to be that it will not suspend testing unless it can be very sure that nuclear weapons will not be used at all in a future war.

Idea Rejected

As that is something we can never be sure of—given the fact that the weapons already exist—this is very near to being a rejection of the idea that tests should be suspended or even limited.

Is this a tenable position for the United States? By a tenable position I mean one which we can continue to stand on, what with the mounting anxiety all over the world, what with the Soviet proposal to suspend all tests. I do not think we can stand there. We must take the position that we are prepared at least to limit, if not to suspend, further testing, subject to reasonable guarantees that the agreement will be observed.

For despite all the dispute among the scientists about the effects of the fallout, it is impossible to deny that a continuation of the tests—with three or more powers setting off the explosions—may do great harm to many people.

If only the people of the three nuclear powers were liable to the harm, the decision could be made cold-bloodedly that this is a price that must be paid for security. But when all the other nations are liable to the same harm, we have no right, without their consent, to impose the risk upon them.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

The Proof Is In the Pulling

LIKE any other family, our household has its quota of legends.

Let anyone talk about salmon fishing and Father will contribute his favorite story. It concerns his prowess and that of his brother-in-law. The two of them, knowing virtually nothing about fishing, went out one Sunday morning when I was very young. Nobody among the experts was catching anything. Between them, Father and his brother-in-law caught nine coho with a combined weight of 66 pounds. We have pictures to prove it—the number, that is.

Stott

If I have heard the story once, I've heard it twice for every pound of fish. I still like it. If Father and his brother-in-law had done nothing more than get themselves safely home, that would have been an achievement, with or without salmon.

I say this with some feeling because I have been fishing with them. It so happens that an expert taught me how to handle a boat in strong tide off Trial Island. It so happens that even though I had this knowledge, I belonged to a generation seen but not heard when I went fishing with my Father and my uncle.

SEEN BUT NOT HEARD

It so happens that they got themselves into the rip off Trial and my advice was received as it must have been received when a child was to be seen and not heard.

Father and my uncle had special ideas about fighting the tide off Trial. They believed in a forthright, north-country approach. Meet the evil head on, they seemed to agree, and it shall be vanquished.

They met the evil head on. Somehow or other, though, we seemed to be racing against Trial Island and the Island was winning in a walk. Finally, when exhaustion had nearly claimed them, they swerved in close enough to shore to grab a handful of kelp.

This is a technique of doubtful value, in the first place either the kelp pulls loose or, if it holds, has a tendency to pull the bow of the boat under.

I remember, as a small boy seen but not heard, explaining this to my father and my uncle. By great good fortune, just before the tide provided irrefutable proof of my latter point, the kelp came loose and we were swept away. By force of circumstances I was at the oars. The two adults were gasping on the thwarts, resting from their labors. And with the knowledge given to me by the expert I was able to angle into a back-eddy and explain the way to beat the tide.

Naturally, they didn't listen. We finished up coming home between Big Trial and Little Trial, the adults ashore pulling the boat against the current with a tack-line while I fended it off the rocks.

Ever since that day I have maintained, in season and out, that there is a way to beat the tide off Trial if a boy or man can only row like a Henley champion for about 20 to 30 yards at one point southwest of the lighthouse.

STRATEGY

You work in close to the rocks, inside kelp if you can make it, sneak around the shore, using every little promotory to break the current for you. Then you hit that single exposed stretch. You have to move out because the reefs are close to the surface there. You shoot into the stream and bend your back over the oars. If you can heave yourself ahead in one magnificent short sprint you have it made.

This is the report I've been making ever since my father and uncle refused to listen to me. I take pleasure in adding a further statement. The report is true.

When you keep saying a thing and nobody pays any attention to it, you quite often begin to doubt it yourself. That's how I was a couple of days ago.

My small outboard isn't quite powerful enough to push me through the rip when the tide is running at its best. The boat was holding its own, nothing more. Then we hit kelp and the engine konked out.

It was up to me to prove my point. I reverted to type, snuggling close to the rocks, eased my way over shallows, with barnacles lifting their points to gouge an oar or planking, and then hit the stretch where you have to row.

We made it, folks. We made it. And I've been telling the truth all along.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Facing the Painful World

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

In a recent article, Mrs. Adelyn Pagenstecher told of her experience with her daughter, Mari, who was born without a proper hearing apparatus. She tells of the great distress she felt the day it suddenly came over her that the child could not hear a word. Then came the special schooling that enabled the child to talk. The authorities at the Tracy Clinic tried to help the mother to face things, because, as they said, if the parents do not progress, neither will the child. A mother with a handicapped child tends to go to extremes: she is either too over-protective and too close to the child, or she tends to become detached, embarrassed, and filled with unwarranted shame.

Dr. Alvarez

Then, one day, came the shock of a letter in which the Clinic wrote, "You must prepare to send your little deaf child away to school." The very word deaf hurt the mother terribly; she had never used it; she and her husband had always spoken of "hearing loss," or "doesn't hear well," or "impaired hearing," or they had just avoided speak of it. Finally, the mental block was broken through by a stranger woman who spoke over the phone. She said, "You mean your daughter is deaf." "No, please," said the mother, "don't use that word; Mari's hearing is impaired." "No," said the woman, "listen to me; I don't want to hurt you but I do this for your sake. Say the word 'deaf' over and over and over, because that's what your child is. You have got to learn to face it and to live with that word."

All praise to Mrs. Pagenstecher for her great courage in writing this, and for the service she has done to all grief-stricken mothers who have a loved one handicapped in some way. Let all of us who have in the family one who is insane, or feeble-minded, or epileptic learn to use the terrible word freely, without shuddering and without any feeling of shame. It is the only wise thing to do; it is the first step along the road to helping the loved one get better.

The next great step is to join one of the National Associations organized to help persons who are handicapped in the way your child is. Then you will not feel quite so alone in your grief; you will have joined with hundreds of thousands of other men and women who are sorrowing just as you are sorrowing. If you can contribute something to the funds that are being raised for the study of the particular disease and the discovery of some way of avoiding it or curing it, that also will be good.

When I was a boy, 60 years ago, tuberculosis was a terrible pestilence, crippling and maiming millions of children and killing millions of grown-ups. Practically nothing was being done about it because people were too ashamed even to talk about it. I remember people who let several of their children die of it, rather than admit that it ran in their family. They didn't want ever to go to a hospital with it for fear the neighbors would find why they had gone. Only when people developed the courage to admit freely that they had tuberculosis, and only when they began to use that dread word, were doctors able to build sanatoria and to get people into them early enough so that they could get well. As a result, in the last 50 years, the mortality rate from tuberculosis has gone steadily down and down, until today some the original sanatoria, for lack of patients, are closing their doors.

Again I say, let us all learn to face and use the hard word, even though the sound of it cuts into us like a knife.

SYNOPSIS—The disturbance which brought rain to the coast on Monday has crossed the Rockies and is being followed by a ridge of high pressure. This ridge is causing the air to dry so that sunny skies are expected in most regions this afternoon and Wednesday.

There is a small low pressure centre in the Gulf of Alaska. This disturbance is stationary but remains as a threat to the coastal weather, particularly the north coast.

Life's Darkest Moment — A WEBSTER CLASSIC

Quebec Statute Could Bar Jesus, Lawyer Claims

QUEBEC (CP)—Witnesses of Jehovah lawyer Samuel Bard said in Quebec Superior Court Monday that application of a provincial bill could prevent Jesus from preaching in Quebec province today.

Bard, of Quebec, is appearing with Glen Howe of Toronto in a case seeking annulment of a provincial bill they term discriminatory. The case resumed Monday after a month-long adjournment.

The Witnesses are asking annulment of bill 38, which prohibits distribution of publications containing abusive or insulting attacks against religious beliefs or practices of any section of Quebec's population. The bill was passed three years ago.

The Witnesses object to the terms "abusive" and "insulting" which they claim are vague and subjective. Mr. Bard said under certain conditions the bill could be used to keep Jesus from preaching, as he did 2,000 years ago, if he wished to do so today.

Freedom of religion entails freedom to criticize other religions, Mr. Bard said.

Gov't Sets Tolls For Vancouver Span

The government set the tolls Monday on Vancouver's new Oak Street bridge, opening June 29, at a rate the same as charged on the Lions Gate bridge.

The tolls: 25 cents per car with passengers and pedestrians free; 12-trip books, with no time limit on use, $2.

Weekly passes: 24 trips for $1.25 with each trip above the total, upon presentation of the pass stub, 5 cents.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Next Year's Crop of Asparagus Depends on Attention Given Now

The third week of June is considered the end of cutting from established beds. Younger beds are not cut after June 1.

Jack

For good cuts next year, the crowns must be built up during the balance of the summer. Strong growths should be encouraged which are able to carry on to a maximum their part in the manufacture of food.

It is important that these growths are not damaged by wind so as to impair their function. To prevent this it is necessary to provide stakes or strings for support in exposed gardens, because one strong wind accompanied by heavy rain can result in thin, weak shoots for cutting next year.

When this happens, cutting must be limited, if done at all, to allow the crowns to bulid up their strength.

The bed should now be given a fairly heavy dressing of complete balanced fertilizer, about four ounces to the square yard.

The rich soil needed to produce good tips is also conducive to a good crop of weeds, especially if manure is used. These must be kept down for the rest of the season by regular cultivation.

Aside from the food they consume, tall weeds shade the fine asparagus foliage and slow down the processes vital to food production.

Heat Wave Fatalities

BONN (Reuters) — At least 16 swimmers have drowned in West Germany's heat wave in the last two days, police reported today.

Spectators Killed

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters) — Three Brazilians were killed and six severely injured Monday night when a stand at a rowing club regatta collapsed here.

Lightning Hits Tree; 27-Cow Herd Killed

NORWICH, N.Y. (AP) — A herd of 27 cows, valued at an estimated $12,000, was destroyed Monday by a bolt of lightning at a farm near here. Alois Denz, owner of the herd, said the cows were huddled under a tree when the lightning struck. Six cows escaped injury.

Cars Collide One Dead Trio Injured

Head-On Crash on Highway Near Cassidy Takes Life of Mainland Man

LADYSMITH — One man died and three were injured in a head-on collision between two cars Monday on the Trans-Canada Highway, immediately south of the Nanaimo River bridge at Cassidy.

Dead is J. G. Farquhar, 66, of Vancouver, who succumbed in Nanaimo General Hospital about four hours after the accident.

The injured, taken to hospital but reported in good condition, are Alf Shuker, goaltender for the Nanaimo Timbermen lacrosse team; Johann Loeffer, and Jack Whittam, all of Nanaimo.

Shuker is in Ladysmith General Hospital, and the others in Nanaimo.

The three Nanaimo men are employees of Warwick Metal Works, Nanaimo, employed at the B.C. Power Commission Georgia Generating Station at Bare Point, near Chemainus, and were on their way home, driving northward, when the accident occurred.

Passing motorists, who found one of the cars with all four wheels in the air, notified police at Nanaimo. Ladysmith police also were called, and ambulances from Nanaimo and Ladysmith attended.

Ladysmith RCMP said today an inquest will be held in Nanaimo Wednesday at 7 p.m. with Dr. H. W Lewis, coroner, presiding.

Highway Death Accidental, Inquest Finds

Duncan Woman Killed Instantly

DUNCAN — Highway death of Mrs. Elsie Davies, 56, hit by a car Wednesday night and killed instantly, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided Monday night.

Driver of the car, police said, was Jack Roozendaal, who was travelling in a southerly direction at 9.40 p.m. when the accident occurred near the intersection of the highway and Drinkwater Road.

"This woman came up from nowhere," the 19-year-old driver testified. "When I saw her I froze at the wheel. I couldn't do anything. I hit her. My windshield broke and I couldn't see anything."

Police testified that Roozendaal was in his proper lane when the accident occurred.

Mrs. James Sinclair, witness of the accident, said she heard the impact in her home nearby, then looked out the window and saw a shoe, coat and body flying through the air.

"I thought it was a bundle of clothing being thrown from a car," she said.

Chemainus Water System Inspected By Aerial Tour

CHEMAINUS—A party of municipal and company officials have completed an air inspection of Chemainus and Crofton water systems.

Despite low hanging clouds, the party made three low runs over Holyoak Lake, new reserve supply for Chemainus. Water appeared to be at the top of the dam with a small amount going through the sluice gates. Later, the party flew over the Crofton water system and dam.

Women Want Holidays Marked on True Date

NANAIMO—Local Council of Women here has decided to work toward having national holidays observed on the true date instead of on the nearest Monday.

They said the modern practice makes "just another holiday" out of what should be a national event.

Licence Lifted After Accident

ALBERNI (CP)—Eskild Mortensen was fined $100 and costs Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention.

His driver's licence was suspended for six months.

Mortensen was charged as the result of an accident which sent three members of an Alberni family to West Coast General Hospital about a month ago. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Callister are still in hospital, but their young daughter was discharged soon after the accident.

ANGRY MOTHER BERATES RESCUER

Telegraph Operator Saves Tot From Death on Track

DUNCAN—The story was told today of how Randy Streit, telegraph operator at the E & N station here, saved a child a few days ago from certain death under the wheels of the Dayliner, then got a scorching reprimand from her mother.

He had already stopped two children from crawling under a freight train, when he saw the little girl standing directly in front of the Dayliner, out of vision of the engineer. The bell was ringing and the train was ready to move.

The little girl was running her fingers over the shiny chrome of the car, he said.

"I grabbed her from the tracks just as the train started to move," Streit said, "but startled her and she started to cry. Her mother had been sitting on the platform not knowing the child was in danger. She gave me heck for making the child cry."

BOTH GET KICK OUT OF LICK

Cougars love ice cream, if tastes expressed by "Fritz" hold true for all the rest of his breed. Fritz was raised from a kitten by Paul Hertel, right, and now disports with his master at their new zoo at Wellington, near Nanaimo. There were 2,000 people at zoo, formerly outside of Alberni, for opening earlier in month. Fritz and Paul also take daily rambles in woods. (Flett Studio Photo.)

North Cowichan Calls Tenders On Sewer System

DUNCAN — North Cowichan Municipality has called for tenders for a sewage system for the new housing development on the Brooks farm at Crofton, where permits have been taken out at the municipal office here for 10 houses, totalling $100,000.

Ray-Bilt Contractors Ltd., Vancouver, are the builders.

Both sewer lines and sewage disposal plant are to be installed at Crofton, where the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. $38,000,000 pulp mill is being rushed to completion.

The sewer system will take about 2,500 feet of six-inch main and more than 1,000 feet of eight, 10 and 12-inch mains. Connections to the new houses will take about 2,500 feet of four-inch pipe. The outfall of the system into the sea will take 500 feet of submarine pipe.

Liberal Leader Urges Probe of IWA Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal leader Arthur Laing has demanded that a timber strike be prevented by appointment of an industrial inquiry commission.

In a free-time radio broadcast over CBC station CBU, Mr. Laing said, "The clouds have been hovering over us for months and yet we found all but two of our cabinet ministers absent from our province and injecting themselves into federal politics."

"Negotiations have broken down and strike votes are being called," he said. "The findings of a conciliation board have been rejected by the men."

He said a prolonged shutdown of the timber industry would bring the provincial economy to its knees.

"I call upon the Minister of Labor at this late hour," he said, "to appoint an industrial inquiry commission, to use extreme care in the appointment of its members, and to charge the commission with the task of bringing again into negotiation the forest industry and the International Woodworkers of America."

ANCIENT PRACTICE

Tattooing was practised by the ancient Britons, as well as the ancient tribes of Africa and the Pacific islands.

BROKEN-ARMED BRIDE FINED

ALBERNI—A blonde bride with a broken arm was fined $30 in Alberni police court Monday for driving in violation of restrictions on her licence.

Mrs. Arvid Tikkala, 20, had her arm in a sling when she appeared before Magistrate T. M. Patterson.

Restricted to driving a car carrying public liability insurance, she had failed to check the coverage on a car borrowed from a friend of the groom.

While Mrs. Tikkala was at the wheel the car rolled over and she came out of it with her arm broken.

The couple have been married only a week.

Gulf Ferry Service Resumes Thursday

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Lady Rose, strike-bound vessel of Coast Ferries Limited, will resume service Thursday to the Gulf Islands from Steveston.

The vessel has been tied up since May 25, when the Seafarers' International Union called out the four deckhands after rejecting a majority report of a conciliation board which the company accepted.

Managing director O. H. New of Coast Ferries said he and SIU officials had agreed on a new formula for settlement involving hourly wage rates asked by the union and retroactive pay of $592 for each man.

The new hourly rates were to be announced today. The company announced Saturday an increased provincial government grant would enable it to meet the union wage demands.

'PRETTY GRIM'

Fears for Fish Produced By Tree Spraying

NANAIMO — Fisheries biologist David Hurn, of the British Columbia Game Department, said here Monday aerial spraying of forests in the Port Hardy area must be having a "pretty grim" effect on fish life in streams in the area.

A huge spraying program is under way to save 150,000 acres of hemlock forest from being ruined by a plague of black budworms.

"Port Hardy is a fantastic fish producing centre," Mr. Hurn said.

He feared the fish mortality rate would be excessively high even though spraying is not being carried out near streams.

The spraying is being done by four converted torpedo bombers that discharge 800 gallons of spray in seven minutes. Rain has hampered the project but 50,000 acres have been covered to date. Pilots dodge all rivers and streams while doing their spraying from tree-top height.

Before the program was undertaken, however, federal fisheries officers made preparations to protect streams from the lethal spray.

Knowing from experience gained the "hard way" in Eastern Canada about the effect of DDT on fish, the fisheries department has had a crew at the project constantly, and officials fly regularly with the pilots to help in protecting streams.

QUALICUM GRADUATION

QUALICUM BEACH — Principal speaker at high school graduation ceremonies here June 27 will be Dr. Brock Chisholm, now of Sooke, former director of the World Health Organization.

Sidney Merchant Learns Details Of Son's Death

SIDNEY — Word was received here Monday by J. C. Anderson, local lumber dealer, of the death of his son, at Bear River, in northern British Columbia.

Duncan Maccasfield Anderson, 32, lodge owner and tourist guide, fell from a canoe while trying to start its outboard motor. Two motorists in the boat were unable to help as he was swept away.

He was handicapped by a war wound that had crippled his right arm, and was unable to escape the current in the river. To date his body has not been recovered.

His widow, Elizabeth, and three young children, live here.

Harvie In Soup Again

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — National Amateur champion Harvie Ward, on probation from the United States Golf Association, withdrew from the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament Monday "rather than cause embarrassment to either the Trans-Mississippi or the USGA."

It climaxed a day of turmoil during which some of the Trans-Mississippi members advocated that Ward be allowed to play in the tournament in defiance of the USGA.

But Bob Goldwater, president of the Trans-Mississippi, said "We made a mistake" in inviting Ward not knowing that his actual status was "professional" in the eyes of the USGA since he was put on probation for having his expenses paid to play in golf tournaments.

Ward, who flew in Monday from Toledo, where he played in the National Open, didn't know about the controversy until he arrived. He immediately said that the USGA executive secretary, Joe Dey, told him he could play in any open tournament and any amateur tournament that would accept his entry, while under the probation. This was at the time the probation was passed on Ward at a meeting of the USGA in Chicago.

But Goldwater said the Trans-Mississippi had never got a direct statement from Dey that Ward could play in the Trans-Mississippi.

"Ward, being the great sportsman that he is, has decided to withdraw and save anybody embarrassment," Goldwater declared. "We regret the mistake has been made."

Ladies' Night For Mat Fans

Ladies will wrest the spotlight away from the matmen at Memorial Arena Thursday night as promoter Mike Bulat announces his next pro wrestling program will be a "Ladies' Night" affair.

Feature attraction on the card will be a tag-team match between the Donovan brothers, Doug and Red, and a powerful combination of Bob Cummings and Nick Kozak.

Three preliminary matches will round out the card with Gordy Gordienko and Young Thunderbird, son of the mighty Chief Thunderbird, going in one of them.

First bout on the card is slated to go at 8.30 p.m.

Baseline Hits Sink Devine's Tennis Hopes

Jerry Devine, youthful aspirant to the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club tennis championship, saw his hopes shattered on Monday as Gordon Hartley, fourth-seeded veteran, used long baseline drives to wreck Devine's chances 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

The husband-wife team of Mr. and Mrs. D. McCormick won again to advance to the semi-finals mixed doubles along with the teams of Miss M. Peterson and Carl Brand and Miss T. Elmsley and Hartley.

In tonight's feature action, former champion Warren Cameron tackles table tennis ace Art Ngai in a semifinal match at 5.30, while Joy Wasson meets Myrja Peterson in ladies' competition.

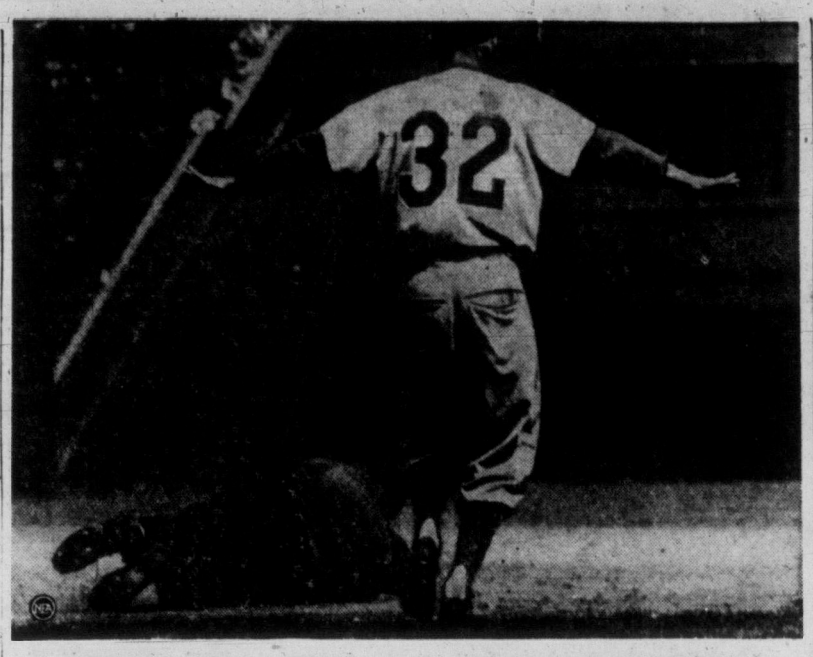
5.30—W. Cameron vs. A. Ngai; M. Peterson vs. J. Wasson.
6.00—D. Thomson vs. J. Wells; R. C. Miller and G Hartley vs. J. Cosar and D. McCormick
6.30—R. Aldeguer vs. K. Taylor.
7.30—D. McCormick vs. W. Browne-Cave, G Gardner and J. Cosar vs. S. Whittaker and G. McMinn.

MEETING FRIDAY

All interested persons are asked to attend a meeting at the Chester Street Scout Hall on Friday at 8 p.m. for the Fairfield Little League.



FALL OF THE ROAMIN' UMPIRE

New York's Big Moose Hottest Item In Majors

NEW YORK (AP)—Who is major league baseball's hottest hitter?

Not Mickey Mantle or Ted Williams, deadlocked for the American League batting lead . . . or Gil Hodges and Stan Musial, running one-two in the National League competition.

He's Bill (Moose) Skowron, 26-year-old first baseman of the New York Yankees. On May 24, Skowron was hitting a meager .236. Since then the six-foot, 195-pound native of Chicago has cracked out 42 hits in 94 times at bat, a sizzling .447 pace.

In last week's games alone, Skowron had 14 safeties in 26 tries (.538) to boost his average 30 points to .333. This output enabled him to move into sixth place among the American League hitters.

PUSHING 'EM IN

Skowron, a righthanded batter, drove in nine runs last week to move into second place in this department with 43. Washington's Roy Sievers has the most RBIs—48.

Mantle increased his average 25 points in last week's action and this surge, coupled with a loss of 12 points by Williams, the Boston slugger, resulted in a tie after Sunday's games—each hitting .379.

Mantle also walloped five home runs, raising his league-leading total to 19. Williams slammed four circuit blows and is second with 17.

Musial closed in on Hodges in the National League. The St. Louis Cards' first baseman climbed seven points to .365, while Brooklyn's Hodges picked up three points to .366 before he was sidelined with a rib injury last Friday.

Mrs. J. H. Wilson Bronze Medalist

Mrs. J. Harold Wilson won medalist honors at Victoria Golf Club Monday afternoon when she completed the 18-hole qualifying round in the Ladies' Bronze Championship with a gross 94.

One on Ladder

Mrs. Wyn Rusk's six-pound 15-ounce spring was the only salmon weighed in Monday as fishing began in the fifth qualifying week of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

BATTLE BETWEEN BARNES' CONFUSIN' BUT AMUSIN'

It was a case of "What's in a Name" Sunday at Cedar Hill Golf Club when members played the final round in their club handicap championship. Two W. H. Barnes' played off for the title.

Not related in any way, William Henry Barnes took the crown on the 15th hole, a 4 and 3 win over Walter Henry Barnes after both had beaten the comedalists, K. Greenwood and T. English, in earlier rounds.

First flight winner was R. Williams with J. Parkes taking the second flight, and D. Hosmer capturing the third. In the fourth flight, D. Graham triumphed.

Why Travel Far? Big Salmon Here

There may be waters around Vancouver Island where sports fishermen are catching more small salmon, but the Oak Bay area isn't taking a back seat when it comes to size.

Victoria anglers, who are continuing to reap the benefits of the run of big spring salmon practically on their doorstep, received additional encouragement over the weekend with the arrival of the season's first sizeable coho salmon.

Two good-sized springs came in Oak Bay Boathouse Monday night with Len Humber topping the evening fishermen with the 34-pounder he took on a Strip Teaser off Fulford Reef.

Using a minnow in a Strip Teaser, B. Grainger boated an 18½-pound spring in The Gap Monday night, and Ruth Richards took a 20-pounder Monday afternoon.

PRODUCTIVE DAY

Sunday was one of the most productive days of the season as 12 springs and two coho were brought in at Oak Bay. Topping the day's catches was a 33-pounder landed off Chatham Island by Jim Robertson, and a 22-pound salmon reeled in by R. G. Lyon.

Peter Johnston also found the right spot off Chatham Island Saturday and hooked a 34-pound scrapper. Dick Berry picked up a 29-pound spring and the season's first coho Saturday.

Coho salmon, which usually stay in the area until late September after arriving in the summer, have shown up a few weeks earlier than usual and are averaging around eight pounds, heavier than normal for this time of year at Oak Bay.

Best action has been during the late evening and at the midday low slack tide.

Another productive salmon spot in southern Island waters during the past two weeks has been off Otter Point, where a good number of husky springs have been landed.

Bantams Appear In Preliminary

Don McNeill sniped three goals for the winners, while Howard Tweed netted two.

Wednesday night at 7, Saanich Butlers, the class of the bantam division, will tackle an all-star team as a preliminary to the Inter-City Lacrosse League contest between Nanaimo Timbermen and Victoria Shamrocks at Memorial Arena.

Line-ups follow:

All-Stars—R. Fraser, P. Wade, A. McNair, M. Spotswood, G. Vickers, M. Gallant, B. Stavrum, Rupee Pallin, B. Spaven, J. Thompson, W. Wirtenen, Brad Colli, J. Trueman, Pat Green, Japminder Singh, J. Paul, D. Vallesu, Hans Bomhoff.

Upsets Mark BCE Tourney

On Monday she went down to a straight-set defeat at the hands of Maxine Ellis, 6-3, 7-5, in the semifinals at the Bowker Street courts.

Also shaking their heads over a sudden turn of events are the first-seeded doubles combination of Ivy Hill and Judy Peetz, who were defeated 6-4, 5-7, 8-6, in the first round by Sheila Jennings and Joyce Fairbairn.

In other action Monday, the mixed doubles team of P. MacNeill and P. Batten downed R. Clatworthy and S. Gaunt, 8-6, 6-2, while A. W. Reid bested B. Gale, 6-0, 6-0, in a men's singles match.

Danny Introduces Himself; Even Redlegs Are Impressed

Rookie's Debut Boosts Slipping Brook Fortunes

By United Press

The jubilant Brooklyn Dodgers felt something like a sweepstake winner today, having collected on a "long-shot" by the simple expedient of writing Danny McDevitt's name on a ticket.

They made out that ticket last Friday and it provided transportation for McDevitt from St. Paul to Brooklyn.

Who is this guy McDevitt?

That's a question even the Cincinnati Redlegs were asking today after the 25-year-old rookie southpaw, making his first big league apeparance, struck out 11 of them Monday night and limited them to seven hits in pitching Brooklyn to within two games of the National League lead.

In the only other game scheduled in the Majors, Pittsburgh defeated league-leading Milwaukee, 7-5. The Braves now lead the second-place Cardinals by one game.

SOME SHOW

McDevitt, called up by the Dodgers to take up some of the slack caused by the sidelining of Johnny Podres and Sandy Koufax, put on quite a show for the 14,595 fans at Crosley Field. Relying chiefly on a fast ball and sneaky curve, the sawed-off New York native struck out at least one batter in every inning except the seventh and eighth.

McDevitt also drove in what proved to be the winning run with a nifty squeeze bunt during a three-run uprising against starter Johnny Klippstein in the second inning.

Gino Cimoli led off the frame with his ninth homer over the left field fence. Roy Campanella singled and Charley Neal drove him in with a triple. McDevitt then laid down his squeeze bunt to bring in Neal.

The Dodgers added three insurance runs on two hits in the ninth. By losing, the Redlegs tumbled into fifth place, two percentage points behind Brooklyn.

TRIPLES HELP

Pittsburgh gained its victory over Milwaukee with a four-run rally in the ninth, featured by triples off the bats of Gene Freese and Bob Skinner.

With the Braves leading, 4-3, Freese, who collected four of Pittsburgh's 10 hits, tripled in the ninth and scored on Roman Mejias' pinch single. Mejias raced to third when Andy Pafko threw wildly to the plate and later came home on Hank Foiles' bunt. Skinner then came through with his triple, scoring Foiles, and then scored himself on Paul Smith's bunt.

Fletchers Aid Brodie's Drive Into Second

Brodie's Bakery, chalking up their second win in two days, moved into undisputed possession of second spot in the Senior "B" Men's Softball League with a 5-4 win over Re-refined Oil at Heywood Park on Monday.

Giving the Bakers a big boost in their second-place drive were first-ranking Fletchers, who downed Firefighters, 2-1, in Monday's other game.

On Sunday, Navy broke loose with 16 hits to trample Tudor House, 10-4.

It was pitcher Gerry Stilson all the way in the Firefighters-Fletchers contest as he gave up only five hits and doubled in the winning run after a sparkling pitching duel with Barry Jackson.

Mike Clegg was tapped for seven hits as he pitched Brodies to their win over Re-refined Oil.

Big Graduation Step: From School to Majors

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Von McDaniel, the 18-year-old $50,000 bonus wonder from an Oklahoma farm who has eight scoreless innings to his credit, will become a major league starting pitcher this week, less than a month after graduating from high school.

Manager Fred Hutchinson, whose Cardinals returned home today in second place after winning five series and 13 of 17 games on a spectacular road trip, announced that the poised McDaniel will start against Brooklyn here later this week.

His older brother, Lindy, likewise a $50,000 bonus baby in his second full year with the Cardinals, probably will start in the same series. Lindy, 21, has won six and lost three.

Von McDaniel got credit for his first victory Sunday with four closing innings against the Dodgers in Ebbets Field. He allowed one hit and one run as he did in a similar four-inning stint in his debut last week.

His mastery of the Dodgers—plus homers by Ken Boyer and Stan Musial—enabled the Cards to sweep a doubleheader in Brooklyn for the first time since 1945.

Von has struck out eight and walked none in his eight white-washing innings.

"He's absolutely the most remarkable young pitcher I've ever seen," Hutchinson said. "He's more amazing than Feller, much more," Hutchinson added, referring to the fact that Bob Feller came off an Iowa farm at the age of 17 to start a brilliant career with Cleveland.

"Feller had more blazing stuff then, but he was wild, a thrower," Hutchinson continued. "This kid is a pitcher, good and clever."

Margaret Again In City Golf

Mrs. Margaret Todd won another city golf title Monday when she registered low gross honors in the monthly 15-and-under ladies' competition at Royal Colwood Golf Club.

First low net was posted by Mrs. G. H. Harrell when she shot a 93-14—79, and second low net was won by Mrs. G. Chisholm with 94-13—81.

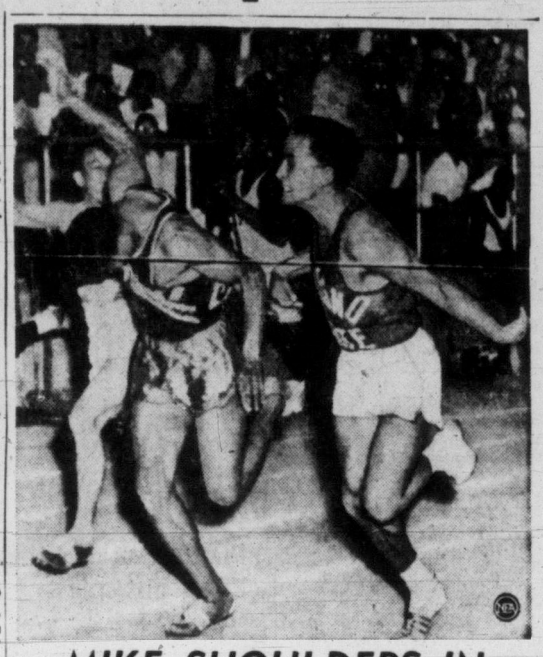
Marlene Cracks Course Record

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Fonthill, Ont., scored three birdies and an eagle three to set a new women's course record Monday of 72 at the Weston Golf and Country Club and walk away with the qualifying round of the Ontario women's golf championship.

Marlene's score was three strokes under women's par for the 18-hole, 6,072-yard course and chopped four strokes off the previous record held by Mrs. H. R. Armstrong of Weston.



MIKE SHOULDERS IN

Form was of secondary importance as Trinidad's Mike Agostini puts shoulder to tape to win 100-yard dash in recent California relays at Modesto. Trying to butt ribbon, but a close second, is Orlando Hazely of Oklahoma A & M. Trinidad flash, who will compete in Times-YMCA Vancouver Island track and field meet here June 29, finished in 9.5 seconds, one-tenth second better than Canadian record he equalled in Island meet last year. (NEA.)

PRIOR TO START

Streaking A's Move In Today

Riding on the crest of a recent winning streak, Burnaby Athletics will be fast after the Farmer Construction scalp tonight, when they meet in their Northwest International Semi-Pro Baseball League game at Royal Athletic Park at 8.

Manager Bill Kinder led his team to victories in their last two times out. They matched runs and hits with Harwood Roofing and came out on the long end of an 18-13 score Friday and then clipped the Seattle Serv-U-Market team, 8-6, Sunday afternoon in Vancouver.

They will be running into the canny offerings of veteran Bill Prior, who beat them, 10-7, on opening day when they helped open the season's series here.

Since winning the opener, Prior has built up a fine 4-1, won-lost record. He lost his only start when Bellingham Bells took a close one from Farmers here, June 8.

Bill will be anxious to get back onto the winning trail and will be sure to use all of his best pitches against the Burnaby nine, who have yet to win in Royal Athletic Park. In their last meeting Bill Garner held onto the slimmest of leads to eke out a narrow 2-1 win over the A's, June 5.

Farmer Construction could be sadly hampered in the hitting department for the game tonight with doubts expressed by manager Ed Ash as to whether or not power-hitting centre fielder Charlie Boyd will be able to dress.

Boyd was the spark that carried Victoria on their Saturday hitting spree when they hammered Seattle, 16-1, on 19 hits, with Boyd picking up two triples and two singles in six plate appearances.

Following Ladies' Night, which was held Saturday, there were two lucky number prizes not claimed and an added attraction at tonight's game will be the redrawing for those two prizes.

CENTURY CLUB

SOLARIUM DERBY

JACK CLYDE

A shipwright by trade, Jack was president of the VSIAA last year and chairman of the angling club's ladder derby committee for 1955 and 1956, but he still found many hours to spend on Solarium derby work.

His efforts this year so far put an end to his usual fishing trips but have qualified him for membership in the derby's 1957 Century Club—for those who sell more than 100 tickets for the one-day salmon-fishing competition at Saanich Inlet.

He doesn't mind the time he spends selling tickets since all proceeds go to aid the Queen Alexandra Solarium. "It's for a real good cause," he says. "We can't do too much for organizations like the Solarium."

Jack, married with one son and a grandson, hopes to sell at least another 200 tickets before derby day rolls around on July 21 and will be pleased to sell you a ticket or tell you how the derby helps handicapped children if you will call him at 3-2795.

Russian Team May Compete At Montreal

TORONTO (CP) — George Duthie, Canadian National Exhibition sports director, says Russia's 1956 Olympic track team may compete against Canada's top track and field stars in Toronto and Montreal next year.

"The Russians hope to be invited to the United States next year . . . and they also want to compete in Canada," he said.

He said the 70-member U.S. Olympic track team has been invited to compete in Moscow and next year's visit would be a return engagement.

Decision on the Russian invitation is expected Friday from the Amateur Athletic Union of the U.S.

"I think the Americans will accept," Mr. Duthie said.

Mr. Duthie said he did not believe a Canadian team would be strong enough to compete against the Russians and "consequently we would field a combined Canadian-U.S. team."

Orphans Sweep Twin Bill With Duncan

Victoria Orphans, capitalizing on a pair of solid pitching performances, took a twin bill from Duncan in the Mid-Island Baseball League at Royal Athletic Park Sunday, winning by scores of 7-5 and 7-0.

Des Moseley had to go 13 innings in the first encounter to survive a shaky start when Duncan gained four of its runs in the first three innings.

He collected 12 strike-outs, but also gave up 12 hits over the route.

In the second game, George Holt threw a three-hitter for his shutout, whiffing 10 men in the process.

Ross Roskamp was the leading Orphan hitter, hammering out two hits, including a triple, to drive in for four runs, in the twin bill.

Toronto May Get Big Title Battle

NEW YORK (CP) — James Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said Monday light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore wants to fight Tony Anthony or Canadian champion Yvon Durelle.

"I said if he wanted to fight Durelle, then Toronto seems the best place for it," said Norris.

Moore has been told by the world boxing committee that he will lose his crown if he does not sign with Anthony, the No. 1 contender, by July 7. Durelle, of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., held Anthony to a draw last Friday in Detroit.

Bennie Picks His Own Prize

By Associated Press

Hollywood pitcher Bennie Daniels today stood atop the Pacific Coast League's most victories department — and he got there on his 25th birthday.

Daniels, a husky 190-pound, 6-foot 2-inch righthander, edged Portland's Bob Thorpe 7-3 Monday night in a 13-inning pitching duel. It was the only PCL game of the night.

Probably the best birthday present of the day for the big Alabaman was a booming three-run triple in the 13th by Carlos Bernier that iced things for the Twinks.

For Daniels it was his ninth triumph against two defeats, both suffered at the hands of the Vancouver Mounties. He had tripled to drive in a run that contributed to his team's lead, but he couldn't hold it and the game was tied 2-2 when the 10th inning closed.

Thorpe then doled out a walk to first-sacker R. C. Stevens to load the bases. Then Bernier belted his triple.

Cuban Cutie Set Back Once Again

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Welterweight contender Vince Martinez piled up a big lead, survived a right that staggered him in the fifth round, and finished strongly to gain his second straight 10-round decision over former welterweight champion Kid Gavilan Monday night. Martinez weighed 150¾, Gavilan 147½.

Referee Paul Cavalier, the only official, scored it 7-3 in rounds for the 28-year-old Paterson, N.J., favorite.

It was the fifth straight defeat for the 31-year-old Cuban and his 25th against 104 wins. Martinez racked up his 53rd victory against five defeats.

The counter-punching Martinez, who defeated Gavilan by a narrow margin last Feb. 26 in Newark, N.J., piled up the points early in the fight.

In the fifth round, Gavilan connected with one punch that almost ended the fight. He caught Vince flush on the jaw with a right that carried all his weight behind it. The blow rocked Martinez who stumbled backward, his knees buckling.

There still was about a minute to go but Gavilan couldn't get in another real, clean blow against his back-pedalling rival.

Hoad, Gibson Top Rankings

LONDON (AP)—Wimbledon officials today named Lew Hoad of Australia and Althea Gibson of New York as top seeds for the June 24-July 6 championships.

Hoad has been the overwhelming choice to defend his title and become the first two-time winner of the world's premier tournament since Don Budge won in 1937-39.

Miss Gibson inherited top place among the women singles players after the retirement of Shirley Fry and Maureen Connolly, and after Doris Hart turned professional.

Ashley Cooper of Australia was seeded second and Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Oxford University, was a mild surprise when he was named third.

PYBURN FARMED OUT

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Pyburn, $48,000 bonus player, has been sent by Baltimore Orioles to their Texas League farm team at San Antonio. His required two-year stay on the Oriole roster expired this week.

DISPUTE COSTS ALSTON $100, SUSPENSION

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Walt Alston, of Brooklyn Dodgers, was fined $100 and suspended three days Monday by National League president Warren Giles as the result of a dispute with umpire Frank Secory.

Pee Wee Reese, also involved in the argument, was fined $50 but not suspended.

The pair argued with Secory in Brooklyn Sunday.

SOUTHPAW BOWLER JOINS TEST CRICKET SIDE

England Adds 'Eastern' Touch

LONDON (CP) — The best "Chinaman" in first-class cricket will be joining England for the second test match against the West Indies which starts Thursday at Lord's.

The mysterious East is introduced into the side by Johnny Wardle, a cheerful Yorkshireman whose disguised wrist movement produces a left-arm delivery as unpredictable as baseball's knuckleball. The term Chinaman is the batsman's grudging tribute to the unfathomable quality of this type of bowling.

Wardle, the most successful bowler on England's South African tour last winter, was passed over for the first West Indies match in favor of the formidable Surrey pair of spin-bowlers, Tony Lock and Jim Laker. Armchair critics felt his absence may have cost England the decision in the match, which ended in a draw.

While Laker and Lock performed creditably in the first test, both are currently hampered by injuries. Laker was included among the 12 men chosen but is an unlikely starter. Lock was dropped from the list.

Two other newcomers are Tom Graveney of Gloucestershire and Don Smith of Sussex, both batsmen enjoying a hot streak in county competition.

Graveney, who has scored more runs than any other batsman this season, has played in more than 30 tests without too much success. At 30, he is considered by several writers to be getting his last chance to establish his international status.

By contrast, the 34-year-old Smith is a first-time choice. A competent pace bowler, he may also be called upon to bolster the England attack.

West Indies captain John Goddard, with 17 players to choose from, also has injury problems. Frank Worrell, one of his top fast bowlers, has a bad leg and may only appear in a batting role. Another fast bowler, Roy Gilchrist, is under the weather and Clyde Walcott, the tourists' top batsman, is convalescing from a leg injury.

But Goddard's most pressing problem is to find a spin-bowler to hold down the other end while Sonny Ramadhin is working on the English batsmen.

Alf Valentine, Ramadhin's partner in the last two England-West Indies meetings, would be the ideal man if he could find his best form. Otherwise, the captain may have to tackle the job himself.

W. de Havilland Takes Top Rung In Ladder Chase

W. de Havilland completed his climb to the top in the Victoria City Chess Club ladder competition last week when he defeated E. P. Rolls to take over the top rung.

Rolls dropped into second spot while D. Dawson was beating A. H. Sheard to take over third place.

In "B" division, the first three places remained unchanged with Lou Kellie still on the first rung, followed by W. Inkpen and A. Strodyk.

School Health Service Probe

Board to Measure Oak Bay Facilities Against Those of Victoria, Saanich

Greater Victoria School Board will measure Oak Bay School health services against those provided in Saanich, Esquimalt and Victoria.

Provincial health officials will be asked to assess findings of an investigation to be conducted by senior board staff.

If the Oak Bay services are found to be of a lower standard, it is anticipated trustee Richard Reeve will ask that Oak Bay health services be provided by Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health. He favored this course earlier.

He told the board he was concerned about health services in Oak Bay schools. He said he was not "picking on" the municipal health services.

"I am in no position to report on facilities in Oak Bay schools because of a lack of reports. I just don't know."

He explained that as school board delegate to the Union Board of Health he had been interested in bringing Oak Bay into the union to establish a standard health service in the schools. This proved impossible.

He said where Oak Bay is now obtaining a provincial health grant of $1,100 to $1,200, with an improved service the grant could be $6,000.

"This led me to believe the (Oak Bay) health services were beneath what they should have been. Trustee Reeve asked the board to conduct a survey and ask the provincial health office to assist in fact-finding.

"If Oak Bay children are not receiving comparable services, there is nothing to stop this board taking such action as it considers fit."

He said last week the board in such a circumstance should buy services from the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health. Trustee Walter Jeune criticized Trustee Reeve for making his request public before bringing it up at the school board meeting.

YOU BETTER WATCH OUT; HERE'S WHY

Appointment of a truant officer is the latest step by Greater Victoria School Board to combat an increasing amount of absenteeism by district school students.

Immediately following a decision to hire an attendance officer, the board was told 12 junior high school students were absent from school on federal election day.

Trustee Mrs. D. P. W. Maunsell said they were absent "to work for one or more of the parties."

"I can only hope," said trustee Richard Reeve, "that the candidates for whom they worked lost their deposits."

"It's very wrong . . . disgraceful . . ." said other trustees.

The board decided letters would be written to parents of the youths explaining absenteeism without just cause, ". . . . is frowned upon."

Recently a group of students were suspended temporarily after they missed school to work at the opening of a new Safeway store.

The position of truant officer will be advertised for September and will carry a salary ranging from $4,200 to $4,800.

Vancouver is the only other city in B.C. to employ anyone in this capacity. Duties will be to check on aggravated cases of absenteeism, meet with parents and work as a liaison with health and welfare authorities, the school and the home.

ANOTHER WINNER

More Reading For Little Andy Fan

Today's "Ask Andy" winner of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia just wants the facts.

Quiet, dark-eyed Josephine Siedlecka, 216 Michigan, who will be eight July 18, forever has her nose in a book. (Her father says she reads too much.)

She is in Grade Two at St. Ann's Academy.

"I like what we read at school, but we don't get enough true stories," said Josephine, thrilled at her prize and thumbing carefully through the fact-filled pages.

"I like reading all things that are real," was her succinct comment.

She was born in Argentina of a Polish father, now a draftsman for B.C. Power Commission, and an English mother, who brought her to Canada five years ago to live in Galt, Ont.

The Siedleckas have lived in Victoria six months and like it so much they plan to stay.

Josephine's question to Andy (see below) was: Are sea anemones animals or plants?

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Are Sea Anemones Animals or Plants?

The experts have sorted all the plants and animals into groups. The sea anemones are classed as Anthrozoa, a lovely word which means flower-animals. This is fair enough, for sea anemones look like pretty flowers but they are really animals. They enjoy life in shallow water where salty tides spill over rocky pools. We find them in warm waters and cool waters. But the most gaudy are found in tropical waters. There they often share the pools along the short with their cousins, the corals.

When the tide is out, the pools along the beach may be empty. Then the sea anemones look like blobs of pale colored jelly. The tide turns and inches back into the rocky pool. Then the blobs of jelly seem to blossom into a garden of wild flowers. Each one stands on a chubby stem. The head is circled with rows of delicately-tinted daisy petals. The word anemone means the wind flower. Perhaps the sea anemone got its name because it seems to wave like a flower in the wind.

However, its petals are really tentacles, little fingers reaching out to find food in the water. Each one is fitted with countless stinging hairs. For the sea anemone is a meat eater. It squats there waiting for its prey to swim by. The pretty thing looks harmless enough to a little fish. But if the fish happens to brush the tentacles, they will sting him and paralyze him.

Its Job Is Eating Little Fish

Now the sea anemone has the job of eating little fish. The flower-animal has a very simple body. He belongs to a large group of animals called hollow-insiders. His chubby stalk is quite hollow inside and his hollow serves as a stomach. It also takes oxygen from the water and does the breathing for the little animal.

The bottom of the stalk is a strong foot which can remain firmly fixed on a rock or go for a slow walk. The head end is a round open mouth fringed with tentacles. The outer tentacles are the longest and they serve as the hungry petals that search for food There are also two smaller fringes of tentacles. One set fans a constant stream of water into the hollow inside of the sea anemone. It carries in food and oxygen. Another set fans out a stream of water to carry away waste carbon dioxide and bits of useless food. Water is always circulating through the hollow stomach.

The petal tentacles start the poor fish on its way inside the sea enemone. They hold it in the right direction. Other tentacles are busy fanning in a stream of water. This pulls the fish and he gets carried down to be digested. The sea anemone is quite happy to catch one meal while the tide fills his pool. The tide may go out and leave him high and dry. But so long as his soft body stays moist, he can wait for the next tide. If times are very bad in his pool, it does not bother him. He can inch his way slowly over the rocky beach until he finds another pool. This time he will choose one nearer to the ocean. Then he can be sure that the tide will cover him twice every day, bringing his oxygen and plenty of tasty little fish and maybe a few shrimp. He may even decide to live underwater all the time.

Where Is the Largest Cave?

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Thomas Tangua age 12, of Portland Maine, for his question:

Where is the Largest Cave in the World?

Jim White was a cowboy on the range in the southwest corner of New Mexico. One evening in 1901, he saw what he thought was a cloud of smoke pouring from the side of the Guadaloupe mountains. It turned out to be a flock of bats, pouring out of their ancient caves for a nightly prowl of insect hunting.

The caves are the famous Carlsbad Caverns, so far as we know the largest caverns in the world. These limestone works of nature's artistry are carved out of the rock in three layers. So far, some 23 miles of tunnels, caves and caverns have been explored, and this is but a small proportion of the entire system.

Three miles of the splendid underground city have been fitted with lights and made safe for visitors. The trip through these wonders of nature takes about four hours. It takes you through vast halls and magnificent chambers. There are even lakes of crystal water. The rooms are adorned with chandeliers, pillars, columns and graceful domes — all made of semi-precious onyx and other beautiful stones. For not only are Carlsbad Caverns the largest known caves, they are the most spectacular.

SCHOOL BOARD NOTES

Extra Holidays At One City School

Students at Margaret Jenkins School in Fairfield will enjoy an extra week's holiday this summer.

The school closes its doors Friday to give contractors extra time to complete an addition now underway.

Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law has advised Greater Victoria School Board, masonry furnace rooms must be provided at Craigflower and Tolmie (annex) schools.

"Why, after 28 years?" asked Trustee Richard Reeve.

He was told the trend is to bring local regulations in line with the national building code. The board will inform the chief the work will be included in 1958 estimates.

A PTA council proposal for a fashion show in local high schools in conjunction with Eaton's department store was tabled for a month by the board.

Trustees expressed fear a precedent would be set which would mix commercialism with schooling and children would be required to sell tickets. Trustee Harold Whitfield said he thought the girls should show clothes they made themselves.

Miss Ulah B. Jacobson, a consultant teacher for the last two years, was appointed Monday night as assistant supervisor to the school district primary department.

She was teacher-in-charge at Beacon Hill School for six years and is a past president of the local branch of the Association for Childhood Education. She joined the staff here in 1943.

The position she vacates is dispensed with temporarily. Miss L. B. Smethurst will remain as the only consultant teacher (intermediate grades).

Another staff change saw Denis W. Brown appointed supervisor of curriculum and special services.

He previously headed the audio-visual department which is now only one of several departments under his charge.

Special summer classes for Grade Nine students who end the year without full requirements for passing to high school will be conducted again during July.

Special classes are in the mornings and enrolment costs parents $10.

A preliminary survey shows there will be about 325 registrations and six teachers will be required. The plan was instituted two years ago.

Use of Lansdowne Junior High School or Richmond School for Sunday school or church services was denied by the board in keeping with established policy. The church which made application was not identified.

Board was told tenders will be called July 4 for additions to F. T. Fairey vocational and technical unit at Victoria High School.

Drawings are also being completed for additions to Oak Bay High, Oak Bay Junior High, Lansdowne Junior High, Frank Hobbs School and a new Marigold School.

Plans for a new Lake Hill School are being readied for preliminary approval by the department of education.

H. Alan Batey was appointed head of the vocational-technical department of Victoria High School.

The board was advised 1,805 pupils have enrolled in grade one for September classes — three times more than will graduate from grade 12 (517).

Thirty-four classrooms are needed to adequately accommodate the youngsters and only 15 are expected to be ready in September. Also some special temporary rooms will be created by dividing a gym into four teaching areas with partitions.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Esquimalt police court Monday:

Marvin James A. Copp, 510 Fraser, $35 and restricted to driving for business only for one month, for careless driving.

Maxim Dick, $35 for careless driving.

Tito Follows Trend; Will Appear on TV

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia has agreed to appear in a film interview this week for television broadcast in the United States, an informant said today.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

North Quadra Group: Scouter Don Bramwell was invested as a leader by Phyllis Sheffield, district cubmaster, at a meeting of the pack to which the parents were invited. The Cubs put on a demonstration of star work in the form of a skit. The final meeting for the season will be held on Thursday next when the pack will hold a wiener feed and picnic.

Third Victoria Group: The annual picnic was held last Sunday at Camp Glyn, Ardmore, at which a large number of parents were present. Ice cream and peanuts were given the boys and girls, and a softball game was played.

During the afternoon, Gordon Woolridge, chairman of the group, presented Mrs. Winnie Bennett with a gift in appreciation for her years of work with the pack as their Akela.

Mt. Tolmie Groups: On Saturday, June 22, the Scouts and Guides of the Mt. Tolmie area will hold a garden party and tea at the home of Maj.-Gen. and Mrs. George Pearkes, corner of Tattersal Drive and Maplewood. Mrs. F. W. Midgley, recently retired area commissioner for Girl Guides, will open the event.

Proceeds of the affair will be used to defray operating expenses of the Scout and Guide Hall on Shelbourne Street.

The party will run from 2.30 to 5 p.m. and will feature a fashion show which is being convened by Mrs. F. C. Nelson and Mrs. C. G. Butterworth.

Chinese Group: On Friday evening the pack went for a wiener feed out to the Marigold area. This was the last get-together of the season. The troop carried out extensive rescue knotting practice. First-class signalling was practiced. There will be an investiture next week.

Gorge Vale Group: A rummage sale will be held by the group on Saturday, June 22, at the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, from 7.45 to 11 a.m. Proceeds from the sale will be used to carry on the activities of the group.

Next month will be the 50th anniversary of the first Scout Camp ever held. It was on Brownse Island off the coast of Dorset, England.

Four Hurt In Weekend Mishaps

Four persons were injured, two of them admitted to city hospitals, as a result of traffic accidents Saturday night and Sunday.

Martin MacDonald, 29, 620 Battery, was released later Sunday after treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital for head injury received when his car went out of control on the Malahat at about 3.25 a.m.

Motorcyclist Morton Szaloky, 21, 1525 Arrow, fractured a leg when his bike was forced off the Sooke highway near Sooke and collided with a pole at about 4.40 p.m. Sunday.

THROWN 30 FEET

A passenger, Frank Isaacs, Colwood, was thrown about 30 feet but was not injured.

CARTWHEELED

Dobbie's car went out of control on a turn, flipped into the air and cartwheeled end over end three times before striking the ground, then rolled about five times, flattening itself and knocking the driver unconscious.

He was taken to Jubilee Hospital for X-rays and treatment.

Ronald G. Henning, 2073 Crescent, reported to police that as he drove, on Leighton near Foul Bay at about 6.15 p.m Saturday he was in collision with four-year-old Allister Wade, 1932 Leighton, who was running across the street.

The boy was taken with his father to Jubilee Hospital and treated for minor abrasions to head and leg.

Rock 'n' roll indirectly was responsible for 11-year-old Sandra Christianson, 222 West Burnside, receiving a gashed leg Saturday night.

She was sliding down an iron railing at 287 Inez when she cut her leg on a gate hook. A rock 'n' roll party was in progress.

HUNTING FOX, CAUGHT BY BEAR

Youth Survives Battle

BRECHIN, Ont. (CP)—Details of a midnight battle to the death with an angry she-bear came to light today as Thomas Kelly, 18, told of a hunting expedition that nearly cost him his life.

He spent two days in bed last week recovering from shock and the mauling he received in a battle with the dying bear.

Kelly went hunting a fox that had been prowling near his father's chicken coops. He wounded the fox with a blast from his 12-gauge shotgun and followed it into the bush.

He became lost. As he stopped to listen for a train whistle to get his bearings, he heard the whimpering of bear cubs.

"The next thing I saw in the moonlight was this big bear rushing at me," he said. "I fired my last two shells at it."

He hit the animal on the nose with his fist and prodded it again with his gun. The bear grabbed the gun in its teeth and collapsed dying upon him.

Kelly's chest and legs were clawed. He crawled from under the animal and made his way to a neighbor's farm. Kelly estimated the bear weighed at least 200 pounds.

LAST ACROSS OLD BRIDGE

Last person to cross Point Ellice Bridge before demolition barriers went up today was Victoria West "mayor" Charles Banfield. He helped pull victims from water 61 years ago when original bridge collapsed. Last year he led residents to polls in successful bridge vote. (Times Photo.)

possible to agree to the extent of control measures when the contents of a disarmament agreement are decided.

The full conference agreed to reconvene Thursday afternoon. Western delegates were expected to meet Tuesday to align their strategy.

The Western powers were pressing Russia for further details of the latest Soviet plan for suspension of atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

Western representatives attending talks wanted in particular to know just how much latitude the Russians would grant to the Western monitors who, under Russia's plan, would pass through the Iron Curtain to keep tabs on Soviet observance of nuclear test restrictions.

LABORITES PRESS

Over the weekend, such prominent Laborites as Hugh Gaitskell and Aneurin Bevan urged the West to accept the Russian plan—if only for the purpose of calling the Kremlin's bluff.

At the same time, it was announced that U.S. state department adviser Julius C. Holmes and a U.S. general whose name has not yet been announced will come here this week to allay Allied fears of an American "Big Two" deal with Russia.

The two U.S. officials apparently are being assigned as a check on "disarmament secretary" Harold E. Stassen, who has aroused Allied criticism by private talks with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister V. A. Zorin.

50 Killed In Haiti Rioting

PORT au PRINCE (AP) — At least 50 persons are dead and 200 wounded after a weekend of violence in Haiti. Still more disorders were in prospect.

With scores in critical condition, the death toll from Saturday night's carnage may reach well over 100. Angry mobs went on an orgy of looting, burning and stoning in protest at the army's ouster of their idol, provisional president Daniel Fignole. Troops stopped it with sub-machine gun fire.

The workers from Port au Prince's slums threatened another burst of violence Sunday night. But a cloudburst lashed this unhappy Negro republic in the afternoon, turning the capital's muddy streets into swirling streams two to three feet deep.

The Port au Prince cable office closed at 6.30 a.m., cutting communication with the outside world.

The capital's workers and peasants in the countryside threatened to stage a general strike today, the weapon they have used to get rid of others of the five provisional governments which preceded the present military junta over a six-month period.

LONDON PAPER HOPES TORIES NOT TOO LOYAL

LONDON (CP)—The Observer says it will be a loss to Britain if a new government in Canada adopts a policy of "mere unquestioning loyalty" to the old country.

Under External Affairs Minister Pearson, the paper says, Canada attained a position of trust and respect in world affairs. Ottawa had succeeded, "with the aid of possibly the best diplomatic services in the West," in winning the confidence of Afro-Asian countries as no other Western power had been able to do.

Britain would lose something if a Progressive Conservative government, coming to power as a result of last Monday's elections reduced Canadian external policy to one of unquestioning loyalty.

Mr. Howe added that he will holiday later at his summer home at St. Andrews, N.B.

Defence Minister Campney, defeated in Vancouver Centre, said he is "ready and willing" to take a holiday.

"I'm now going to do exactly what I did before—practice law and lead a normal life."

"THE DEATH WATCH"

Finance Minister Harris, defeated in Grey-Bruce, Ont., strode along the corridor with his hands in his pockets. To reporters he said: "The death watch?"

External Affairs Minister Pearson, re-elected in Algoma East, later hit a similar note. He remarked: "The death watch begun?"

Revenue Minister McCann, defeated in Renfrew, Ont., said "I'm gonna sleep, eat and get a rest."

Justice Minister Garsop, defeated in Marquette, Man., was asked what was going to happen and replied "I'll know better after the meeting."

20 DIE IN GUN BATTLE OVER LEBANON VOTING

BEIRUT (AP)—More than 20 persons were reported killed and 30 wounded in a gun battle around a church in North Lebanon Sunday as voters assured Premier Sami Solh's government majority backing in the new Parliament for its pro-Western foreign policy.

Bearded Cop Fired

LONDON (UP) — A Scotland Yard disciplinary board today ordered a Buckingham Palace police guard to resign from the force because he refused to shave off an "untidy" beard.

West Berlin Regains Position As One of Europe's Show Places

BERLIN (CP)—Beleaguered West Berlin, as breezy and dauntless as ever, is rapidly regaining its old position as one of Europe's greatest cities. Some rate is the most exciting capital on the continent, ahead even of Paris.

It's only half a city, a pinprick of liberty in a Communist limbo, but it looks brighter every day.

Defying economic laws and a crazy political set-up, this thriving island 100 miles inside the Iron Curtain is still the spiritual capital of free Germany.

Once more the Kurfuerstendamn sparkles, reborn as the Champs Elysees of Berlin. Bold and original architectural developments are seen in universities, department stores and office buildings, built in the last few months or years.

EW CONGRESS

An arresting example is the new Congress Hall, now nearing completion. Fun-loving Berliners, intrigued by its unusual shape, call it the "pregnant oyster" or "crashed flying saucer."

Germans elsewhere yearn for the yeasty atmosphere of Berlin, where even the air is more bracing "I'll get there if I have to walk all the way," said a union leader in Cologne, recalling exuberant pre-Hitler days when Berlin ranked with Paris as an intellectual centre and names like Fritiz Lang and Ernst Lubitxch dominated the entertainment industry.

Now Berlin is wide open again. At night the city exudes a brassy, juke-box gaiety. Night-clbs, catering for a variety of tastes, stay open till daybreak. Some specialize in political cabaret as sharp as anything in Europe.

AIR-LIFT RECALLED

The spirit of Berlin seems as impudent and indestructible as in the hard days of the air-life, when housewives got up at 2 a.m. to do their washing in the few post-midnight hours when electric current was available. Berliners still have a reputation for being "schlagfertig"—quick with a blow, or reply.

A road worker, questioned about the destination of an autobahn on which construction had just started, flashed back: "Stettin." Stettin is in Polish territory far behind the Iron Curtain, probably lost to Germany for ever. The contrast between the two Berlins could hardly be more pointed.

Press Gets Preview Of New Sub-Killer

More than 50 press, radio and TV representatives from Vancouver Island and the lower B.C. mainland today previewed Canada's newest anti-submarine destroyer escort as she showed her paces and wares in Juan de Fuca Strait.

Aboard "DDE 233," a product of Yarrows Ltd., they were shown how the ship's weapons worked, how she sailed at speeds in excess of 25 knots, how her complicated electronic gear could track subs, how radar controls her anti-aircraft weapons.

"DDE 233" will be commissioned June 28 as HMCS Fraser, the sixth of her class to go into service in Canada, the second to be accepted by the Royal Canadian Navy from a west coast shipyard.

Today's press preview was actually part of the builder's trials for the ship. Trials will continue until just prior to commissioning.

The Fraser-to-be is one of 14 anti-submarine destroyer escorts which are the fighting core of Canada's "new navy." All are of Canadian design, built specifically for the job assigned to Canada under NATO—that of combatting the submarine menace.

Each of the new ships cost about $25,000,000 to build.

U.S.-Russia Track Meet Still Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—There still is a possibility of a United States vs. Russia track and field meet in Moscow July 12-14, Dan Ferris has announced.

The secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union said he received a cable from Soviet sports authorities asking him to await a meeting of the "light athletic section board of the U.S.S.R.," today, Monday.

Ferris said the cable arrived shortly after he had announced plans of the AAU to send more than 60 track and field stars on a summer tour of other European countries.

Financing problems have held up the international meet. Soviet sports authorities last April invited the U.S. to send a 70-man team to Moscow. The Russians would return the visit in 1958.

TEHRAN, Iran (CP) — Eighteen people were killed and 45 injured in a clash between tribes in Luristan, West Iran, over poppy cultivation and opium smuggling, according to press reports here Sunday.

ILL-TREATED PET SKUNK GETS REVENGE

LITTLETON, Col. (AP)—The skunk, a much-maligned animal, got the last laugh over Richard Huttell of Climax, Colo. Hottell was fined $12.50 and given a one-day suspended jail sentence in police court for cruelty to one.

Police said they found Huttell's pet skunk locked in his abandoned car for the past three weeks.

Portland Promoter Shoots for Big Fight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Boxing promoter Tommy Moyer says he has offered heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson $250,000 to defend his title in Portland in September.

Moyer proposed Patterson meet either Eddie Machen or Pat McMurtry, Tacoma, Wash., who has confined his fighting to the Northwest. Machen is second ranked in the heavyweight division, behind Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

VANCOUVER—Salmon net fishermen have voted about 97 per cent in favor of striking for increased fish prices, the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) announced Saturday. It was not immediately known how many of the union's 5,500 members would be affected.

Union secretary Homer Stevens said a further meeting is planned with representatives of the packing plants and fish buyers.

Funeral Service Tuesday For Late W. Martindale

Funeral service for Wharton Murray Martindale, 55, 1917 Runnymede, will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at McCall's Funeral Home.

Mr. Martindale, a resident of Victoria 37 years, in which he became a popular businessman, golfer and service club worker, died suddenly on Courtenay golf course Saturday morning.

Other survivors include a sister, Mrs. Robert Harvey, and grandson, Michael, three, son of the late Murray Martindale, of Victoria.

Mr. Martindale was born in Nanaimo, Sept. 5, 1904, and lived most of his life on Vancouver Island.

An active member of Victoria Kiwanis Club, he had served as its president in recent years.

He was a salesman for the Island industrial division of the British American Oil Co. until his death. Prior to joining the firm, he was employed by Union Oil and Heaney's.

Service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

QUEEN CROWNED

NELSON—Jane Miller was crowned Nelson's diamond jubilee queen Saturday night in the civic arena. She'll reign over the city's 60th anniversary festivities, most important of which is the midsummer bonspiel, July 7 to 14.

Only "Steradent's" "OXYGEN ACTION" really cleans False Teeth

Ordinary toothpastes and powders simply can't clean false teeth thoroughly — they're not designed to. While the harsh abrasives in many makeshift cleansers often do more harm than good. That's why so many dentists recommend Steradent — the special cleaner for all dentures.

Steradent soaks into cracks and crevices no brush can reach. Its Oxygen Action goes to work at once to remove stain, mucin film, clinging food particles and bacteria. Steradent deodorizes your dentures — keeping teeth bright, breath fresh.

You can prove Steradent's superiority without risking a penny. For free sample, fill out and mail to: Reckitt & Colman (Canada) Limited, Dept. A, 1000 Amherst St., Montreal, P.Q.

TERRY MOORE DIVORCE PLEA SPELLS OUT HUBBY'S GUILT

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Terry Moore surprised Hollywood Monday by filing a divorce suit. She accused her husband of "notorious association with other women."

It was the first public indication that the buxom actress and Eugene Charles McGrath were having marital trouble. McGrath is a wealthy real estate man.

"He had illicit relations with numerous and various women in Las Vegas, Nev.," said her complaint which gave the first names only of five women. The names: Dona, Mickey, Jane and Barbara of Las Vegas, Nev., and Jean of North Hollywood.

Battle Honors Announced For Regiments

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Army Monday announced the award of battle honors to four of its regiments.

This brings to 21 the number of regiments receiving honors for Second World War services since a list of 160 battles, actions, engagements and theatres was published last October for which armored and infantry units may claim honors.

Latest recipients are 1st Hussars (6th armored regiment), a militia unit of the Royal Canadian Armored Corps at London, Ont., which receives 21 honors; the Princess Louise Fusiliers (machine-gun), a militia unit of the Royal Canadian Infantry Corps at Halifax, nine honors; the Highland Light Infantry of Canada, a militia unit of the Royal Canadian Infantry Corps at Galt, Ont., 20 honors, and the Royal Winnipeg Rifles, a militia unit of the Royal Canadian Infantry Corps at Winnipeg, 20 honors.

C (To put in time)

(A) "THE BRAVE ONE" (Capitol)—For sheer enchantment this King brothers' (Maurice and Frank) production about the love of a boy for a bull would be difficult to beat.

Academy Award winner last March for "best story," "The Brave One's" author, Robert Rich, still remains a mystery. When called upon to accept his Oscar during the ceremonies he was conspicuously absent. As far as can be learned he is a man with a goatee living on the continent who gave the King brothers a synopsis for a script. There are others who claim the story was "lifted."

Be that as it may, the screen play by Harry Franklin holds all the charm and simplicity of a masterpiece.

Mexican farm boy Michel Ray rescues a newborn bull when its mother is killed by lightning. In spite of his father's warning that the bull is destined to wear the royal purple of the bull ring the boy brings the mighty brute up as a pet, even getting the wealthy owner to give him the bull as his own.

But then the owner is killed on the Continent while driving his racing car and the estate is sold at auction, so is Michel's brave bull. The broken-hearted boy hitchhikes into Mexico City determined to save his friend from the matador's sword, even if he has to get an audience with the president himself.

As good stories should, climax builds on anti-climax until, in the end, when the brave one bursts into the arena with the speed and power of a runaway locomotive, the tension mounts for the finale to an unbelievable pitch.

Although bull-fighting to most North Americans is a cruel thing, "The Brave One" lends the sport a nobility and bravery on part of both man and beast that makes it all a little more understandable.

Nonetheless, most customers will find themselves giving their best "body English" to guide the bull in his charge against the agile matador.

But the fight itself is not what makes "The Brave One" the gem it is. It is the basic story of love between the boy and the animal, the understanding of his father and sister and those about him, the magnificent color photography by Jack Cardiff and the work of art director Ramon Rodriguez.

B.C. Actor Woos, Wins By Phone

LONDON (CP)—A 15-minute telephone call from Denmark to Britain has resulted in an announcement of wedding bells pending for Canadian actor Lee Patterson and 23-year-old Magda Miller, blonde bombshell of British films.

Vancouver-born Patterson, 28, was in Copenhagen appearing with an all-Danish cast in the film Natlogi Belalt. He put through a call to London—and became engaged to the shapely, ash-blonde Miss Miller, born in Scotland to Lithuanian parents.

Patterson and the blue-eyed Miss Miller met for the first time a few months ago when appearing in the British film The White Hunter.

SCRIPT IMPROVED

"We played a married couple, and the marriage went on the rocks," said Magda. "Ours will never go that way."

Miss Miller played the blonde siren in the recent British thriller Town on Trial and made a considerable impact on the critics, though on the screen for only a few minutes.

Patterson, one of six brothers, worked as a designer in Toronto and Montreal before coming to Britain. One of his recent films, due for release soon, is The Story of Esther Costello, starring Joan Crawford. He played a Canadian pilot in the film Reach for the Sky.

Psst...

The Royal Bank is looking for young high school graduates with their eyes on the manager's chair and who will study to win advancement. Listed below are good reasons why the "Royal" offers young men exceptional career opportunities and a solid future. Discuss this advertisement with your parents . . . ask your local manager to tell you more about the opportunities for young men at the Royal Bank.

Solid facts that spell "opportunity" for you in the Royal Bank:

1. The "Royal" is North America's fourth largest bank. More than 880 branches are in operation and new ones are being opened all the time. During the past four years we have opened 94 new branches, each one creating new managerial positions . . . and resulting promotions for young Royal Bankers.

2. "Influence" plays no part in advancement at the Royal Bank. Our senior officers from the Chairman and President down started as juniors in small branches and advanced on merit alone.

3. Home study banking courses are available to all staff members. Successful candidates advance quickly. Practical experience plus the banking course is equivalent to a university course in Commerce.

4. For young men interested in gaining international banking experience, the Royal Bank has 77 branches abroad . . . in New York, London, Paris, Central and South America, Cuba and the West Indies.

5. We have generous pension plans that compare with the best, as well as group, health and hospital insurance, at low cost to employees.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have been trying to avoid this.

But if everyone else in the paper—from the society department's vice-president in charge of charm to page four's most erudite brain—can write about the new destroyer escort, I guess I can, too.

Of course, I have a sort of handicap, not shared by the other people on the paper.

I know a weeny-teeny bit about the new destroyer escort. However, this won't prevent me from relating a small anecdote involving Ray Phillips, the commanding officer designate of the Fraser.

The Fraser, of course, is an exceedingly fast ship. Not so Ray's last command on this coast, some years back.

At that time, he was driving the frigate HMCS Antigonish. The Antigonish, as the saying goes, could crank up 16 knots going down hill.

Well, one day the Antigonish had another frigate, whose ancient machinery had collapsed, under tow.

The towed ship was displaying the proper signal indicating she was not proceeding under her own power.

But, for some strange reason, the Antigonish was displaying the same signal—due, no doubt, to a temporary aberration on the part of a very junior officer.

At any rate, the two frigates were proceeding toward harbor at a sedate pace, when HMCS Sioux hove into sight. Her CO at the time was Ken Adams (now a rear-admiral).

And when the Sioux's captain spotted the incorrect signal, he (being senior to Phillips) demanded an explanation.

Phillips, who had been caught flat-footed, remembered that the CO of the frigate he was towing had about six months seniority, messaged back: "Following motions of my senior officer."

The Sioux circled the plodding frigates and wound up to her best speed—somewhere in the neighborhood of 30 knots.

And as she flashed past, Adams sent another signal: "NOW follow the motions of your senior officers."

PS to navy types: Yes, I know the signal displayed under the circumstances noted above. But you don't suppose I'm going to mention it here, do you?

St. John of Jerusalem Honors for Victoria Men

Two Victoria men have been singled out for honors sanctioned by the Queen in the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

Both have been bestowed the title of Serving Brother.

Dr. Felton, who retired in 1946 after 17 years as Victoria public health officer, and from the BCHIS in 1949, is still active in judging and examination work with the ambulance organization. A graduate of Guy's Hospital, London, he came to this area in 1911.

Mr. Muirhead, a department manager at Eatons, was chairman of the St. John Ambulance Association here from 1951 to 1955, and is still both a B.C. and Victoria association director.

Men and women from all walks of life are included in the honors list.

AMY BRIEFS TRAINING MATE

Amy Hiland Starts Training For Jaycee Mass Strait Swim

She is making her training headquarters in an auto court overlooking the water near Sooke.

"I shall be making practice swims every day until the contest takes place," 33-year-old Amy said today. "And every swim will be a little longer than the last."

Last August 18, Amy swam the "short route" across the strait from Ediz Hook, Port Angeles to William Head, site of the quarantine station, in 10 hours 51 minutes.

"HOMETOWNER"

She landed within minutes of Victoria's Ben Laughren—first hometowner to swim from the U.S. to Canadian shore—who landed at Church Point, about a mile west of Race Rocks and 14 miles directly northwest of Ediz Hook.

Five days later on Aug. 23, Marilyn Bell, 18-year-old Toronto girl, swam the full width of the Strait from Port Angeles to Victoria in the record time of 10 hours, 38 minutes, and became the first Canadian to make a complete south-north crossing.

Amy arrived in Victoria Monday accompanied by her husband, Pete, and Miss Helene Allison, a student at the University of California, who will be her training companion.

Pete Hiland returned to California today.

FOR HER HEALTH

"Amy never did any serious swimming until six years ago," he said. "She took it up for her health and it was the best thing she ever did. Why, she's never had a cold since she took up swimming and she's always in the pink of condition.

"Of course, I shall be back here in good time for the big swim in August."

A Junior Chamber of Commerce official said three swimmers have now been registered for the Strait swim — Victoria's Ben Laughren, Amy Hiland and Douglas Rivette, 45-year-old deaf-mute linotype operator, formerly of Victoria and Nanaimo, now of Vancouver.

12 QUERIES

Rivette, who weighs 220 pounds, has been swimming since the age of two when he was stricken with polio and required swim therapy treatment.

"We have had inquiries from about 12 swimmers in Canada and the United States," the junior chamber official said.

Among them are Tom Park, former Toronto swimmer now residing in California, and Greta Anderson from Denmark, first woman to finish the Atlantic City marathon.

First swimmer to cross the Strait will receive a prize of $5,000. Second prize is $2,500, third prize $1,500, fourth prize $1,000.

If no one completes the crossing, all four prizes will be halved.

Seized Bingo Gear Ordered Confiscated

All bingo equipment seized by city police in a raid on Victoria Bridge and Whist Club in March was ordered confiscated today in police court.

Operator of the bingo game at the time of the raid, Mrs. Audrey Jorgenson, 5151 Cordova Bay, was previously fined for keeping a common gaming house last March 28.

Exempted from confiscation were club ledgers, which Magistrate H. C. Hall ruled would be needed by operator Stanley John Trickey, father of Mrs. Jorgenson, in preparing his 1957 income tax return.

Originally included in the application by city prosecutor Alan Bigelow were two pin-ball machines taken away by police at the time of the raid.

He withdrew these because he had no evidence that they were actually used the night in question.

Confiscated equipment includes a public address system with amplifier, microphone, wiring and five speakers, a bingo number ball blower, ball rack, illuminated number panel and switch board, bingo cards, tickets, operator's apron and other paraphernalia of the game.

Mr. Trickey, who operates his club in basement premises leased from the Westholme Hotel, 1417 Government, testified in court under protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

Fraser Fires Main Armament For First Time

DDE 233 — the Yarrows-built anti-sub ship which is to be commissioned June 28 as HMCS Fraser — fired her main armament for the first time Tuesday.

In Juan de Fuca Strait with a press party aboard, she showed off the latest weapon in the never-ending technoligical battle of surface ship vs. submarine.

Those who watched the demonstration feel that the Fraser has a winner.

LONG-RANGE

The weapon is a mortar battery, with long range (secret) and fantastc accuracy, controlled by an electronc commutter of the type widely publicized as a "mechanical brain."

In contrast to the old-original anti-sub weapon, the depth charge which was rolled over the stern, the new weapon can seek out its undersea target many hundreds of yards from the ship.

The high explosive is carried in a bomb-like cylinder very like an aircraft bomb. From the mortar, the projectile is fired high in the air, enters the water almost vertically, is on its target in a matter of split seconds.

VICIOUS EFFICIENCY

It's a wicked looking weapon, with an appearance of vicious efficiency.

And the same is true of the ship itself—a high-speed vehicle whose purpose in life is to bring the mortar battery within range of the enemy.

Secondary armament, two twin-mounts of rapid fire anti-aircraft guns, were also demonstrated in a dry run for the press. Brought to bear in the general target area by the ship's main radar equipment, the guns "lock on" to the target with their own radar, remain mechanically fastened on the target—no matter what evasion tactics are taken—until it is shot down.

JUNE 28

The Fraser is now on her final trials before acceptance by the RCN, which will be followed by commissioning ceremonies at government jetty, Esquimalt, June 28.

6% Boost Called 'Long Way Short'

A spokesman for the 11,000-member B.C. Government Employees' Association said today the 6 per cent wage increase for civil servants announced by Premier Bennett Monday is "a long way short of what is needed to bring us in line."

A. C. Bennett, assistant general secretary of the association, said his initial reaction to the offer was "not too good."

He added, however, that the association wants more time to study the proposal and will meet with the cabinet Friday to discuss it more fully.

NO CHANGE

The strike vote now in progress among association members will not be changed and the executive is making no recommendation for the time being.

Association officials met briefly with the cabinet today, but only to obtain confirmation of the premier's announcement of wage increases for stationary engineers.

A strike of 153 engineers employed in provincial government buildings set for June 26 has now been called off, Mr. Bennett said.

They cannot be granted until the next session of the legislature, he said, but will be made retroactive to July 1.

The premier indicated the average raise would be about 6 per cent, but said the actual amounts for various categories would be determined by study.

NOT ENOUGH

Commenting today on a statement by George Dodsworth, president of the Psychiatric Nurses' Association, that 6 per cent was not enough, the premier said:

"I said the average will be 6 per cent. some of the rates will be away above that."

Mr. Dodsworth said he doubted whether the psychiatric nurses in provincial mental hospitals, who are also members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, will accept the terms.

His group will also hold out for bargaining rights, Mr. Dodsworth said.

FORMULA SOUGHT

Premier Bennett has maintained that the government cannot grant increases without legislature approval, and said last week the government was looking for some "formula" to make the increases possible.

The Premier said increases had been granted to the stationary engineers in the budget passed at the last session but through a "misunderstanding" had not been made effective.

"We were amazed when we found the order had not been passed" the premier said.

An order-in-council was drawn up Monday afternoon, making the increases retroactive to April 1. The order also applied to a few other categories of workers, including employees on government-operated ferries.

The premier reiterated government policy to cut down the size of the civil service by not filling vacancies, but said "we haven't any scorched earth policy."

Industrial Accidents Jump 40%

A 40 per cent increase in fatal industrial accidents in B.C. druing 1956 over the previous year was reported today by the Workmen's Compensation Board.

In its annual report, the board said the number of accidents increased 15½ per cent to 95,562. Of this total, 324 were fatal.

The board paid out or set aside a record $21,207,594 to cover claims during the year.

Time-loss compensation payments amounted to $8,221,964 and $4,161,178 was paid out for the medical care of injured workman.

A-G Dislikes Smith Plan On Store Hours

'Can't See What All Fuss About'

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today he "didn't think much" of the method proposed by city alderman and MLA Donald Smith for getting around the shops closing clause in the new Municipal Act.

Mr. Smith suggested the city pass a by-law creating a token $1 fine for infractions of the stipulated 6 p.m. closing time. Such a light penalty would discourage prosecutions, he said.

Mr. Bonner said he hadn't discussed the proposal with Mr. Smith, but indicated strongly he didn't approve.

At the same time, the attorney-general said there is nothing to stop corner stores keeping the same hours after the new act becomes law July 1, if the individual municipalities want it that way.

"I can't see what all the fuss is about," he said.

By re-enacting the closing by-laws they had under the old Shops Regulations Act, the municipalities could have the same conditions.

The new act doesn't make any basic change in the situation for corner stores or service stations, the attorney-general claimed.

Mountie Hero To Get Medal Here Thursday

RCMP Corporal H. M. C. Johnstone, 24-year-old officer-in-charge of Qualicum Beach detachment will be presented with the George Medal by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross in the vice-regal suite at the Empress Hotel, Thursday, at 4 p.m.

It is the first time the award has been made to a member of a B.C. detachment of the RCMP.

Corporal Johnstone receives the award for his part in stopping a bank robbery at Coquitlam in April, 1956. He was wounded eight times in a gun battle with bandits attempting to rob the bank.

Announcing the award in the House of Commons, last March, former Liberal Finance Minister Walter Harris said:

"The country always expects devoted, daring and courageous service from the RCMP, but some actions deserve special recogntion.

"Corporal Johnstone's action was one such case."

"It's quite a surprise and a great honor," Corporal Johnstone said today. "I am certainly looking forward to the presenation."

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnstone of Selkirk, Man., are now en route to Victoria to attend the ceremony.

Corporal Johnstone's wife, Edith, will also attend. They have two children aged three years and nine months.

City Impounds Cars on Street

Surprise Move Follows Years Of Court Fights Over 'Junk'

Seven cars which had been parked for a long period on a Queens Avenue boulevard were impounded Monday by Victoria City Engineer's Department.

The action climaxed years of court battles which resulted in numerous convictions and fines for the owner of the vehicles, Leslie D. Foxgord, 1144 Queens.

City officials have repeatedly charged Mr. Foxgord with operating a junk yard without a licence.

Neighbors have presented petitions and Victoria Police Commission has had numerous meetings on the problem Mr. Foxgord's cars have presented.

Several care are still parked in a vacant lot adjoining the Foxgord home.

SURPRISE MOVE

The surprise removal was carried out under authority of a by-law passed last September which gives city engineer J. C. Garnett authority to clear any obstruction from any city street or boulevard.

Mr. Garnett said Mr. Foxgord may reclaim the cars by paying hauling and storage charges.

It was reported the removal was carried out peacefully. Mr. Foxgord was out at the time. His son argued against the action, but stood by for the removal.

CITY LICENCE

Mr. Foxgord last week was granted a city business licence to operate a second-hand shop on Broad Street.

Council had debated the step in view of the high number of prosecutions against Mr. Foxxgord with regard to his cars. Police Chief John Blackstock refused to recommend granting of the licence.

TRAFFIC FINES

Rudolph Stolber, 649 Ardersier, $25 for speeding over 30.

Glenford Ross Lockhart, 1290 Hastings, $25, and Lorne H. Donaldson, 305 Windermere, $40 for violation of driver's licence restrictions.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Will you please tell me how several stations on the Kettle Valley Railway have names taken from plays of Shakespeare — Iago, Othello, Lear, etc?

A. That railway line in southern B.C. was opened in 1915. At that time Andrew McCulloch was general superintendent, and finding a new railway with few settlements along its course, he met the problem of establishing stations at intervals simply by choosing names from several of Shakespeare's plays.

The Kettle Valley Line is owned by the CPR.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters Times does not undertake to solve conundrums of fact and be of general interest. The drums.

YOUTH CLUB TO CIRCULATE PETITIONS TONIGHT

Teen-Agers Seek Meeting Place, Drag Strip

By DON INGHAM

Close to 400 members of the National Youth Club will swarm over Victoria tonight with petitions asking support of a "youth town" and program of youth activities to be conducted under adult supervision.

What they want are the names of at least 10 per cent of the residents on their petition. They feel that with this amount, or more, they can go to the city council and talk about development of Thetis Lake property.

As they grow in strength—membership now is over 700—they hope to sponsor football teams, organize trips to concerts and points of interest, stage their own concerts, hold their own dances, arrange fashion shows for the girl members, and play table tennis, baseball, basketball and other games.

If the club grows as they wish it to, it will be the spearhead of all youth activities in the area, and a form of service club geared to the activities of young people.

But first they want to clean their own house by taming the small percentage of hooligans in the district that give all youth a bad name. Their method will be to make their club so attractive all will want to join.

THEIR OWN HALL

"That is why two of the first things we want are a hall of our own, where we can do our own kind of dancing, and a drag strip," said club president Norman Heseltine, of 2663 Blanshard. "These would let kids blow off steam without annoying anyone, and would eliminate two of the worst habits of young people in the city."

Youngsters have to go some place to meet, he said. At present it is a street corner or a restaurant, both unsatisfactory, and breeding grounds for trouble. The alternative, he said, is a hall where they can rock 'n' roll, have their soft drinks, and generally enjoy themselves.

"We've held a couple of dances and the behavior was something to be proud of," he said.

The other safety valve—a drag strip—needs a little more explaining, and about one mile of road surface.

"DRAG" DEFINED

"Dragging" as almost a cussword means trying to put one's automobile ahead of the other fellow's after getting away from a standing start at a green light.

As a sport that is authorized in Vancouver and hundreds of centres in the United States, with full police support, it is a highly-stylized form of competition in which cars are permitted a specified distance in which to accelerate, then are timed accurately for a quarter-mile run.

"Kids that are working on their cars give way to the temptation to race them against others on the street," the president said.

"Our idea is to let them do their boasting against an electric timer. We feel if dent said, "but they can only they have the opportunity to blow off steam in that way they won't do it on Yates Street."

"WANT TO DANCE"

"Kids want to dance and to drive their car in a hurry. We feel if they can do both under proper supervision, some headway has been made in meeting the delinquency problem," Mr. Heseltine said.

As for the hooligans, they will go along with the crowd as long as the crowd is having the most fun," he said.

"If they choose to say outside they are only breaking their own hearts," he said.

The club "police force" and discipline committee helps to keep its members in line, he said, and rules are strict.

"The 'police' have been criticized," the young presitake action against members. If we have all the district teen-agers in our club, then we can control them and do a job both for them and the community. We think we can get them and keep them."

Women

Editor Elizabeth Forbes

Junior League Projects Raise Over $26,000

A cheque for $24,000 was presented to the Queen Alexandra Solarium last night by members of the Junior League at their annual meeting and dinner at the Victoria Golf Club.

William Heaney, president of the board, accepted the cheque from retiring league president Mrs. Myrtle Southern, and a cheque for $2,000 for new equipment was accepted by J. S. Holdstock, Solarium administrator.

Miss M. Bence of the Solarium Women's Auxiliary was given a $100 cheque for her group.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of the league's first life membership to Mrs. Nona Damaske, Times fashion editor, who has been an active member for 13 years. Mrs. Damaske will be given a specially designed pin.

Mrs. Gwen Carrier, newly elected president, accepted the gavel trimmed in league colors of blue and gold from the retiring president.

Others on the new executive are Mrs. Verna Elder, vice-president; Miss Fran Balfe, corresponding secretary; Miss Pearl Ward, recording secretary, and Mrs. Shirley Duncan, treasurer.

In her president's report, Mrs. Southern announced that the league's net total for the year of more than $26,000 was raised mainly by the Shower of Dimes, which netted $19,909; the Mardi Gras, $933; the Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition for which members sold tickets, more than $1,000, and sale of refreshments at Goldstream, $600 as well as many smaller projects.

Guest speaker was Mrs. E. L. Stephens, executive secretary of the Vancouver branch of the United Nations in Canada. She spoke on "The United Nations Re-Visited."

At Gordon Head

Mrs. Ray Schurman has been the guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Chard at their Gordon Head home before leaving for Vancouver to visit her son, J. F. Schurman.

Housekeeping on Board Fraser

By DEE LAVOIE

Natural efficiency, they say. Natural laziness, we say.

Whichever it is, there's no doubt that when men have to cope with their own cooking and laundry they do it the easiest possible way.

With all the gadgets and labor-saving devices their wives struggle to keep house without.

I'm more than ever convinced of this after a look at the gleaming aluminum mysteries that are fitted together in jigsaw puzzle orderliness below decks on the new destroyer-escort Fraser.

Yesterday, with other members of the press, I was privileged to spend the day at sea on the Fraser.

I considered all the struggling up and down perpendicular ladders and over gridded floors that are booby-traps for high heels well worth while when supply officer Lt.-Cmdr. Bruce Campbell let me view the galley right at the height of preparations for lunch.

A civilian catering staff had charge yesterday, but when the Fraser is commissioned into the RCN later this month, six cooks with a chief petty officer and a petty officer will prepare meals there for 214 officers and men.

All the equipment is aluminum—maybe not most housewives' choice for their kitchens as far as color goes, but certainly very easy to keep clean.

The vast ovens (all the cooking is done by electricity) have special lips to keep a cook from getting an armful of pies if the ship lurches just as he opens the oven door.

NO TOUGH STEAKS

There are electric grills and deep fat fryers, a meat slicer and even a meat tenderizer!

A whole row of pop-up toasters stands sedately at one end of the long steam-heated counter, also aluminum, where the men will line up with sectioned aluminum trays to collect their meals.

In a separate little room sits an electric ice cream freezer and an aluminum "cow," which mixes up powdered milk with water if by any chance the ship has to stay at sea a long time and the supply of fresh milk runs out.

Another room houses an automatic garbage disposal unit, and still another the automatic dishwasher.

In the men's dining hall, where they sit eight to each cream-topped table, there are aluminum coffee and ice water dispensers. Dumb-waiters carry the food up to the officers' dining halls, each with its own "servery" complete with steam table, frig, and freezing compartment.

DISHES CRASH

Unlike old-fashioned ship's tables, the new ones have no ledge around the edge. During lunch, the Fraser made a sudden sharp turn. The dining hall was filled with the sounds of shattering crockery, as dishes crashed off the tables onto the floor.

Tiny Bottle of Lacquer Goes Into Your Handbag

By PENNY SAVER

So many Victoria women, from teen-age on up, are wearing their hair up in a bun or a doughnut or a French roll or a pony tail, these days, and very smart they look — provided there aren't any stray wisps to spoil the hairline at the back.

That means hair lacquer is a necessity. You can keep a big bottle of it on your dressing table at home, but what happens when you want to freshen up in your lunch hour at work, or during a shopping trip, or at the beach?

Easy! Just buy yourself one of the neat little black and gold squeeze dispensers I came across today. They're tiny enough to go into your handbag, but will hold at least a week's supply of lacquer.

You refill them from a big bottle and the two—bottle of lacquer and dispenser — are $2.25.

I had no idea plastic squeeze bottles, so necessary for holding hand lotion and cologne and astringent when you're traveling, could be bought so cheaply.

But you can get three good-sized ones, gilt-lidded, a green, a white and a yellow, in a polythene bag, for only 15 cents. At that price, it'd be silly to risk ruining a suitcase lining, to say nothing of clothes, with a broken bottle!

RECORD BARGAINS

There are great bargains in records this week. I noticed long-plays of Gilbert and Sullivan operas, featuring the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, selling for $7.50, reduced from their regular $10.90.

Excerpts from "Carmen" featuring Rise Stevens, another long-play is reduced 20 per cent from $4.98, and so are many other operas and classics.

Popular records, too, are reduced—I noticed some Harry Belafonte discs, as well as the old favorites like Glenn Miller and Eddie Duchin.

I'll be happy to tell you where I shopped if you phone me at 2-3131.

Dorothy Plant New President

At the first annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Women's Press Club, held in Maple Bay Inn, Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Dorothy Plant of Nanaimo was named president.

Other officers are Miss Mildred Marks, Parksville, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Trebett, the Albernis, treasurer, and Mrs. Nona Damaske, Victoria, historian.

During the meeting, two new members, Mrs. Muriel Wilson, Victoria, and Mrs. Butler of Errington, B.C., were welcomed. Later a delicious smorgasbord dinner was enjoyed. Next meeting of the group will be held in Nanaimo in September.

Lively Dances, Gay Costumes Highlight Spectacular Review

A woodland fantasy featuring baby dancers from three to five years, a Chinese ballet, a western round-up in two elaborate scenes and a grand finale in a quick military rhythm, were highlights of a star-packed program featured Monday evening at Royal Theatre by Florence Clough in her 30th annual dance revue.

Dwarfs, fairies, woodland nymphs, butterflies and bunnies, tiptoed their way into the hearts of a capacity audience in "A Woodland Fantasy." A Chinese temple garden was the colorful setting for a "Rose of the Orient" number and the graceful le-haw, meissen and temple dancers.

A spectacular grand finale featuring more than 75 dancers brought round after round of applause from the audience. Seven young dancers in the eight-year-old group were outstanding in a "Stair Tappers" number. They were Denise Warholm, Diane Berry, Lynn Smith, Beverly Hermiston, Gail Cooley, Colleen Payne and Gordon Callow.

The Pas Seul, "Bird of Paradise," danced by May Guthrie, and an acrobatic, "Moderne," by Frances Merriman, were both outstanding, as were solo numbers in "Peasants and Cossacks," danced by Jim Marshall, Ed Sunday and Bill MacMillan.

Senior dancers of the school were a delight to watch in the scintillating "Tap Mardi Gras" in three numbers, swingsters, swingettes and strutters. "Style and Personality" with Valerie Parkin and Ken Bull and a "Jive Tap" with Penny Warholm, Nadine Stewart and Ronnie Lawson were also popular.

Exciting color, superb dancing and hypnotic rhythms were all included in the Hawaiian number in which Madine Stewart sang and the uli uli dancers appeared.

The review was sponsored by Miriam Temple No. 2, Daughters of the Nile and proceeds will go to the convalescent relief fund for crippled children and other shrine activities.

An orchestra directed by James H. Fraser was in attendance. Reg Bullock created the scenery and settings and Florence Clough designed the costumes.

About Wedding Invitations in Lieu of Announcements:

In six weeks, my son will be married to a girl living in a far-away city. Most of our friends here and all of my son's business associates cannot attend the wedding because of the distance and probably because of the expense as well. My son and I agree that, under the circumstances, announcements should be sent right after the wedding instead of wedding invitations beforehand. The bride is planning to send invitations to all, and my son feels that this is not correct. Please advise.

ments should be sent right after the wedding instead of wedding invitations beforehand. The bride is planning to send invitations to all, and my son feels that this is not correct. Please advise.

Louise Davis Answers:

I like your son's attitude and hope that you will solve the problem to avoid embarrassments. I do think that you have a right to take a stand and not subject friends and business associates to any gift obligations. If invitations are to be issued for a church wedding with separate enclosure cards for a reception, tactfully ask the bride and her mother if they will eliminate the reception cards when addressing the envelopes from your list. That serves almost the same as an announcement, yet there would be no obligations. Perhaps your son can pave the way by appealing to his fiancee. If this plan isn't feasible, then trim down your list to just your relatives and closest friends. In that case, you would have to inform your friends in your own way, either by brief notes, telephone, or as you happen to see them. Perhaps the bride's family feel that ordering announcements might be costly since they will have wedding invitations too. But if they concede to either of these suggestions, you might ask your son to offer to pay for the announcements that you would like to have sent to your friends. Ordinarily the bridgroom or his parents don't bear any of these expenses, but I think this could be considered an exception in order to spare you any embarrassment. I'll be keeping my fingers crossed for you.

RINSE AWAY TARNISH with SODA

Cover bottom of pan with aluminum foil. Add 1 teaspoon Soda to each quart of water, heat to boiling. Immerse silver so it touches foil. Tarnish disappears quickly. Rinse and dry with soft cloth.

DAIRY QUEEN

As advertised in the Saturday Evening Post June 12 issue

2350 DOUGLAS
Two Blocks from The Roundabout, towards town

Last night I nearly died of embarrassment because of my LOOSE FALSE TEETH!

If you have ever felt this way, use amazing new Poli-Grip cream. With Poli-Grip, false teeth fit tight and snug . . . won't slip or slide!

Pink, pleasant tasting Poli-Grip cream locks slipping, sliding dentures firmly in place, even anchors shallow lowers.

Now you can eat steak or corn-on-the-cob without fear of plates lifting away from your gums. You can laugh or sneeze without worrying about dentures dropping out of place. Poli-Grip grips, no matter what!

Snug, Tight-Fitting Comfort

The minute you use Poli-Grip, you feel its snug, tight-fitting comfort. Poli-Grip lays a wonderful comfort cushion between plates and tender gums which eliminates the friction that rubs gums sore and raw.

Start now to enjoy the assurance that comes only when you know your false teeth are locked firmly in place. Try Poli-Grip cream today! At any drug counter. If Poli-Grip doesn't hold your plates tighter, longer than powders . . . or anything you have ever tried, you get double your money back!

Did you ever see a brand New Permanent comb so soft — behave so beautifully?

Only Creamy Prom

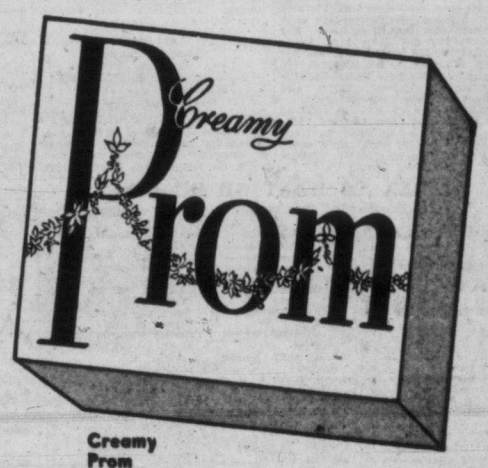
Cream is basic to beauty!

And Prom alone brings the fabulous beauty benefits of a creamy lotion to a home permanent. Prom's homogenized waving cream is a rich emollient that coats each hair fibre protectively . . . conditions as it waves...positively eliminates after-wave dryness and frizz. Your money back if you don't agree your hair is in better condition after a Prom home permanent.

Easiest method ever!

There's never been a permanent so easy! Unlike thin, watery waving solutions that run into your eyes and drip onto clothing, Prom's homogenized waving cream actually clings to your hair. And Prom neutralizes automatically as your hair dries on the curlers. There's no messy dabbing or pouring with a separate neutralizer solution.



Creamy Prom $2.00

STEWART & HUDSON Ltd.
BUILDING MATERIALS, BUDGET TERMS

For Sale — Cheap
CRYSTAL BALL

And so goes the story of many election forecasters and writers, we too, could tell you which way the cat will jump or next week's sale price of strawberries—but we might be wrong.

Busily looking through the July advance editions of Knothole news the confidential indicator says lumber prices won't be any lower, in fact bargains may not be around too much longer as to wit with the recent prices of plywood. So, while you're in the mood, bundle up and visit Stewart & Hudson for a look at the largest selection in town—building lumber for every purpose—at prices you will like to pay—on budget terms, too.

All Prices Listed per 1,000 Ft.
1x6 Economy cedar, T & G : $32.50
1x6 Economy fir and hemlock, T & G 35.00
2x4 Economy dressed 35.00
1x8 Economy shiplap 40.00
1½x10 Forest siding—reject grade, all bundled — good buying 29.00
1x8 Cedar shiplap, No. 3 ..... 65.00
1x8 Cedar Vee Joint, panelling and lining 65.00
6 Pcs. 1x4-6, No. 3, bundle ..... .42
6 Pcs. 1x3-6, No. 3, bundle ..... .32
1x4 Clear cedar, dressed. Ideal for garden furniture, closets, etc. 6-ft. lengths, only ..... .20
Many other items of short cedar, clear, at less than half price.
Rough cedar, ¼x6, select grade, for basket weave fence and other uses. 8-ft., 10-ft. 2-in. and 14-ft. lengths. Per 100 ft. 8.50
Fir tongue and groove available in 2x6—used as heavy flooring and decking — specified lengths available.
Garden stakes, 25 pcs. Bundle 5-ft., 75c; 6-ft., 90c; 7-ft., $1.05; 8-ft. 1.20

WHAT'S THIS
How come mahogany plywood cheaper than ordinary fir plywood? We can't answer this one either, but there it is.
4x8 ft., ¼ in. sheet rich mahogany plywood for panelling. Only per sheet $3.95
Then there's 3x5-ft.x¼ only $1.50

REAL SPECIAL
One size, one color, Arborite curvatop. The factory-made sink top and splashback. Size 25½x56x4¾ in. High splashback, pearl grey, only $15.95—and there's only 5 of 'em.

PAPER LOSSES
are listed in my dictionary as something you own on paper and not in cash when the price goes down. Well, something like this happened to the hardware man who made lock sets. The bottom dropped out of something and the old boy threw in the towel—quit making 'em, been at it for years, too. The prices you will read next are half what they used to be. Yes, less than cost.
Bathroom lock sets, only $1.40
Front door lock sets, only 5.95
Extra good front door sets, only 6.00
Store door locks 19.50
Other hardware items at regular values—

'PASSION FOR REVENGE' HOUR-LONG DRAMA ON C-4 AT 9.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THE COMINGS AND THE GOINGS—While Ed Sullivan prepares to hold his ninth anniversary show next Sunday, no doubt with a keen eye on competitor Steve Allen who is beating him at the rating polls these days with disconcerting regularity, other stars are preparing to leave on holiday junkets or just preparing to leave, period.

Meanwhile viewers are going to be left with the usual summer rash of re-runs and re-runs of re-runs. Vic Damone, for instance, will replace Arthur Godfrey every other week, starting June 26, when Godfrey is through for good. Damone's show will be new. But on alternate weeks the time will be taken up with re-runs of what Red Skelton fans have been watching all winter.

JACKIE GLEASON, too, of course, is through. The first half of the Saturday night 7 to 8 hour will be taken up by re-runs of the Jimmy Durante Show. Sam Levenson's Two for the Money will occupy the second half-hour.

Another new show, "Playhouse of Mystery," will have its first CBS airing Tuesday, July 2. This will replace the Spike Jones Show which ends June 25.

Vanessa Brown and Barry Nelson, teamed in "My Favorite Husband," will replace Jack Benny and the Marge and Gower Champion shows starting Sunday, June 23, from 7.30 to 8 p.m. "Those Whiting Girls" will take over from "I Love Lucy" beginning July 1 from 8 to 8.30 p.m. "Undercurrent" will substitute for "Line-up" starting Friday, July 19, from 9 to 9.30 p.m.

And, finally, "Richard Diamond, Private Detective," will replace "December Bride" for two months beginning August 4.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1957
(Author of the new "Astrology and You")

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Behind-the-scenes worries can keep you boiling like hot water in a cauldron, if you permit. Try instead to use steam generated to complete tasks in a poised and confidential manner. Then everything works out better than you'd hoped.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Money matters seem to be of first importance, which they are. However, don't lose sight of the ideas behind your requirements for more revenue. Think in terms of an abundance, and to spare, to meet all of your needs, whatever they may be.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—You want to break rules which apply to you. But if you do, you'll have trouble, are in dutch with some officials, higher-up who can take away from your credit, the worldly esteem in which you are held. Be sure to do nothing to upset applecart.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—You are limited by some vital consideration. So, don't try to expand until you have solved this delay, restriction to everyone's advantage who is in any way concerned. Later you can bring to light better method of operation.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You have very inaccurate hunch about which you are apt to be most stubborn. A good friend sees more clearly and gives you sound advice, which you can easily accept now that you are aware of the astrological aspects at work. Be calm.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—One in authority tells off associate, but it's none of your personal concern, so don't get involved or you can get your ears pinned back and rightly. Do your own job well and everything works out to your benefit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Tiresome, tedious toil really gives you the blues today unless you do whatever is necessary early and then get off to some new personalities, methods, situations, places that give you sense of peace, tranquility, added zest or enthusiasm.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Keep your pocketbook zipped, your bank account intact, that money hidden in the sugar jar when associates try to pry it loose for some extravagance that is unwise. Take no risks or chances. Follow what has been found workable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Conflict between intimates should not be permitted to include you. Let them settle it themselves; otherwise you can become the "fall guy" and take their punishment. Instead, do all the little things that demand personal attention.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Get out and do your shopping, errands, conferring rather than occupy your time on tediums that do not aid but which are time, energy-consuming. You can communicate with others and get your transportation in better shape, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You want to make demands of others of both a material and personal nature. But a smile will get you today what a serious sour-puss attitude will only force farther from you. Make sure you do let others know of your devotion to them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—One of your own clan, or at your residence is being very provoking indeed, or some condition there just will not jell to your satisfaction. Make sure you do what you've agreed to the letter and spirit. Then no complaint can be directed at you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY . . .

Wednesday's child is one of those very restless youngsters who will be imbued with a great deal of "divine discontent" and will always need a considerable amount of assurance as to what is right and what is indadvisable. Make sure you early give toys that will work off a considerable amount of this energy, such as construction sets, puzzles and like games, etc. Be sure you are firm and your fascinating child will realize you mean what you say and have a happier existence.

Asphalt Institute Directors Meet Here

Progress of the multi-billion dollar federal road program in the United States will weigh heavily in deliberations of directors of the Asphalt Institute opening a two-day annual meeting at the Empress Hotel Wednesday.

Some 90 member directors, representing virtually all important asphalt-producing petroleum companies, are arriving for the meeting today.

Canadian delegates are Jack Stewart, Standard Oil, Vancouver; Dave Dairon, Shell Oil, Vancouver; E. R. Patterson, Imperial Oil, Toronto; E. F. T. Stevens, Royalite Oil, Calgary; Lawrence Lee, Husky Oil, Toronto; J. C. Browning, Royalite Hi'way Ltd., Saskatoon; Harold Hawthorne, British - American Oil Co., Toronto.

"The U.S. federal road program will probably boost asphalt production to a record figure of close to 18,500,000 tons in 1957," Dr. J. E. Buchanan, president of the Institute, said today.

Dr. Buchanan added that asphalt production fell off during the early part of this year due to the tight credit restrictions imposed by the U.S. government.

"These restrictions have crippled the house-building industry, but we hope they will be eased soon so that building can get back into its stride."

Dr. Buchanan, who was formerly president of the University of Idaho, said asphalt production in 1956 topped 17,000,000 tons—the present record.

Speaker at the board luncheon Wednesday will be William A. Bugge, director of highways for the state of Washington and president of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

The social program will be highlighted by the annual dinner dance at the Empress Wednesday evening.

Esquimalt Contributes to Pension Fund

Esquimalt Council Monday agreed to pay municipal policemen, who combine duties as firemen, the 2½ per cent municipal contribution to the superannuation scheme after a constable has had 15 years' service, leaves the force, or retires.

The decision was reached after a police delegation pleaded the case for the service pension fund, asking that the 2½ per cent be granted policemen who left, or retired before the superannuation age of 60.

Police themselves contribute 2 per cent to the fund, receivable when leaving the force at any time.

Council agreed with Reeve A. C. Wurtele that it was "an unnecessary expense" to endorse the Greater Victoria Intermunicipal Committee recommendation for a joint family and juvenile court.

"We have our own juvenile court here and the chief of police has advised strongly against accepting the recommendation.

It was agreed to defray the intermunicipal committee expenses for clerical work by contributing $100.

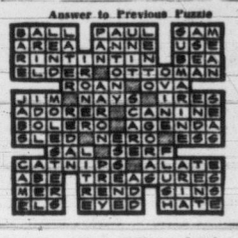
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Arthur Miller Appeals Against Contempt Count

WASHINGTON (UP) — Playwright Arthur Miller will ask that Congress be reversed in the light of a new Supreme Court ruling in a similar case.

The high court Monday threw out the contempt conviction of Illinois labor leader John T. Watkins.

Watkins, like Miller, freely admitted to congressional investigators his own past links to Communism but refused to name others he knew to be involved in the Communist movement.

Sources close to Miller, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, said the playwright's attorney would cite the Watkins decision in asking district Judge Charles F. McLaughlin to reverse Miller's conviction. Miller now is free on $1,000 bond awaiting sentencing.

Old Feuds Flare Again In Saanich

Reeve's Petition Triggers Battle Rambling Over Wide Field of Topics

Saanich council reached a new high in fuss-budgeting Monday when for more than an hour and 40 minutes the reeve and councillors bickered over issues as far back as two years.

Mainly, the wrangling and up-dredging of old disputes was between Reeve Arthur Ash and Coun. Leslie Passmore, perennial combatants.

Coun. Joseph Casey entered the fray and helped flog the press, sewerage problem, schools, Brannan-Bracewell report, municipal finance and sundry other topics.

Mr. Ash led with his chin when he read a 2,700-word statement outlining why he opposes a by-law to transfer certain money to enable construction of badly-needed municipal hall addition. He wants a referendum and presented a petition of 1,166 signatures of Saanich residents supporting his contention.

PETITION

The petition states the signees object to transfer of $95,000 from revenue surplus and $130,000 from reverted land tax sale funds to erect a concrete addition to the present frame hall for a suggested total $225,000, without consent of ratepayers.

The petition was accepted for reference to the minister of municipal affairs, which must authorize transfer of the funds or order a referendum.

ACCUSED

Reeve Ash said: "I have been accused by the chairman of the hall committee, Coun. Casey, 'that I do not abide by the democratic rules of government where the majority counts'."

He said it is anyone's prerogative to oppose or support any measure, and he believes this one to be wrong.

"Coun. Casey has said 'Anyone will sign a petition.' Since when is a petition not a democratic document?" the reeve asked.

He asked that prejudice and personal feeling be forgotten and consideration be given what is good for the most, "for I believe a far greater issue is involved—and that is the complete unity of the whole Greater Victoria area . . ."

TO BE CHECKED

Coun. Passmore, after the reeve said names on the petition would have to be checked, said: "It's a strange thing, Mr. Reeve, when you say this petition contains names of 1,166 registered property owners, and then tell us it will have to be checked."

"It is a very peculiar thing that council sits around this table and argues about this petition," the reeve countered, his voice rising.

"Let's control ourselves," put in Coun. Austin.

OLD TALKS

Coun. Passmore went on at length about old discussions of the joint Victoria-Saanich committee on a municipal hall and amalgamation survey and asked its chairman, Reeve Ash, why no meeting had been called since Feb. 19, 1957.

CITY STUDENT WINS $400 SCHOLARSHIP

Gordon Derek Kenneth Green of Victoria has been awarded a MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., $400 scholarship as a University of British Columbia undergraduate, it was announced today.

He was one of three winners throughout the province, which included Dennis Milton Holden of Crofton.

They will use the scholarship to study forestry at UBC.

Oak Bay Meets on New Act

An open meeting to discuss the new Municipal Act, which becomes effective July 1, will be held in the Municipal Hall Thursday at 8 p.m. by the newly-formed Oak Bay Board of Trade.

The meeting will be an open forum to determine if businessmen want the municipality to pass exempting by-laws on shop closing hours "or whether we want a closed municipality generally."

Kirk Douglas' own amazing story!

"THE ACTOR IN ME"

When Kirk Douglas starts to talk, he's as frank and direct as any character he ever portrayed! And in his own life story, Douglas lifts the curtain all the way — not only on himself and his own fantastic starvation-to-stardom story — but on acting and the world of movie stars and Hollywood as well!

Uninhibited and zingy, Kirk tells: • the truth about his so-called "ego" • about his sojourn as a bum in New York's infamous Bowery • how an unknown actress named Lauren Bacall was responsible for his first Hollywood break.

Defence Post For Pearkes Seems Certain

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

OTTAWA (BUP)—Ontario, British Columbia and Quebec today confronted Prime Minister-Designate John Diefenbaker as problem provinces in planning his new cabinet, but for different and even contrary reasons in each case.

In Ontario the difficulty is the concentration of too much cabinet material in the city of Toronto. Messrs. Donald Fleming, J. M. MacDonnell, George Hees, and Roland Michener all have valid claims for preference, while from the adjoining area John Hamilton of West York and Michael Starr of Oshawa also are conceded to be contenders. The combined list constitutes an embarrassing surfeit of material for the Toronto district.

MAJ.-GEN. G. R. PEARKES, VC
. . . defence minister?

TWO NOT ENOUGH

In British Columbia the problem also is one of selection. Normally the West Coast province rates only one cabinet minister, but in recent years it has been accorded two as the result of a cabinet deal when the Liberal ministers couldn't decided between the entry of James Sinclair and Ralph Campney, QC, and compromised by admitting both. But even two ministers won't give the new Prime Minister sufficient leeway.

He has on hand Messrs. Howard Green, E. Davie Fulton, and General George Pearkes, VC. Rejection of any one of the triumvirate is impossible. But alloting British Columbia three cabinet posts is equally impossible. It is the classic situation of an irresistible force meeting an immovable object.

In Quebec the problem swings to the other extreme. Diefenbaker is bound by a pledge to give the French-speaking province the same number of cabinet posts as did the Liberals. That means the appointment of five ministers. But the new Prime Minister has a maximum of eight elected Quebec MP's amongst whom to choose, and of the eight, not more than three are regarded as sufficiently experienced to be classed as possible cabinet material.

MAY BE SENATORS

In the situation Diefenbaker is expected to name two appointees to the Senate who will serve as members of the cabinet until another election gives Quebec province the opportunity of returning a greater number of supporters amongst whom he can choose.

Diefenbaker said he will announce his ministry on Friday. But it is expected that the list will be incomplete and that a number of minor portfolios will be left vacant to be filled on his return from London.

In the Friday announcement it is anticipated that there will be three Quebec appointees: Messrs. Leon Balcer of Three Rivers, William Hamilton of Notre Dame de Grace, and Paul Comtois of Nicolet-Yamaska. Possible later additions via the Senate appointment route are rumored to include Rene Duranleau, who unsuccessfully opposed Liberal cabinet minister Lionel Chevrier in Montreal-Laurier.

Latest speculation on the first draft of the cabinet assigns J. M. MacDonnell to the post of Finance Minister, Donald Fleming to trade and commerce, George Pearkes, VC, to national defence, and E. Davie Fulton to external affairs.

Other inclusions in the first draft will be A. J. Brooks of New Brunwick, George Knowlan of Nova Scotia and Angus McLean of Prince Edward Island.

One of the most significant of the current rumors is that Diefenbaker proposes to take General Pearkes with him to next week's London conference. If he does, the obvious purpose will be to observe first hand the streamlining which United Kingdom defence forces have been undergoing.

Mao Taking Over As Red Leader?

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Communist China's leader Mao Tse-tung admits that "contradictions" exist in a Communist society—and thereby differs with Soviet ideologists who maintain such a thing is impossible.

In a speech made public today, Mao declared that any attempt to deal with such contradictions by "coercive measures will not only be ineffective but harmful."

"We cannot abolish religion by administrative orders, nor can we force people not to believe in it," he said. "We cannot compel people to give up idealism, no more than we can force them to believe in Marxism. In settling matters of controversial issues among the people we can only use democratic methods, methods of discussion, of criticism, and not coercive nor high-handed methods."

DIFFERS WITH KREMLIN

Mao, who appears to have taken over as the ideological high-priest of world Communism since Stalin's death, denied the often voiced claim of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, that leaders and the masses can never find themselves in contradiction in a Communist state.

Hitherto, the 17,000-word text had been a Communist secret, with only a few passages having leaked out several months ago from Poland, where Mao's reasoning apparently was used to bolster the independent Communist regime of Ladislaw Gomulka. The broadcast said Mao had gone over the verbatim text and made certain additions.

Mao conceded that the Hungarian uprising last autumn caused stirrings even inside Communist China, with some people hoping for a two-party system on the Western model. He said:

"Certain people in our country were delighted when the Hungarian events took place. They hoped that something similar would happen in China, that thousands upon thousands of people would demonstrate in the streets against the people's government."

But this "ran counter to the interests of the masses."

For the first time, Mao made it clear the Hungarian uprising had brought doubts to some Chinese circles. It was impossible to determine how widespread these doubts were.

MARILYN BELL ENGAGED TO FORMER LIFE GUARD

TORONTO (CP)—Marilyn Bell, first swimmer to conquer Lake Ontario, is engaged to Joseph Chipper Di Lascio, 22, of Atlantic City, N.J., her father said today.

Syd Bell, father of the 19-year-old swim star, said the two are engaged "but that wedding plans are indefinite."

Marilyn met her fiance in 1954 when she won the women's world champion title at the 26-mile Atlantic City swim. Di Lascio, then 18 and employed as a lifeguard during the summer at the beach, was attending La Salle University of Philadelphia.

Asked whether the money she has gained from swimming will make any difference, Marilyn said "a lot of people perhaps think I have a fortune, but it isn't really."

Disarmament Talks Facing New Snags

LONDON (UP)—The official Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today accused Harold E. Stassen of trying to wreck the London disarmament talks although he threw his support Monday to a new Soviet disarmament scheme.

The Izvestia blast and reports that France plans to reject any outright ban on nuclear tests because it expects to have nuclear weapons of its own within two years raised major new snags in the London talks which resume Thursday.

An Izvestia editorial broadcast by Moscow radio said "intrigues" had sprung up around Stassen aimed at wrecking the talks. It said Stassen had been given the task of trying to discredit the Soviet proposals by leading the UN disarmament sub-committee into an impasse and shifting responsibility for failure of the talks onto the Soviet Union.

A New York dispatch in Izvestia attacked American "opponents of international co-operation," declared the "overwhelming majority of the American public wants immediate ending of nuclear tests" and said the calculations of the Washington "atomaniacs" are "build on sand and doomed to failure."

The Russian blast was unexpected because western delegates—especially the American delegates—said they were prepared to move toward the disarmament position.

Relief Coming For Burned Up Eastern Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Relief from the record-breaking heat wave that has scorched Southern Ontario and Quebec for the last two days was forecast today by the weatherman.

Cooler air, preceded by thunderstorms, is expected to push into the hot, humid air mass bringing relief to southern Ontario late Wednesday, but not to Quebec for at least another day.

A broiling 95 degrees was forecast for Windsor today, 90 for Toronto and Hamilton. Montreal, at the edge of the warm air belt, was expected to be cooler—at 85.

COOLER ELSEWHERE

The early heat wave was restricted to the two central provinces. It was cloudy with showers in British Columbia Monday and the forecast for today called for clearing weather along the coast and unsettled conditions in the interior.

The Prairies had a comfortable 70 to 75 degrees Monday. A few showers were forecast for Alberta and Saskatchewan with temperatures reaching the 70s or low 80s. There was rain in eastern Manitoba, but cooler, drier air was predicted for later in the day.

By contrast with the torrid heat in Quebec and Ontario, frost nipped farmers' crops in eastern Nova Scotia. The mercury dipped to 31 at Copper Lake. Halifax had a low of 47 and Fredericton a low of 49. Sydney's 34 was one degree cooler than a record set in 1932.

NEW YORK HIT

The metropolis baked in 90-degree heat for the third day in a row. The city's sweltering millions face more of the same today. Thousands of air conditioners were switched on as the temperature soared. That helped boost the power load toward the breaking point.

A similar power crisis developed in Chicago. Household voltage dropped from the standard of 120 volts to 113.

EUROPE, TOO

Berlin reported a high of 89.6 degrees. It was 87 in London and Paris had 86.

In France, five persons were drowned in swimming and boating accidents in the Seine. A sixth person died of a sunstroke.

In Italy, the death toll from Alpine floods and whirlwinds rose to 17. The body of a man was found among the twisted girders of a bridge which collapsed over the Stura River.

Neighbors See, Hear Man Die in Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man trying to crawl to the door and safety from a fire-swept store died in the flames early today.

He died within sight and hearing of neighbors who were turned back by roaring flames when they tried to go to his assistance.

The victim was not immediately identified.

Firemen said the rear of the building was a mass of flames when they arrived. The building housed four business premises with living quarters above. The blaze apparently started in a sofa in one of the suites.

Mrs. William Morton said she awoke to hear a man screaming, "Help me, help me."

She looked across from her rear window and saw a silhouette "dancing around in flames. Then the flames shot up higher and he disappeared from sight."

Era Ended In Shadow Of Monday Evening

By DON PEACOCK

OTTAWA (CP)—The end of Canada's biggest political guessing game in years, 22 years perhaps, came in sweat and heat.

By sundown Monday the pieces of the puzzle began to fit together:

The Progressive Conservative leader accepted Mr. Massey's invitation to form a new government, ending 22 years of Liberal rule.

As he was leaving, the sun had disappeared behind the trees; the spacious lawns were deep in shadow as a happy Mr. Diefenbaker mused:

But it was no holiday Monday. It was hot and sweaty. It was frequently frantic. It was also, however, history.

The thermometer on the shady side of a portico pillar at Rideau Hall read 90 degrees when Mr. St. Laurent arrived at 6.16 p.m. EDT (3.16 PDT) to tender his resignation. It had crept down to 84 when Mr. Diefenbaker showed up two hours and nine minutes later.

But most of the heat and sweat was concentrated in the second-floor corridor outside the Privy Council offices in the east block of the Parliament Buildings.

There the Liberal cabinet met to quit office. There Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Diefenbaker had their 40-minute late-afternoon meeting while the nation awaited the final outcome.

Mr. Diefenbaker will be sworn into office on Friday, the Liberals providing a caretaker government until then.

New PM Faces Heavy Task In Implementing Promises

OTTAWA (CP) — The new Progressive Conservative government of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will have to plan on a hefty legislative program to make good its election campaign promises.

The promises cover a wide range of subjects—from social security to agriculture, from resources development to fiscal policy, from parliamentary rights to international trade.

Some can be implemented immediately; others will take longer because they are long-term efforts.

But as Mr. Diefenbaker said at one point in his 100-speech campaign:

"My idea of politics is that promises should only be made that can be effectuated."

$300,000,000 HIS ESTIMATE

Later he said his party's promises would cost no more than $300,000,000 for current expenditures excluding spending on self-liquidating projects which would pay themselves off over the years. That would be one-fifth of the $1,500,000,000 price tag the Liberals placed on the Conservative pledges.

And, on top of that, he promised to reduce "unnecessary" taxes, including the 10 per cent excise tax on automobiles.

Mr. Diefenbaker promised a September session to increase old age and other pensions to "a fair and reasonable" figure tied to cost-of-living increases.

Social security measures would be maintained at "a high standard to keep pace with national productivity."

A large section of Mr. Diefenbaker's election platform was filled with planks aimed at agriculture.

He pledged the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the spread between the

Three Men Convicted Of $11,000 Robbery

VANCOUVER—Three men, identified as part of a foursome seen by a police inspector "giggling" as they counted $11,500 in stolen money, were convicted Monday of armed robbery.

Magistrate Oscar Orr found James Semenoff, 23; his brother, John Semenoff, 22, and Raymond Peters, 27, guilty of robbing the downtown Drake Hotel April 25. A fourth man, Vern Barnes, 23, was remanded until Thursday for a decision. The others will be sentenced the same day.

Police Inspector Ian McGregor said earlier he peered through a hotel room keyhole and saw three men counting money. He testified he and other officers broke down the door and arrested Barnes, James Semenoff and Peters. John Semenoff was arrested in the hallway.

SUNDAY BALL HEARING

VANCOUVER — Hearing of a charge against the Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League for playing Sunday baseball games was adjourned Monday to June 26.

The adjournment was granted at request of Crown counsel Stewart McMorran. Senator J. W. De B. Farris, defence counsel, said he will seek a further adjournment on the new date.

ZUCCO REFUSED PENSION

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Bea Zucco, who has staged three sit-down protests at government buildings in efforts to get a pension for her sick husband, Monday suffered another defeat in her campaign.

The Workmen's Compensation Board said a board of medical referees has been unable to find evidence of silicosis in former miner Jack Zucco, a patient at Vancouver's Pearson Tuberculosis Hospital.

The board said it is unable to grant a pension without such evidence.

FRANK WARD DIES

VANCOUVER — Funeral services will be held here Wednesday for Frank G. Ward, founder and president of the largest and oldest surviving music house in B.C. He died suddenly over the weekend at his home at the age of 62.

Born in Valleyfield, Que., he came here in 1904 and started work three years later for a musical firm.

TRAPPED BY CAVE-IN

NORTH VANCOUVER—Lloyd Thorpe, 29, was taken to North Vancouver General Hospital Monday with possible internal injuries after being trapped up to his neck in a ditch cave-in.

Witnesses said Thorpe was removing shoring timbers from the 13-foot ditch when a side wall of earth fell on him.

Fellow workers rescued him.

CLOSER CHECK URGED

VANCOUVER—A coroner's jury investigating a recent death in a city jail has recommended closer and more frequent observation of intoxicated prisoners.

The recommendation Monday followed an inquest into the June 8 death of Woodrow Thomas Gibbs, 39. The jury ruled he died accidentally as a result of being under the influence of alcohol.

60 SUITS STOLEN

VANCOUVER—Men's suits valued at $5,250 have been stolen in the last two weeks from the Hastings Street store of Murray Goldman. Goldman reported Monday that 50 suits worth $3,500 were stolen in a burglary at the store during the weekend. Last week, Goldman reported theft of 10 suits valued at $750 between June 1 and 7.

A Conservative government also would approach Britain to buy Canadian wheat with $17,000,000 interest she owes Canada from last year on a post-war loan.

PROCESSING AT HOME

Development of natural resources and encouragement of more processing in Canada of raw materials now being exported to the U.S. was promised.

The resources program would be a 10-year effort and would include the development of north-south highways.

Priority would be given to federal aid to help British Columbia develop the Columbia River power project. The South Saskatchewan River dam and irrigation project would receive federal aid.

Mr. Diefenbaker pledged establishment of a Canadian energy board to encourage balanced power development among coal, oil, gas and atomic ccal, oil, gas and atomic energy.

Provincial and municipal governments would receive a larger share of the national income. A new federal-provincial tax conference would be called to give the provinces a better deal.

WOULD AID CITIES

A Conservative government would end what Mr. Diefenbaker described as federal interference with the rights of the provinces and would take steps to relieve municipalities which find themselves hard hit by federal tight-money policies.

The question of parliamentary supremacy drew from Mr. Diefenbaker the pledge to abolish the rule of debate-limiting closure. He also supported the idea of appointing a permanent Commons Speaker.

He proposed non-partisan redistribution of Commons seats and reform of the Senate.

Canada would spearhead a call for a Commonwealth trade and economic conference to help restore to this country's exports some of the Commonwealth markets lost to other countries.

43 INJURED IN TORONTO TROLLEY CRASH

TORONTO (CP) — A rear-end collision of two streetcars in east-end Toronto today sent 43 persons to hospital.

Passengers were flung on top of one another when a Kingston Road car, operated by a student driver, crashed into the rear of a standing westbound Queen Street car.

'Kingpin' Killed In New York Gangland Slaying

Two assassins pumped four bullets into Frank Scalise, 55, and fled in a black sedan. Police described Scalise as an associate of gambler Frank Costello and Charles (Lucky) Luciano, deported vice lord.

Federal authorities suspected Scalise of being involved in international narcotics smuggling. He had been sought for questioning in three murders.

Moments before his death Scalise purchased 90 cents worth of peaches and lettuce. He was stuffing money into a pocket when the gunmen struck.

Enrico Mazzaro, 61-year-old store owner, was booked for his own protection, as a material witness. He was held in $100,000 bail.

Police said the shooting was not connected with the recent attempt on Costello's life.

Train Off Tracks In France; 10 Die

ARRAS, France (UP) — Three cars of a Paris-bound express train jumped the tracks near here today while traveling at 50 miles an hour. Police said 10 persons were killed and 20 injured.

Doctors to Set Own Standards For Hospitals

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian medical men are preparing for their own hospital-standards check. Doctors are anxious to increase the supply of laboratory technologists. They will step up cancer refresher courses, and soon will have new fee schedules for veterans.

But all these decisions at Monday's opening of the Canadian Medical Association's annual convention were overshadowed briefly by the experiment of giving two groups of 400 laymen close-up views of appendectomies via color television.

Meanwhile, the CMA's general council, described as "the parliament of the medical profession in Canada," began studying national problems.

WILL "RUN OWN SHOW"

Of major importance Monday was the firm decision to split from the joint Canada - United States commission on hospital accreditation, on which the CMA is the only Canadian representative. The joint group has handled hospital standards in both countries since 1952 and previously it was the sole chore of the American College of Surgeons.

The all-Canadian program, toward which the CMA has been working for the last several years, is scheduled to become effective January 1, 1959.

Dr. Arthur F. Van Wart, of Fredericton, Monday night was named president-elect of the association.

Dr. Norman H. Gosse, of Halifax, was named chairman of the CMA's general council, and Dr. G. W. Halpenny, of Montreal, was elected honorary treasurer at the annual meeting here.

U.S. Blasts Fourth Atomic Test Shot

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Atomic scientists exploded the fourth shot in the current atomic test series at 5.45 a.m. MDT today.

The Atomic Energy Commission said "light fallout" from the blast forced evacuation of the test site control point.

Five minutes later the billowing mushroom cloud, rising almost six miles into the sky, began to sift radio-active contamination toward the control point.

AEC officials said later the fall-out was not severe enough to constitute a health hazard. The evacuation was carried out as a drill.

ON THE TIMES — By ART STOTT

The Proof Is In the Pulling

LIKE any other family, our household has its quota of legends.

Let anyone talk about salmon fishing and Father will contribute his favorite story. It concerns his prowess and that of his brother-in-law. The two of them, knowing virtually nothing about fishing, went out one Sunday morning when I was very young. Nobody among the experts was catching anything. Between them, Father and his brother-in-law caught nine coho with a combined weight of 66 pounds. We have pictures to prove it—the number, that is.

Stott

If I have heard the story once, I've heard it twice for every pound of fish. I still like it. If Father and his brother-in-law had done nothing more than get themselves safely home, that would have been an achievement, with or without salmon.

I say this with some feeling because I have been fishing with them. It so happens that an expert taught me how to handle a boat in strong tide off Trial Island. It so happens that even though I had this knowledge, I belonged to a generation seen but not heard when I went fishing with my Father and my uncle.

SEEN BUT NOT HEARD

It so happens that they got themselves into the rip off Trial and my advice was received as it must have been received when a child was to be seen and not heard.

Father and my uncle had special ideas about fighting the tide off Trial. They believed in a forthright, north-country approach. Meet the evil head on, they seemed to agree, and it shall be vanquished.

They met the evil head on. Somehow or other, though, we seemed to be racing against Trial Island and the Island was winning in a walk. Finally, when exhaustion had nearly claimed them, they swerved in close enough to shore to grab a handful of kelp.

This is a technique of doubtful value, in the first place either the kelp pulls loose or, if it holds, has a tendency to pull the bow of the boat under.

I remember, as a small boy seen but not heard, explaining this to my father and my uncle. By great good fortune, just before the tide provided irrefutable proof of my latter point, the kelp came loose and we were swept away. By force of circumstances I was at the oars. The two adults were gasping on the thwarts, resting from their labors. And with the knowledge given to me by the expert I was able to angle into a back-eddy and explain the way to beat the tide.

Naturally, they didn't listen. We finished up coming home between Big Trial and Little Trial, the adults ashore pulling the boat against the current with a tack-line while I fended it off the rocks.

Ever since that day I have maintained, in season and out, that there is a way to beat the tide off Trial, if a boy or man can only row like a Henley champion for about 20 to 30 yards at one point southwest of the lighthouse.

STRATEGY

You work in close to the rocks, inside kelp if you can make it, sneak around the shore, using every little promotory to break the current for you. Then you hit that single exposed stretch. You have to move out because the reefs are close to the surface there. You shoot into the stream and bend your back over the oars. If you can heave yourself ahead in one magnificent short sprint you have it made.

This is the report I've been making ever since my father and uncle refused to listen to me. I take pleasure in adding a further statement. The report is true.

When you keep saying a thing and nobody pays any attention to it, you quite often begin to doubt it yourself. That's how I was a couple of days ago.

My small outboard isn't quite powerful enough to push me through the rip when the tide is running at its best. The boat was holding its own, nothing more. Then we hit kelp and the engine konked out.

It was up to me to prove my point. I reverted to type, snuggling close to the rocks, eased my way over shallows, with barnacles lifting their points to gouge an oar or planking, and then hit the stretch where you have to row.

We made it, folks. We made it. And I've been telling the truth all along.

YOUR HEALTH — By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Facing the Painful World

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

In a recent article, Mrs. Adelyn Pagenstecher told of her experience with her daughter, Mari, who was born without a proper hearing apparatus. She tells of the great distress she felt the day it suddenly came over her that the child could not hear a word. Then came the special schooling that enabled the child to talk. The authorities at the Tracy Clinic tried to help the mother to face things, because, as they said, if the parents do not progress, neither will the child. A mother with a handicapped child tends to go to extremes: she is either too over-protective and too close to the child, or she tends to become detached, embarrassed, and filled with unwarranted shame.

Dr. Alvarez

Then, one day, came the shock of a letter in which the Clinic wrote, "You must prepare to send your little deaf child away to school." The very word deaf hurt the mother terribly; she had never used it; she and her husband had always spoken of "hearing loss," or "doesn't hear well," or "impaired hearing," or they had just avoided speak of it. Finally, the mental block was broken through by a stranger woman who spoke over the phone. She said, "You mean your daughter is deaf." "No, please," said the mother, "don't use that word; Mari's hearing is impaired." "No," said the woman, "listen to me; I don't want to hurt you but I do this for your sake. Say the word 'deaf' over and over and over, because that's what your child is. You have got to learn to face it and to live with that word."

All praise to Mrs. Pagenstecher for her great courage in writing this, and for the service she has done to all grief-stricken mothers who have a loved one handicapped in some way. Let all of us who have in the family one who is insane, or feeble-minded, or epileptic learn to use the terrible word freely, without shuddering and without any feeling of shame. It is the only wise thing to do; it is the first step along the road to helping the loved one get better.

The next great step is to join one of the National Associations organized to help persons who are handicapped in the way your child is. Then you will not feel quite so alone in your grief; you will have joined with hundreds of thousands of other men and women who are sorrowing just as you are sorrowing. If you can contribute something to the funds that are being raised for the study of the particular disease and the discovery of some way of avoiding it or curing it, that also will be good.

When I was a boy, 60 years ago, tuberculosis was a terrible pestilence, crippling and maiming millions of children and killing millions of grown-ups. Practically nothing was being done about it because people were too ashamed even to talk about it. I remember people who let several of their children die of it, rather than admit that it ran in their family. They didn't want ever to go to a hospital with it for fear the neighbors would find why they had gone. Only when people developed the courage to admit freely that they had tuberculosis, and only when they began to use that dread word, were doctors able to build sanatoria and to get people into them early enough so that they could get well. As a result, in the last 50 years, the mortality rate from tuberculosis has gone steadily down and down, until today some the original sanatoria, for lack of patients, are closing their doors.

Again I say, let us all learn to face and use the hard word, even though the sound of it cuts into us like a knife.

Life's Darkest Moment — A WEBSTER CLASSIC

Quebec Statute Could Bar Jesus, Lawyer Claims

QUEBEC (CP)—Witnesses of Jehovah lawyer Samuel Bard said in Quebec Superior Court Monday that application of a provincial bill could prevent Jesus from preaching in Quebec province today.

Bard, of Quebec, is appearing with Glen Howe of Toronto in a case seeking annulment of a provincial bill they term discriminatory. The case resumed Monday after a month-long adjournment.

The Witnesses are asking annulment of bill 38, which prohibits distribution of publications containing abusive or insulting attacks against religious beliefs or practices of any section of Quebec's population. The bill was passed three years ago.

The Witnesses object to the terms "abusive" and "insulting" which they claim are vague and subjective. Mr. Bard said under certain conditions the bill could be used to keep Jesus from preaching, as he did 2,000 years ago, if he wished to do so today.

Freedom of religion entails freedom to criticize other religions, Mr. Bard said.

Gov't Sets Tolls For Vancouver Span

The government set the tolls Monday on Vancouver's new Oak Street bridge, opening June 29, at a rate the same as charged on the Lions Gate bridge.

The tolls: 25 cents per car with passengers and pedestrians free; 12-trip books, with no time limit on use, $2.

HOME GARDEN — By JACK BEASTALL

Jack

For good cuts next year, the crowns must be built up during the balance of the summer. Strong growths should be encouraged which are able to carry on to a maximum their part in the manufacture of food.

It is important that these growths are not damaged by wind so as to impair their function. To prevent this it is necessary to provide stakes or strings for support in exposed gardens, because one strong wind accompanied by heavy rain can result in thin, weak shoots for cutting next year.

When this happens, cutting must be limited, if done at all, to allow the crowns to build up their strength.

The bed should now be given a fairly heavy dressing of complete balanced fertilizer, about four ounces to the square yard.

The rich soil needed to produce good tips is also conducive to a good crop of weeds, especially if manure is used. These must be kept down for the rest of the season by regular cultivation.

Aside from the food they consume, tall weeds shade the fine asparagus foliage and slow down the processes vital to food production.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have been trying to avoid this.

But if everyone else in the paper—from the society department's vice-president in charge of charm to page four's most erudite brain—can write about the new destroyer escort, I guess I can, too.

Of course, I have a sort of handicap, not shared by the other people on the paper.

I know a weeny-teeny bit about the new destroyer escort. However, this won't prevent me from relating a small anecdote involving Ray Phillips, the commanding officer designate of the Fraser.

The Fraser, of course, is an exceedingly fast ship. Not so Ray's last command on this coast, some years back.

At that time, he was driving the frigate HMCS Antigonish. The Antigonish, as the saying goes, could crank up 16 knots going down hill.

Well, one day the Antigonish had another frigate, whose ancient machinery had collapsed, under tow.

The towed ship was displaying the proper signal indicating she was not proceeding under her own power.

But, for some strange reason, the Antigonish was displaying the same signal—due, no doubt, to a temporary aberration on the part of a very junior officer.

At any rate, the two frigates were proceeding toward harbor at a sedate pace, when HMCS Sioux hove into sight. Her CO at the time was Ken Adams (now a rear-admiral).

And when the Sioux's captain spotted the incorrect signal, he (being senior to Phillips) demanded an explanation.

Phillips, who had been caught flat-footed, remembered that the CO of the frigate he was towing had about six months seniority, messaged back: "Following motions of my senior officer."

The Sioux circled the plodding frigates and wound up to her best speed—somewhere in the neighborhood of 30 knots.

And as she flashed past, Adams sent another signal: "NOW follow the motions of your senior officers."

PS to navy types: Yes, I know the signal displayed under the circumstances noted above. But you don't suppose I'm going to mention it here, do you?

AMY BRIEFS TRAINING MATE

Amy Hiland Starts Training For Jaycee Mass Strait Swim

She is making her training headquarters in an auto court overlooking the water near Sooke.

"I shall be making practice swims every day until the contest takes place," 33-year-old Amy said today. "And every swim will be a little longer than the last."

Last August 18, Amy swam the "short route" across the strait from Ediz Hook, Port Angeles to William Head, site of the quarantine station, in 10 hours 51 minutes.

"HOMETOWNER"

She landed within minutes of Victoria's Ben Laughren—first hometowner to swim from the U.S. to Canadian shore—who landed at Church Point, about a mile west of Race Rocks and 14 miles directly northwest of Ediz Hook.

Five days later on Aug. 23, Marilyn Bell, 18-year-old Toronto girl, swam the full width of the Strait from Port Angeles to Victoria in the record time of 10 hours, 38 minutes, and became the first Canadian to make a complete south-north crossing.

Amy arrived in Victoria Monday accompanied by her husband, Pete, and Miss Helene Allison, a student at the University of California, who will be her training companion.

Pete Hiland returned to California today.

FOR HER HEALTH

"Amy never did any serious swimming until six years ago," he said. "She took it up for her health and it was the best thing she ever did. Why, she's never had a cold since she took up swimming and she's always in the pink of condition.

"Of course, I shall be back here in good time for the big swim in August."

A Junior Chamber of Commerce official said three swimmers have now been registered for the Strait swim — Victoria's Ben Laughren, Amy Hiland and Douglas Rivette, 45-year-old deaf-mute linotype operator, formerly of Victoria and Nanaimo, now of Vancouver.

12 QUERIES

Rivette, who weighs 220 pounds, has been swimming since the age of two when he was stricken with polio and required swim therapy treatment.

"We have had inquiries from about 12 swimmers in Canada and the United States," the junior chamber official said.

Among them are Tom Park, former Toronto swimmer now residing in California, and Greta Anderson from Denmark, first woman to finish the Atlantic City marathon.

First swimmer to cross the Strait will receive a prize of $5,000. Second prize is $2,500, third prize $1,500, fourth prize $1,000.

If no one completes the crossing, all four prizes will be halved.

Fraser Fires Main Armament For First Time

DDE 233 — the Yarrows-built anti-sub ship which is to be commissioned June 28 as HMCS Fraser — fired her main armament for the first time Tuesday.

In Juan de Fuca Strait with a press party aboard, she showed off the latest weapon in the never-ending technoligical battle of surface ship vs. submarine.

Those who watched the demonstration feel that the Fraser has a winner.

LONG-RANGE

In contrast to the old-original anti-sub weapon, the depth charge which was rolled over the stern, the new weapon can seek out its undersea target many hundreds of yards from the ship.

The high explosive is carried in a bomb-like cylinder very like an aircraft bomb. From the mortar, the projectile is fired high in the air, enters the water almost vertically, is on its target in a matter of split seconds.

VICIOUS EFFICIENCY

And the same is true of the ship itself—a high-speed vehicle whose purpose in life is to bring the mortar battery within range of the enemy.

Secondary armament, two twin-mounts of rapid fire anti-aircraft guns, were also demonstrated in a dry run for the press. Brought to bear in the general target area by the ship's main radar equipment, the guns "lock on" to the target with their own radar, remain mechanically fastened on the target—no matter what evasion tactics are taken—until it is shot down.

JUNE 28

The Fraser is now on her final trials before acceptance by the RCN, which will be followed by commissioning ceremonies at government jetty, Esquimalt, June 28.

6% Boost Called 'Long Way Short'

A spokesman for the 11,000-member B.C. Government Employees' Association said today the 6 per cent wage increase for civil servants announced by Premier Bennett Monday is "a long way short of what is needed to bring us in line."

A. C. Bennett, assistant general secretary of the association, said his initial reaction to the offer was "not too good."

He added, however, that the association wants more time to study the proposal and will meet with the cabinet Friday to discuss it more fully.

NO CHANGE

The strike vote now in progress among association members will not be changed and the executive is making no recommendation for the time being.

Association officials met briefly with the cabinet today, but only to obtain confirmation of the premier's announcement of wage increases for stationary engineers.

A strike of 153 engineers employed in provincial government buildings set for June 26 has now been called off, Mr. Bennett said.

They cannot be granted until the next session of the legislature, he said, but will be made retroactive to July 1.

The premier indicated the average raise would be about 6 per cent, but said the actual amounts for various categories would be determined by study.

NOT ENOUGH

Commenting today on a statement by George Dodsworth, president of the Psychiatric Nurses' Association, that 6 per cent was not enough, the premier said:

"I said the average will be 6 per cent. some of the rates will be away above that."

Mr. Dodsworth said he doubted whether the psychiatric nurses in provincial mental hospitals, who are also members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, will accept the terms.

His group will also hold out for bargaining rights, Mr. Dodsworth said.

FORMULA SOUGHT

Premier Bennett has maintained that the government cannot grant increases without legislature approval, and said last week the government was looking for some "formula" to make the increases possible.

The Premier said increases had been granted to the stationary engineers in the budget passed at the last session but through a "misunderstanding" had not been made effective.

"We were amazed when we found the order had not been passed" the premier said.

An order-in-council was drawn up Monday afternoon, making the increases retroactive to April 1. The order also applied to a few other categories of workers, including employees on government-operated ferries.

The premier reiterated government policy to cut down the size of the civil service by not filling vacancies, but said "we haven't any scorched earth policy."

A-G Dislikes Smith Plan On Store Hours

'Can't See What All Fuss About'

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today he "didn't think much" of the method proposed by city alderman and MLA Donald Smith for getting around the shops closing clause in the new Municipal Act.

Mr. Smith suggested the city pass a by-law creating a token $1 fine for infractions of the stipulated 6 p.m. closing time. Such a light penalty would discourage prosecutions, he said.

Mr. Bonner said he hadn't discussed the proposal with Mr. Smith, but indicated strongly he didn't approve.

At the same time, the attorney-general said there is nothing to stop corner stores keeping the same hours after the new act becomes law July 1, if the individual municipalities want it that way.

"I can't see what all the fuss is about," he said.

By re-enacting the closing by-laws they had under the old Shops Regulations Act, the municipalities could have the same conditions.

The new act doesn't make any basic change in the situation for corner stores or service stations, the attorney-general claimed.

Industrial Accidents Jump 40%

A 40 per cent increase in fatal industrial accidents in B.C. during 1956 over the previous year was reported today by the Workmen's Compensation Board.

In its annual report, the board said the number of accidents increased 15½ per cent to 95,562. Of this total, 324 were fatal.

The board paid out or set aside a record $21,207,594 to cover claims during the year.

Time-loss compensation payments amounted to $8,221,964 and $4,161,178 was paid out for the medical care of injured workman.

Mountie Hero To Get Medal Here Thursday

RCMP Corporal H. M. C. Johnstone, 24-year-old officer-in-charge of Qualicum Beach detachment will be presented with the George Medal by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross in the vice-regal suite at the Empress Hotel, Thursday, at 4 p.m.

It is the first time the award has been made to a member of a B.C. detachment of the RCMP.

Corporal Johnstone receives the award for his part in stopping a bank robbery at Coquitlam in April, 1956. He was wounded eight times in a gun battle with bandits attempting to rob the bank.

Announcing the award in the House of Commons, last March, former Liberal Finance Minister Walter Harris said:

"The country always expects devoted, daring and courageous service from the RCMP, but some actions deserve special recogntion.

"Corporal Johnstone's action was one such case."

"It's quite a surprise and a great honor," Corporal Johnstone said today. "I am certainly looking forward to the presenation."

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnstone of Selkirk, Man., are now en route to Victoria to attend the ceremony.

Corporal Johnstone's wife, Edith, will also attend. They have two children aged three years and nine months.

City Impounds Cars on Street

Surprise Move Follows Years Of Court Fights Over 'Junk'

Seven cars which had been parked for a long period on a Queens Avenue boulevard were impounded Monday by Victoria City Engineer's Department.

The action climaxed years of court battles which resulted in numerous convictions and fines for the owner of the vehicles, Leslie D. Foxgord, 1144 Queens.

City officials have repeatedly charged Mr. Foxgord with operating a junk yard without a licence.

Neighbors have presented petitions and Victoria Police Commission has had numerous meetings on the problem Mr. Foxgord's cars have presented.

Several care are still parked in a vacant lot adjoining the Foxgord home.

SURPRISE MOVE

The surprise removal was carried out under authority of a by-law passed last September which gives city engineer J. C. Garnett authority to clear any obstruction from any city street or boulevard.

Mr. Garnett said Mr. Foxgord may reclaim the cars by paying hauling and storage charges.

It was reported the removal was carried out peacefully. Mr. Foxgord was out at the time. His son argued against the action, but stood by for the removal.

CITY LICENCE

Mr. Foxgord last week was granted a city business licence to operate a second-hand shop on Broad Street.

Council had debated the step in view of the high number of prosecutions against Mr. Foxxgord with regard to his cars. Police Chief John Blackstock refused to recommend granting of the licence.

Seized Bingo Gear Ordered Confiscated

All bingo equipment seized by city police in a raid on Victoria Bridge and Whist Club in March was ordered confiscated today in police court.

Operator of the bingo game at the time of the raid, Mrs. Audrey Jorgenson, 5151 Cordova Bay, was previously fined for keeping a common gaming house last March 28.

Exempted from confiscation were club ledgers, which Magistrate H. C. Hall ruled would be needed by operator Stanley John Trickey, father of Mrs. Jorgenson, in preparing his 1957 income tax return.

Originally included in the application by city prosecutor Alan Bigelow were two pin-ball machines taken away by police at the time of the raid.

He withdrew these because he had no evidence that they were actually used the night in question.

Confiscated equipment includes a public address system with amplifier, microphone, wiring and five speakers, a bingo number ball blower, ball rack, illuminated number panel and switch board, bingo cards, tickets, operator's apron and other paraphernalia of the game.

Mr. Trickey, who operates his club in basement premises leased from the Westholme Hotel, 1417 Government, testified in court under protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Demand for vodka in B.C. is still not great enough to warrant its sale by the bottle in government liquor stores, Attorney-General Bonner said Monday.

Under a special concession gained from the government by Liberal MLA George Gregory of Victoria, some 200 applications for cases of vodka have been filled, however.

St. John of Jerusalem Honors for Victoria Men

Two Victoria men have been singled out for honors sanctioned by the Queen in the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

Both have been bestowed the title of Serving Brother.

Dr. Felton, who retired in 1946 after 17 years as Victoria public health officer, and from the BCHIS in 1949, is still active in judging and examination work with the ambulance organization. A graduate of Guy's Hospital, London, he came to this area in 1911.

Mr. Muirhead, a department manager at Eatons, was chairman of the St. John Ambulance Association here from 1951 to 1955, and is still both a B.C. and Victoria association director.

Men and women from all walks of life are included in the honors list.

The official investiture will likely be held in Government House in October.

Teen-Agers Seek Meeting Place, Drag Strip

By DON INGHAM

Close to 400 members of the National Youth Club will swarm over Victoria tonight with petitions asking support of a "youth town" and program of youth activities to be conducted under adult supervision.

What they want are the names of at least 10 per cent of the residents on their petition. They feel that with this amount, or more, they can go to the city council and talk about development of Thetis Lake property.

As they grow in strength—membership now is over 700—they hope to sponsor football teams, organize trips to concerts and points of interest, stage their own concerts, hold their own dances, arrange fashion shows for the girl members, and play table tennis, baseball, basketball and other games.

If the club grows as they wish it to, it will be the spearhead of all youth activities in the area, and a form of service club geared to the activities of young people.

But first they want to clean their own house by taming the small percentage of hooligans in the district that give all youth a bad name. Their method will be to make their club so attractive all will want to join.

THEIR OWN HALL

"That is why two of the first things we want are a hall of our own, where we can do our own kind of dancing, and a drag strip," said club president Norman Heseltine, of 2663 Blanshard. "These would let kids blow off steam without annoying anyone, and would eliminate two of the worst habits of young people in the city."

Youngsters have to go some place to meet, he said. At present it is a street corner or a restaurant, both unsatisfactory, and breeding grounds for trouble. The alternative, he said, is a hall where they can rock 'n' roll, have their soft drinks, and generally enjoy themselves.

"We've held a couple of dances and the behavior was something to be proud of," he said.

The other safety valve—a drag strip—needs a little more explaining, and about one mile of road surface.

"DRAG" DEFINED

"Dragging" as almost a cussword means trying to put one's automobile ahead of the other fellow's after getting away from a standing start at a green light.

As a sport that is authorized in Vancouver and hundreds of centres in the United States, with full police support, it is a highly-stylized form of competition in which cars are permitted a specified distance in which to accelerate, then are timed accurately for a quarter-mile run.

"Kids that are working on their cars give way to the temptation to race them against others on the street," the president said.

"Our idea is to let them do their boasting against an electric timer. We feel if they have the opportunity to blow off steam in that way they won't do it on Yates Street."

"Kids want to dance and to drive their car in a hurry. We feel if they can do both under proper supervision, some headway has been made in meeting the delinquency problem," Mr. Heseltine said.

As for the hooligans, they will go along with the crowd as long as the crowd is having the most fun," he said.

"If they choose to say outside they are only breaking their own hearts," he said.

The club "police force" and discipline committee helps to keep its members in line, he said, and rules are strict.

"The 'police' have been criticized," the young president said, "but they can only take action against members. If we have all the district teen-agers in our club, then we can control them and do a job both for them and the community. We think we can get them and keep them."

TRAFFIC FINES

Rudolph Stoiber, 649 Ardersier, $25 for speeding over 30.

Glenford Ross Lockhart, 1290 Hastings, $25, and Lorne H. Donaldson, 305 Windermere, $40 for violation of driver's licence restrictions.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Will you please tell me how several stations on the Kettle Valley Railway have names taken from plays of Shakespeare — Iago, Othello, Lear, etc?

A. That railway line in southern B.C. was opened in 1915. At that time Andrew McCulloch was general superintendent, and finding a new railway with few settlements along its course, he met the problem of establishing stations at intervals simply by choosing names from several of Shakespeare's plays.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters Times does not undertake to solve conundrums of fact and be of general interest. The drums.

By PENNY SAVER

So many Victoria women, from teen-age on up, are wearing their hair up in a bun or a doughnut or a French roll or a pony tail, these days, and very smart they look — provided there aren't any stray wisps to spoil the hairline at the back.

That means hair lacquer is a necessity. You can keep a big bottle of it on your dressing table at home, but what happens when you want to freshen up in your lunch hour at work, or during a shopping trip, or at the beach?

Easy! Just buy yourself one of the neat little black and gold squeeze dispensers I came across today. They're tiny enough to go into your handbag, but will hold at least a week's supply of lacquer.

You refill them from a big bottle and the two—bottle of lacquer and dispenser — are $2.25.

I had no idea plastic squeeze bottles, so necessary for holding hand lotion and cologne and astringent when you're travelling, could be bought so cheaply.

But you can get three good-sized ones, gilt-lidded, a green, a white and a yellow, in a polythene bag, for only 15 cents. At that price, it'd be silly to risk ruining a suitcase lining, to say nothing of clothes, with a broken bottle!

RECORD BARGAINS

There are great bargains in records this week. I noticed long-plays of Gilbert and Sullivan operas, featuring the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, selling for $7.50, reduced from their regular $10.90.

Excerpts from "Carmen" featuring Rise Stevens, another long-play is reduced 20 per cent from $4.98, and so are many other operas and classics.

Popular records, too, are reduced—I noticed some Harry Belafonte discs, as well as the old favorites like Glenn Miller and Eddie Duchin.

I'll be happy to tell you where I shopped if you phone me at 2-3131.

Dorothy Plant New President

At the first annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Women's Press Club, held in Maple Bay Inn, Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Dorothy Plant of Nanaimo was named president.

Other officers are Miss Mildred Marks, Parksville, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Trebett, the Albernis, treasurer, and Mrs. Nona Damaske, Victoria, historian.

During the meeting, two new members, Mrs. Muriel Wilson, Victoria, and Mrs. Butler of Errington, B.C., were welcomed. Later a delicious smorgasbord dinner was enjoyed. Next meeting of the group will be held in Nanaimo in September.

Lively Dances, Gay Costumes Highlight Spectacular Review

A woodland fantasy featuring baby dancers from three to five years, a Chinese ballet, a western round-up in two elaborate scenes and a grand finale in a quick military rhythm, were highlights of a star-packed program featured Monday evening at Royal Theatre by Florence Clough in her 30th annual dance revue.

Dwarfs, fairies, woodland nymphs, butterflies and bunnies, tiptoed their way into the hearts of a capacity audience in "A Woodland Fantasy." A Chinese temple garden was the colorful setting for a "Rose of the Orient" number and the graceful le-haw, meissen and temple dancers.

A spectacular grand finale featuring more than 75 dancers brought round after round of applause from the audience. Seven young dancers in the eight-year-old group were outstanding in a "Stair Tappers" number. They were Denise Warholm, Diane Berry, Lynn Smith, Beverly Hermiston, Gail Cooley, Colleen Payne and Gordon Callow.

The Pas Seul, "Bird of Paradise," danced by May Guthrie, and an acrobatic, "Moderne," by Frances Merriman, were both outstanding, as were solo numbers in "Peasants and Cossacks," danced by Jim Marshall, Ed Sunday and Bill MacMillan.

Senior dancers of the school were a delight to watch in the scintillating "Tap Mardi Gras" in three numbers, swingsters, swingettes and strutters. "Style and Personality" with Valerie Parkin and Ken Bull and a "Jive Tap" with Penny Warholm, Nadine Stewart and Ronnie Lawson were also popular.

Exciting color, superb dancing and hypnotic rhythms were all included in the Hawaiian number in which Madine Stewart sang and the uli uli dancers appeared.

The review was sponsored by Miriam Temple No. 2, Daughters of the Nile and proceeds will go to the convalescent relief fund for crippled children and other shrine activities.

An orchestra directed by James H. Fraser was in attendance. Reg Bullock created the scenery and settings and Florence Clough designed the costumes.

About Wedding Invitations in Lieu of Announcements:

In six weeks, my son will be married to a girl living in a far-away city. Most of our friends here and all of my son's business associates cannot attend the wedding because of the distance and probably because of the expense as well. My son and I agree that, under the circumstances, announcements should be sent right after the wedding instead of wedding invitations beforehand. The bride is planning to send invitations to all, and my son feels that this is not correct. Please advise.

ments should be sent right after the wedding instead of wedding invitations beforehand. The bride is planning to send invitations to all, and my son feels that this is not correct. Please advise.

Louise Davis Answers:

I like your son's attitude and hope that you will solve the problem to avoid embarrassments. I do think that you have a right to take a stand and not subject friends and business associates to any gift obligations. If invitations are to be issued for a church wedding with separate enclosure cards for a reception, tactfully ask the bride and her mother if they will eliminate the reception cards when addressing the envelopes from your list. That serves almost the same as an announcement, yet there would be no obligations. Perhaps your son can pave the way by appealing to his fiancee. If this plan isn't feasible, then trim down your list to just your relatives and closest friends. In that case, you would have to inform your friends in your own way, either by brief notes, telephone, or as you happen to see them. Perhaps the bride's family feel that ordering announcements might be costly since they will have wedding invitations too. But if they concede to either of these suggestions, you might ask your son to offer to pay for the announcements that you would like to have sent to your friends. Ordinarily the bridgroom or his parents don't bear any of these expenses, but I think this could be considered an exception in order to spare you any embarrassment. I'll be keeping my fingers crossed for you.

Tory Regime Will Take Over Duties Friday

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

OTTAWA (BUP)—Ontario, British Columbia and Quebec today confronted Prime Minister-Designate John Diefenbaker as problem provinces in planning his new cabinet, but for different and even contrary reasons in each case.

In Ontario the difficulty is the concentration of too much cabinet material in the city of Toronto. Messrs. Donald Fleming, J. M. MacDonnell, George Hees, and Roland Michener all have valid claims for preference, while from the adjoining area John Hamilton of West York and Michael Starr of Oshawa also are conceded to be contenders. The combined list constitutes an embarrassing surfeit of material for the Toronto district.

MAJ.-GEN. G. R. PEARKES, VC

TWO NOT ENOUGH

In British Columbia the problem also is one of selection. Normally the West Coast province rates only one cabinet minister, but in recent years it has been accorded two as the result of a cabinet deal when the Liberal ministers couldn't decided between the entry of James Sinclair and Ralph Campney, QC, and compromised by admitting both. But even two ministers won't give the new Prime Minister sufficient leeway.

He has on hand Messrs. Howard Green, E. Davie Fulton, and General George Pearkes, VC. Rejection of any one of the triumvirate is impossible. But alloting British Columbia three cabinet posts is equally impossible. It is the classic situation of an irresistible force meeting an immovable object.

In Quebec the problem swings to the other extreme. Diefenbaker is bound by a pledge to give the French-speaking province the same number of cabinet posts as did the Liberals. That means the appointment of five ministers. But the new Prime Minister has a maximum of eight elected Quebec MP's amongst whom to choose, and of the eight, not more than three are regarded as sufficient.

Mao Taking Over As Red Leader?

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Communist China's leader Mao Tse-tung admits that "contradictions" exist in a Communist society—and thereby differs with Soviet ideologists who maintain such a thing is impossible.

In a speech made public today, Mao declared that any attempt to deal with such contradictions by "coercive measures will not only be ineffective but harmful."

"We cannot abolish religion by administrative orders, nor can we force people not to believe in it," he said. "We cannot compel people to give up idealism, no more than we can force them to believe in Marxism. In settling matters of controversial issues among the people we can only use democratic methods, methods of discussion, of criticism, and not coercive nor high-handed methods."

DIFFERS WITH KREMLIN

Mao, who appears to have taken over as the ideological high priest of world Communism since Stalin's death, denied the often voiced claim of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, that leaders and the masses can never find themselves in contradiction in a Communist state.

Hitherto, the 17,000-word text had been a Communist secret, with only a few passages having leaked out several months ago from Poland, where Mao's reasoning apparently was used to bolster the independent Communist regime of Ladislaw Go-

Slayer's Mother Will Fight 'to End'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mother of convicted murderer Joseph McKenna said today she will fight for his life "to the bitter end."

McKenna, 21, was sentenced in Assize Court Friday to hang Sept. 24 for the shooting of John Donaldson, 25, at a Chinatown cabaret March 23.

Safeway Inc. Fined $105,000

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Safeway Stores Inc. was fined $105,000 in U.S. District Court today for violation of federal anti-trust laws. Two officials of the concern were given one-year suspended prison terms and fined.

The government charged Safeway engaged in a vicious price-cutting war to drive competitors out of business in Texas and New Mexico.

'Out Our Way' Creator Dies

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—James R. Williams, 69, whose "Out Our Way" and other cartoons were read by millions, died in Huntington Memorial Hospital Monday night.

Williams' cartoons, including "Why Mothers Get Grey," "Born 30 Years Too Soon," "When You'd Love to Live Forever" and "The Worry Wart," were syndicated by Newspaper Enterprise Association to more than 700 daily and Sunday newspapers with total readership of 32 millions (including the Victoria Daily Times).

MARILYN BELL ENGAGED TO FORMER LIFE GUARD

TORONTO (CP)—Marilyn Bell, first swimmer to conquer Lake Ontario, is engaged to Joseph Chipper Di Lascio, 22, of Atlantic City, N.J., her father said today.

Syd Bell, father of the 19-year-old swim star, said the two are engaged "but that wedding plans are indefinite."

Marilyn met her fiance in 1954 when she won the women's world champion title at the 26-mile Atlantic City swim. Di Lascio, then 18 and employed as a lifeguard during the summer at the beach, was attending La Salle University of Philadelphia.

Asked whether the money she has gained from swimming will make any difference, Marilyn said "a lot of people perhaps think I have a fortune, but it isn't really."

Relief Coming From Heat Wave

TORONTO (CP)—Relief from the record-breaking heat wave that has scorched Southern Ontario and Quebec for the last two days was forecast today by the weatherman.

Cooler air, preceded by thunderstorms, is expected to push into the hot, humid air mass bringing relief to southern Ontario late Wednesday, but not to Quebec for at least another day.

A broiling 95 degrees was forecast for Windsor today, 90 for Toronto and Hamilton. Montreal, at the edge of the warm air belt, was expected to be cooler—at 85.

The early heat wave was restricted to the two central provinces. It was cloudy with showers in British Columbia Monday and the forecast for today called for clearing weather along the coast and unsettled conditions in the interior.

Era Ended In Shadow Of Monday Evening

By DON PEACOCK

OTTAWA (CP)—The end of Canada's biggest political guessing game in years, 22 years perhaps, came in sweat and heat.

By sundown Monday the pieces of the puzzle began to fit together:

The Progressive Conservative leader accepted Mr. Massey's invitation to form a new government, ending 22 years of Liberal rule.

As he was leaving, the sun had disappeared behind the trees; the spacious lawns were deep in shadow as a happy Mr. Diefenbaker mused:

But it was no holiday Monday. It was hot and sweaty. It was frequently frantic. It was also, however, history.

The thermometer on the shady side of a portico pillar at Rideau Hall read 90 degrees when Mr. St. Laurent arrived at 6.16 p.m. EDT (3.16 PDT) to tender his resignation. It had crept down to 84 when Mr. Diefenbaker showed up two hours and nine minutes later.

But most of the heat and sweat was concentrated in the second-floor corridor outside the Privy Council offices in the east block of the Parliament Buildings.

There the Liberal cabinet met to quit office. There Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Diefenbaker had their 40-minute late-afternoon meeting while the nation awaited the final outcome.

Mr. Diefenbaker will be sworn into office on Friday, the Liberals providing a caretaker government until then.

New PM Faces Heavy Task In Implementing Promises

OTTAWA (CP) — The new Progressive Conservative government of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will have to plan on a hefty legislative program to make good its election campaign promises.

The promises cover a wide range of subjects—from social security to agriculture, from resources development to fiscal policy, from parliamentary rights to international trade.

Some can be implemented immediately; others will take longer because they are long-term efforts.

But as Mr. Diefenbaker said at one point in his 100-speech campaign:

"My idea of politics is that promises should only be made that can be effectuated."

$300,000,000 HIS ESTIMATE

Later he said his party's promises should cost no more than $300,000,000 for current expenditures, excluding spending on self-liquidating projects which would pay themselves off over the years. That would be one-fifth of the $1,500,000,000 price tag the Liberals placed on the Conservative pledges.

And, on top of that, he promised to reduce "unnecessary" taxes, including the 10 per cent excise tax on automobiles.

Mr. Diefenbaker promised a September session to increase old age and other pensions to "a fair and reasonable" figure tied to cost-of-living increases.

Social security measures would be maintained at "a high standard to keep pace with national productivity."

A large section of Mr. Diefenbaker's election platform was filled with planks aimed at agriculture.

He pledged the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the spread between the

Three Men Convicted Of $11,000 Robbery

VANCOUVER—Three men, identified as part of a foursome seen by a police inspector "giggling" as they counted $11,500 in stolen money, were convicted Monday of armed robbery.

Magistrate Oscar Orr found James Semenoff, 23; his brother, John Semenoff, 22, and Raymond Peters, 27, guilty of robbing the downtown Drake Hotel April 25. A fourth man, Vern Barnes, 23, was remanded until Thursday for a decision. The others will be sentenced the same day.

Police Inspector Ian McGregor said earlier he peered through a hotel room keyhole and saw three men counting money. He testified he and other officers broke down the door and arrested Barnes, James Semenoff and Peters. John Semenoff was arrested in the hallway.

SUNDAY BALL HEARING

VANCOUVER — Hearing of a charge against the Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League for playing Sunday baseball games was adjourned Monday to June 26.

The adjournment was granted at request of Crown counsel Stewart McMorran. Senator J. W. De B. Farris, defence counsel, said he will seek a further adjournment on the new date.

ZUCCO REFUSED PENSION

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Bea Zucco, who has staged three sit-down protests at government buildings in efforts to get a pension for her sick husband, Monday suffered another defeat in her campaign.

The Workmen's Compensation Board said a board of medical referees has been unable to find evidence of silicosis in former miner Jack Zucco, a patient at Vancouver's Pearson Tuberculosis Hospital.

The board said it is unable to grant a pension without such evidence.

FRANK WARD DIES

VANCOUVER — Funeral services will be held here Wednesday for Frank G. Ward, founder and president of the largest and oldest surviving music house in B.C. He died suddenly over the weekend at his home at the age of 62.

Born in Valleyfield, Que., he came here in 1904 and started work three years later for a musical firm.

TRAPPED BY CAVE-IN

NORTH VANCOUVER—Lloyd Thorpe, 29, was taken to North Vancouver General Hospital Monday with possible internal injuries after being trapped up to his neck in a ditch cave-in.

Witnesses said Thorpe was removing shoring timbers from the 13-foot ditch when a side wall of earth fell on him.

Fellow workers rescued him.

CLOSER CHECK URGED

VANCOUVER—A coroner's jury investigating a recent death in a city jail has recommended closer and more frequent observation of intoxicated prisoners.

The recommendation Monday followed an inquest into the June 8 death of Woodrow Thomas Gibbs, 39. The jury ruled he died accidentally as a result of being under the influence of alcohol.

60 SUITS STOLEN

VANCOUVER—Men's suits valued at $5,250 have been stolen in the last two weeks from the Hastings Street store of Murray Goldman. Goldman reported Monday that 50 suits worth $3,500 were stolen in a burglary at the store during the weekend. Last week, Goldman reported theft of 10 suits valued at $750 between June 1 and 7.

A Conservative government also would approach Britain to buy Canadian wheat with $17,000,000 interest she owes Canada from last year on a post-war loan.

PROCESSING AT HOME

Development of natural resources and encouragement of more processing in Canada of raw materials now being exported to the U.S. was promised.

The resources program would be a 10-year effort and would include the development of north-south highways.

Priority would be given to federal aid to help British Columbia develop the Columbia River power project. The South Saskatchewan River dam and irrigation project would receive federal aid.

Mr. Diefenbaker pledged establishment of a Canadian energy board to encourage balanced power development among coal, oil, gas and atomic coal, oil, gas and atomic energy.

Provincial and municipal governments would receive a larger share of the national income. A new federal-provincial tax conference would be called to give the provinces a better deal.

WOULD AID CITIES

A Conservative government would end what Mr. Diefenbaker described as federal interference with the rights of the provinces and would take steps to relieve municipalities which find themselves hard hit by federal tight-money policies.

The question of parliamentary supremacy drew from Mr. Diefenbaker the pledge to abolish the rule of debate-limiting closure. He also supported the idea of appointing a permanent Commons Speaker.

He proposed non-partisan redistribution of Commons seats and reform of the Senate.

Canada would spearhead a call for a Commonwealth trade and economic conference to help restore to this country's exports some of the Commonwealth markets lost to other countries.

43 INJURED IN TORONTO TROLLEY CRASH

TORONTO (CP) — A rear-end collision of two streetcars in east-end Toronto today sent 43 persons to hospital.

Passengers were flung on top of one another when a Kingston Road car, operated by a student driver, crashed into the rear of a standing westbound Queen Street car.

'Kingpin' Killed In New York Gangland Slaying

Two assassins pumped four bullets into Frank Scalise, 55, and fled in a black sedan. Police described Scalise as an associate of gambler Frank Costello and Charles (Lucky) Luciano, deported vice lord.

Federal authorities suspected Scalise of being involved in international narcotics smuggling. He had been sought for questioning in three murders.

Moments before his death Scalise purchased 90 cents worth of peaches and lettuce. He was stuffing money into a pocket when the gunmen struck.

Enrico Mazzaro, 61-year-old store owner, was booked for his own protection, as a material witness. He was held in $100,000 bail.

Police said the shooting was not connected with the recent attempt on Costello's life.

Train Off Tracks In France; 10 Die

ARRAS, France (UP) — Three cars of a Paris-bound express train jumped the tracks near here today while traveling at 50 miles an hour. Police said 10 persons were killed and 20 injured.

Doctors to Set Own Standards For Hospitals

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian medical men are preparing for their own hospital-standards check. Doctors are anxious to increase the supply of laboratory technologists. They will step up cancer refresher courses, and soon will have new fee schedules for veterans.

But all these decisions at Monday's opening of the Canadian Medical Association's annual convention were overshadowed briefly by the experiment of giving two groups of 400 laymen close-up views of appendectomies via color television.

Meanwhile, the CMA's general council, described as "the parliament of the medical profession in Canada," began studying national problems.

WILL "RUN OWN SHOW"

Of major importance Monday was the firm decision to split from the joint Canada - United States commission on hospital accreditation, on which the CMA is the only Canadian representative. The joint group has handled hospital standards in both countries since 1952 and previously it was the sole chore of the American College of Surgeons.

The all-Canadian program, toward which the CMA has been working for the last several years, is scheduled to become effective January 1, 1959.

Dr. Arthur F. Van Wart, of Fredericton, Monday night was named president-elect of the association.

Dr. Norman H. Gosse, of Halifax, was named chairman of the CMA's general council, and Dr. G. W. Halpenny, of Montreal, was elected honorary treasurer at the annual meeting here.

U.S. Blasts Fourth Atomic Test Shot

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Atomic scientists exploded the fourth shot in the current atomic test series at 5.45 a.m. MDT today.

The Atomic Energy Commission said "light fallout" from the blast forced evacuation of the test site control point.

Five minutes later the billowing mushroom cloud, rising almost six miles into the sky, began to sift radio-active contamination toward the control point.

AEC officials said later the fall-out was not severe enough to constitute a health hazard. The evacuation was carried out as a drill.

Cars Collide One Dead Trio Injured

LADYSMITH — One man died and three were injured in a head-on collision between two cars Monday on the Trans-Canada Highway, immediately south of the Nanaimo River bridge at Cassidy.

Dead is J. G. Farquhar, 66, of Vancouver, who succumbed in Nanaimo General Hospital about four hours after the accident.

The injured, taken to hospital but reported in good condition, are Alf Shuker, goaltender for the Nanaimo Timbermen lacrosse team; Johann Loeffer, and Jack Whittam, all of Nanaimo.

Shuker is in Ladysmith General Hospital, and the others in Nanaimo.

The three Nanaimo men are employees of Warwick Metal Works, Nanaimo, employed at the B.C. Power Commission Georgia Generating Station at Bare Point, near Chemainus, and were on their way home, driving northward, when the accident occurred.

Passing motorists, who found one of the cars with all four wheels in the air, notified police at Nanaimo. Ladysmith police also were called, and ambulances from Nanaimo and Ladysmith attended.

Ladysmith RCMP said today an inquest will be held in Nanaimo Wednesday at 7 p.m. with Dr. H. W Lewis, coroner, presiding.

Highway Death Accidental, Inquest Finds

Duncan Woman Killed Instantly

DUNCAN — Highway death of Mrs. Elsie Davies, 56, hit by a car Wednesday night and killed instantly, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided Monday night.

Driver of the car, police said, was Jack Roozendaal, who was travelling in a southerly direction at 9.40 p.m. when the accident occurred near the intersection of the highway and Drinkwater Road.

"This woman came up from nowhere," the 19-year-old driver testified. "When I saw her I froze at the wheel. I couldn't do anything. I hit her. My windshield broke and I couldn't see anything."

Police testified that Roozendaal was in his proper lane when the accident occurred.

Mrs. James Sinclair, witness of the accident, said she heard the impact in her home nearby, then looked out the window and saw a shoe, coat and body flying through the air.

"I thought it was a bundle of clothing being thrown from a car," she said.

Chemainus Water System Inspected By Aerial Tour

CHEMAINUS—A party of municipal and company officials have completed an air inspection of Chemainus and Crofton water systems.

Despite low hanging clouds, the party made three low runs over Holyoak Lake, new reserve supply for Chemainus. Water appeared to be at the top of the dam with a small amount going through the sluice gates. Later, the party flew over the Crofton water system and dam.

Women Want Holidays Marked on True Date

NANAIMO—Local Council of Women here has decided to work toward having national holidays observed on the true date instead of on the nearest Monday.

They said the modern practice makes "just another holiday" out of what should be a national event.

Licence Lifted After Accident

ALBERNI (CP)—Eskild Mortensen was fined $100 and costs Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention.

His driver's licence was suspended for six months.

Mortensen was charged as the result of an accident which sent three members of an Alberni family to West Coast General Hospital about a month ago. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Callister are still in hospital, but their young daughter was discharged soon after the accident.

ently experienced to be classed as possible cabinet material.

In the situation Diefenbaker is expected to name two appointees to the Senate who will serve as members of the cabinet until another election gives Quebec province the opportunity of returning a greater number of supporters amongst whom he can choose.

Diefenbaker said he will announce his ministry on Friday. But it is expected that the list will be incomplete and that a number of minor portfolios will be left vacant to be filled on his return from London.

In the Friday announcement it is anticipated that there will be three Quebec appointees: Messrs. Leon Balcer of Three Rivers, William Hamilton of Notre Dame de Grace, and Paul Comtois of Nicolet-Yamaska. Possible later additions via the Senate appointment route are rumored to include Rene Duranleau, who unsuccessfully opposed Liberal cabinet minister Lionel Chevrier in Montreal-Laurier.

Latest speculation on the first draft of the cabinet assigns J. M. MacDonnell to the post of Finance Minister, Donald Fleming to trade and commerce, George Pearkes, VC, to national defence, and E. Davie Fulton to external affairs.

Other inclusions in the first draft will be A. J. Brooks of New Brunwick, George Knowlan of Nova Scotia and Angus McLean of Prince Edward Island.

One of the most significant of the current rumors is that Diefenbaker proposes to take General Pearkes with him to next week's London conference. If he does, the obvious purpose will be to observe first hand the streamlining which United Kingdom defence forces have been undergoing.

mulka. The broadcast said Mao had gone over the verbatim text and made certain additions.

Mao conceded that the Hungarian uprising last autumn caused stirrings even inside Communist China, with some people hoping for a two-party system on the Western model. He said:

"Certain people in our country were delighted when the Hungarian events took place. They hoped that something similar would happen in China, that thousands upon thousands of people would demonstrate in the streets against the people's government."

But this "ran counter to the interests of the masses."

For the first time, Mao made it clear the Hungarian uprising had brought doubts to some Chinese circles. It was impossible to determine how widespread these doubts were.

Liberal Leader Urges Probe of IWA Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal leader Arthur Laing has demanded that a timber strike be prevented by appointment of an industrial inquiry commission.

In a free-time radio broadcast over CBC station CBU, Mr. Laing said, "The clouds have been hovering over us for months and yet we found all but two of our cabinet ministers absent from our province and injecting themselves into federal politics."

"Negotiations have broken down and strike votes are being called," he said. "The findings of a conciliation board have been rejected by the men."

He said a prolonged shutdown of the timber industry would bring the provincial economy to its knees.

"I call upon the Minister of Labor at this late hour," he said, "to appoint an industrial inquiry commission, to use extreme care in the appointment of its members, and to charge the commission with the task of bringing again into negotiation the forest industry and the International Woodworkers of America."

Neighbors See, Hear Man Die in Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man, trying to crawl to the door and safety from a fire-swept store died in the flames early today.

He died within sight and hearing of neighbors who were turned back by roaring flames when they tried to go to his assistance.

The victim was not immediately identified.

Firemen said the rear of the building was a mass of flames when they arrived. The building housed four business premises with living quarters above. The blaze apparently started in a sofa in one of the suites.

Mrs. William Morton said she awoke to hear a man screaming, "Help me, help me."

She looked across from her rear window and saw a silhouette "dancing around in flames. Then the flames shot up higher and he disappeared from sight."

Disarmament Talks Facing New Snags

LONDON (UP)—The official Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today accused Harold E. Stassen of trying to wreck the London disarmament talks although he threw his support Monday to a new Soviet disarmament scheme.

The Izvestia blast and reports that France plans to reject any outright ban on nuclear tests because it expects to have nuclear weapons of its own within two years raised major new snags in the London talks which resume Thursday.

An Izvestia editorial broadcast by Moscow radio said "intrigues" had sprung up around Stassen aimed at wrecking the talks. It said Stassen had been given the task of trying to discredit the Soviet proposals by leading the UN disarmament sub-committee into an impasse and shifting responsibility for failure of the talks onto the Soviet Union.

A New York dispatch in Izvestia attacked American "opponents of international co-operation," declared the "overwhelming majority of the American public wants immediate ending of nuclear tests" and said the calculations of the Washington "atomaniacs" are "build on sand and doomed to failure."

The Russian blast was unexpected because western delegates—especially the American delegates—said they were prepared to move toward the disarmament position.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Tom Irwin Social Credit candidate, has been officially declared winner in the Burnaby-Richmond federal riding by a 38-vote margin.

BROKEN-ARMED BRIDE FINED

ALBERNI—A blonde bride with a broken arm was fined $30 in Alberni police court Monday for driving in violation of restrictions on her licence.

Mrs. Arvid Tikkala, 20, had her arm in a sling when she appeared before Magistrate T. M. Patterson.

Restricted to driving a car carrying public liability insurance, she had failed to check the coverage on a car borrowed from a friend of the groom.

The couple have been married only a week.

able 70 to 75 degrees Monday. A few showers were forecast for Alberta and Saskatchewan with temperatures reaching the 70s or low 80s. There was rain in eastern Manitoba, but cooler, drier air was predicted for later in the day.

By contrast with the torrid heat in Quebec and Ontario, frost nipped farmers' crops in eastern Nova Scotia. The mercury dipped to 31 at Copper Lake. Halifax had a low of 47 and Fredericton a low of 49. Sydney's 34 was one degree cooler than a record set in 1932.

NEW YORK HIT

The metropolis baked in 90-degree heat for the third day in a row. The city's sweltering millions face more of the same today. Thousands of air conditioners were switched on as the temperature soared. That helped boost the power load toward the breaking point.

A similar power crisis developed in Chicago. Household voltage dropped from the standard of 120 volts to 113.

EUROPE, TOO

Berlin reported a high of 89.6 degrees. It was 87 in London and Paris had 86.

In France, five persons were drowned in swimming and boating accidents in the Seine. A sixth person died of a sunstroke.

In Italy, the death toll from Alpine floods and whirlwinds rose to 17.

Gulf Ferry Service Resumes Thursday

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Lady Rose, strike-bound vessel of Coast Ferries Limited, will resume service Thursday to the Gulf Islands from Steveston.

The vessel has been tied up since May 25, when the Seafarers' International Union called out the four deckhands after rejecting a majority report of a conciliation board which the company accepted.

Managing director O. H. New of Coast Ferries said he and SIU officials had agreed on a new formula for settlement involving hourly wage rates asked by the union and retroactive pay of $592 for each man.

The new hourly rates were to be announced today. The company announced Saturday an increased provincial government grant would enable it to meet the union wage demands.

'PRETTY GRIM'

Fears for Fish Produced By Tree Spraying

NANAIMO — Fisheries biologist David Hurn, of the British Columbia Game Department, said here Monday aerial spraying of forests in the Port Hardy area must be having a "pretty grim" effect on fish life in streams in the area.

A huge spraying program is under way to save 150,000 acres of hemlock forest from being ruined by a plague of black budworms.

"Port Hardy is a fantastic fish producing centre," Mr. Hurn said.

He feared the fish mortality rate would be excessively high even though spraying is not being carried out near streams.

The spraying is being done by four converted torpedo bombers that discharge 800 gallons of spray in seven minutes. Rain has hampered the project but 50,000 acres have been covered to date. Pilots dodge all rivers and streams while doing their spraying from tree-top height.

Before the program was undertaken, however, federal fisheries officers made preparations to protect streams from the lethal spray.

Knowing from experience gained the "hard way" in Eastern Canada about the effect of DDT on fish, the fisheries department has had a crew at the project constantly, and officials fly regularly with the pilots to help in protecting streams.

QUALICUM GRADUATION

QUALICUM BEACH — Principal speaker at high school graduation ceremonies here June 27 will be Dr. Brock Chisholm, now of Sooke, former director of the World Health Organization.

Sidney Merchant Learns Details Of Son's Death

SIDNEY — Word was received here Monday by J. C. Anderson, local lumber dealer, of the death of his son, at Bear River, in northern British Columbia.

Duncan Maccasfield Anderson, 32, lodge owner and tourist guide, fell from a canoe while trying to start its outboard motor. Two motorists in the boat were unable to help as he was swept away.

He was handicapped by a war wound that had crippled his right arm, and was unable to escape the current in the river. To date his body has not been recovered.

His widow, Elizabeth, and three young children, live here.

ANGRY MOTHER BERATES RESCUER

DUNCAN—The story was told today of how Randy Streit, telegraph operator at the E & N station here, saved a child a few days ago from certain death under the wheels of the Dayliner, then got a scorching reprimand from her mother.

He had already stopped two children from crawling under a freight train, when he saw the little girl standing directly in front of the Dayliner, out of vision of the engineer. The bell was ringing and the train was ready to move.

The little girl was running her fingers over the shiny chrome of the car, he said.

"I grabbed her from the tracks just as the train started to move," Streit said, "but startled her and she started to cry. Her mother had been sitting on the platform not knowing the child was in danger. She gave me heck for making the child cry."

Harvie In Soup Again

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — National Amateur champion Harvie Ward, on probation from the United States Golf Association, withdrew from the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament Monday "rather than cause embarrassment to either the Trans-Mississippi or the USGA."

It climaxed a day of turmoil during which some of the Trans-Mississippi members advocated that Ward be allowed to play in the tournament in defiance of the USGA.

But Bob Goldwater, president of the Trans-Mississippi, said "We made a mistake" in inviting Ward not knowing that his actual status was "professional" in the eyes of the USGA since he was put on probation for having his expenses paid to play in golf tournaments.

Ward, who flew in Monday from Toledo, where he played in the National Open, didn't know about the controversy until he arrived. He immediately said that the USGA executive secretary, Joe Dey, told him he could play in any open tournament and any amateur tournament that would accept his entry, while under the probation. This was at the time the probation was passed on Ward at a meeting of the USGA in Chicago.

But Goldwater said the Trans-Mississippi had never got a direct statement from Dey that Ward could play in the Trans-Mississippi.

"Ward, being the great sportsman that he is, has decided to withdraw and save anybody embarrassment," Goldwater declared. "We regret the mistake has been made."

Ladies' Night For Mat Fans

Ladies will wrest the spotlight away from the matmen at Memorial Arena Thursday night as promoter Mike Bulat announces his next pro wrestling program will be a "Ladies' Night" affair.

Feature attraction on the card will be a tag-team match between the Donovan brothers, Doug and Red, and a powerful combination of Bob Cummings and Nick Kozak.

Three preliminary matches will round out the card with Gordy Gordienko and Young Thunderbird, son of the mighty Chief Thunderbird, going in one of them.

First bout on the card is slated to go at 8.30 p.m.

Baseline Hits Sink Devine's Tennis Hopes

Jerry Devine, youthful aspirant to the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club tennis championship, saw his hopes shattered on Monday as Gordon Hartley, fourth-seeded veteran, used long baseline drives to wreck Devine's chances 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

The husband-wife team of Mr. and Mrs. D. McCormick won again to advance to the semi-finals mixed doubles along with the teams of Miss M. Peterson and Carl Brand and Miss T. Elmsley and Hartley.

In tonight's feature action, former champion Warren Cameron tackles table tennis ace Art Ngai in a semifinal match at 5.30, while Joy Wasson meets Myrja Peterson in ladies' competition.

5.30—W. Cameron vs. A. Ngai; M. Peterson vs. J. Wasson.
6.00—D. Thomson vs. J. Wells; R. C. Miller and G Hartley vs. J. Cosar and D. McCormick
6.30—R. Aldeguer vs. K. Taylor.
7.30—D. McCormick vs. W. Browne-Cave, G Gardner and J. Cosar vs. S. Whittaker and G. McMinn.

MEETING FRIDAY

All interested persons are asked to attend a meeting at the Chester Street Scout Hall on Friday at 8 p.m. for the Fairfield Little League.

FALL OF THE ROAMIN' UMPIRE

New York's Big Moose Hottest Item In Majors

Not Mickey Mantle or Ted Williams, deadlocked for the American League batting lead . . . or Gil Hodges and Stan Musial, running one-two in the National League competition.

He's Bill (Moose) Skowron, 26-year-old first baseman of the New York Yankees. On May 24, Skowron was hitting a meager .236. Since then the six-foot, 195-pound native of Chicago has cracked out 42 hits in 94 times at bat, a sizzling .447 pace.

In last week's games alone, Skowron had 14 safeties in 26 tries (.538) to boost his average 30 points to .333. This output enabled him to move into sixth place among the American League hitters.

PUSHING 'EM IN

Skowron, a righthanded batter, drove in nine runs last week to move into second place in this department with 43. Washington's Roy Sievers has the most RBIs—48.

Mantle increased his average 25 points in last week's action and this surge, coupled with a loss of 12 points by Williams, the Boston slugger, resulted in a tie after Sunday's games—each hitting .379.

Mantle also walloped five home runs, raising his league-leading total to 19. Williams slammed four circuit blows and is second with 17.

Musial closed in on Hodges in the National League. The St. Louis Cards' first baseman climbed seven points to .365, while Brooklyn's Hodges picked up three points to .366 before he was sidelined with a rib injury last Friday.

Mrs. J. H. Wilson Bronze Medalist

Mrs. J. Harold Wilson won medalist honors at Victoria Golf Club Monday afternoon when she completed the 18-hole qualifying round in the Ladies' Bronze Championship with a gross 94.

One on Ladder

Mrs. Wyn Rusk's six-pound 15-ounce spring was the only salmon weighed in Monday as fishing began in the fifth qualifying week of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

BATTLE BETWEEN BARNES' CONFUSIN' BUT AMUSIN'

It was a case of "What's in a Name" Sunday at Cedar Hill Golf Club when members played the final round in their club handicap championship. Two W. H. Barnes' played off for the title.

Not related in any way, William Henry Barnes took the crown on the 15th hole, a 4 and 3 win over Walter Henry Barnes after both had beaten the comedalists, K. Greenwood and T. English, in earlier rounds.

First flight winner was R. Williams with J. Parkes taking the second flight, and D. Hosmer capturing the third. In the fourth flight, D. Graham triumphed.

Why Travel Far? Big Salmon Here

There may be waters around Vancouver Island where sports fishermen are catching more small salmon, but the Oak Bay area isn't taking a back seat when it comes to size.

Victoria anglers, who are continuing to reap the benefits of the run of big spring salmon practically on their doorstep, received additional encouragement over the weekend with the arrival of the season's first sizeable coho salmon.

Two good-sized springs came in Oak Bay Boathouse Monday night with Len Humber topping the evening fishermen with the 34-pounder he took on a Strip Teaser off Fulford Reef.

Using a minnow in a Strip Teaser, B. Grainger boated an 18½-pound spring in The Gap Monday night, and Ruth Richards took a 20-pounder Monday afternoon.

PRODUCTIVE DAY

Sunday was one of the most productive days of the season as 12 springs and two coho were brought in at Oak Bay. Topping the day's catches was a 33-pounder landed off Chatham Island by Jim Robertson, and a 22-pound salmon reeled in by R. G. Lyon.

Peter Johnston also found the right spot off Chatham Island Saturday and hooked a 34-pound scrapper. Dick Berry picked up a 29-pound spring and the season's first coho Saturday.

Coho salmon, which usually stay in the area until late September after arriving in the summer, have shown up a few weeks earlier than usual and are averaging around eight pounds, heavier than normal for this time of year at Oak Bay.

Another productive salmon spot in southern Island waters during the past two weeks has been off Otter Point, where a good number of husky springs have been landed.

Bantams Appear In Preliminary

Upsets Mark BCE Tourney

On Monday she went down to a straight-set defeat at the hands of Maxine Ellis, 6-3, 7-5, in the semifinals at the Bowker Street courts.

Also shaking their heads over a sudden turn of events are the first-seeded doubles combination of Ivy Hill and Judy Peetz, who were defeated 6-4, 5-7, 8-6, in the first round by Sheila Jennings and Joyce Fairbairn.

In other action Monday, the mixed doubles team of P. MacNeill and P. Batten downed R. Clatworthy and S. Gaunt, 8-6, 6-2, while A. W. Reid bested B. Gale, 6-0, 6-0, in a men's singles match.

Wednesday's draws:

6.15—S. Jennings and J. Fairbairn vs. P. MacNeill and H. Orr; C. Browning and P. Batten vs. B. Hallock and D. Morriss.
7.15—N. Wallace vs. R. Clatworthy; H. Bardon vs. I. Temple; R. Hawthorne and N. Davies vs. V. Pearson and M. Ellis.

GOING UP

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Bob Gutowski, a skinny six-footer, leaped 15 feet 9¾ inches Saturday to break his own claimed world's record of 15 feet 8¼ inches for the pole vault.

SOLARIUM DERBY

JACK CLYDE

A shipwright by trade, Jack was president of the VSIAA last year and chairman of the angling club's ladder derby committee for 1955 and 1956, but he still found many hours to spend on Solarium derby work.

His efforts this year so far put an end to his usual fishing trips but have qualified him for membership in the derby's 1957 Century Club—for those who sell more than 100 tickets for the one-day salmon-fishing competition at Saanich Inlet.

He doesn't mind the time he spends selling tickets since all proceeds go to aid the Queen Alexandra Solarium. "It's for a real good cause," he says. "We can't do too much for organizations like the Solarium."

Jack, married with one son and a grandson, hopes to sell at least another 200 tickets before derby day rolls around on July 21 and will be pleased to sell you a ticket or tell you how the derby helps handicapped children if you will call him at 3-2795.

Danny Introduces Himself; Even Redlegs Are Impressed

Rookie's Debut Boosts Slipping Brook Fortunes

By United Press

The jubilant Brooklyn Dodgers felt something like a sweepstake winner today, having collected on a "long-shot" by the simple expedient of writing Danny McDevitt's name on a ticket.

They made out that ticket last Friday and it provided transportation for McDevitt from St. Paul to Brooklyn.

Who is this guy McDevitt?

That's a question even the Cincinnati Redlegs were asking today after the 25-year-old rookie southpaw, making his first big league apeparance, struck out 11 of them Monday night and limited them to seven hits in pitching Brooklyn to within two games of the National League lead.

In the only other game scheduled in the Majors, Pittsburgh defeated league-leading Milwaukee, 7-5. The Braves now lead the second-place Cardinals by one game.

SOME SHOW

McDevitt, called up by the Dodgers to take up some of the slack caused by the sidelining of Johnny Podres and Sandy Koufax, put on quite a show for the 14,595 fans at Crosley Field. Relying chiefly on a fast ball and sneaky curve, the sawed-off New York native struck out at least one batter in every inning except the seventh and eighth.

McDevitt also drove in what proved to be the winning run with a nifty squeeze bunt during a three-run uprising against starter Johnny Klippstein in the second inning.

Gino Cimoli led off the frame with his ninth homer over the left field fence. Roy Campanella singled and Charley Neal drove him in with a triple. McDevitt then laid down his squeeze bunt to bring in Neal.

The Dodgers added three insurance runs on two hits in the ninth. By losing, the Redlegs tumbled into fifth place, two percentage points behind Brooklyn.

TRIPLES HELP

Pittsburgh gained its victory over Milwaukee with a four-run rally in the ninth, featured by triples off the bats of Gene Freese and Bob Skinner.

With the Braves leading, 4-3, Freese, who collected four of Pittsburgh's 10 hits, tripled in the ninth and scored on Roman Mejias' pinch single. Mejias raced to third when Andy Pafko threw wildly to the plate and later came home on Hank Foiles' bunt. Skinner then came through with his triple, scoring Foiles, and then scored himself on Paul Smith's bunt.

Fletchers Aid Brodie's Drive Into Second

Brodie's Bakery, chalking up their second win in two days, moved into undisputed possession of second spot in the Senior "B" Men's Softball League with a 5-4 win over Re-refined Oil at Heywood Park on Monday.

Giving the Bakers a big boost in their second-place drive were first-ranking Fletchers, who downed Firefighters, 2-1, in Monday's other game.

On Sunday, Navy broke loose with 16 hits to trample Tudor House, 10-4.

It was pitcher Gerry Stilson all the way in the Firefighters-Fletchers contest as he gave up only five hits and doubled in the winning run after a sparkling pitching duel with Barry Jackson.

Mike Clegg was tapped for seven hits as he pitched Brodies to their win over Re-refined Oil.

Big Graduation Step: From School to Majors

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Von McDaniel, the 18-year-old $50,000 bonus wonder from an Oklahoma farm who has eight scoreless innings to his credit, will become a major league starting pitcher this week, less than a month after graduating from high school.

Manager Fred Hutchinson, whose Cardinals returned home today in second place after winning five series and 13 of 17 games on a spectacular road trip, announced that the poised McDaniel will start against Brooklyn here later this week.

His older brother, Lindy, likewise a $50,000 bonus baby in his second full year with the Cardinals, probably will start in the same series. Lindy, 21, has won six and lost three.

Von McDaniel got credit for his first victory Sunday with four closing innings against the Dodgers in Ebbets Field. He allowed one hit and one run as he did in a similar four-inning stint in his debut last week.

His mastery of the Dodgers—plus homers by Ken Boyer and Stan Musial—enabled the Cards to sweep a doubleheader in Brooklyn for the first time since 1945.

Von has struck out eight and walked none in his eight white-washing innings.

"He's absolutely the most remarkable young pitcher I've ever seen," Hutchinson said. "He's more amazing than Feller, much more," Hutchinson added, referring to the fact that Bob Feller came off an Iowa farm at the age of 17 to start a brilliant career with Cleveland.

"Feller had more blazing stuff then, but he was wild, a thrower," Hutchinson continued. "This kid is a pitcher, good and clever."

Marlene Cracks Course Record

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Fonthill, Ont., scored three birdies and an eagle three to set a new women's course record Monday of 72 at the Weston Golf and Country Club and walk away with the qualifying round of the Ontario women's golf championship.

Marlene's score was three strokes under women's par for the 18-hole, 6,072-yard course and chopped four strokes off the previous record held by Mrs. H. R. Armstrong of Weston.

Margaret Again In City Golf

Mrs. Margaret Todd won another city golf title Monday when she registered low gross honors in the monthly 15-and-under ladies' competition at Royal Colwood Golf Club.

First low net was posted by Mrs. G. H. Harrell when she shot a 93-14—79, and second low net was won by Mrs. G. Chisholm with 94-13—81.

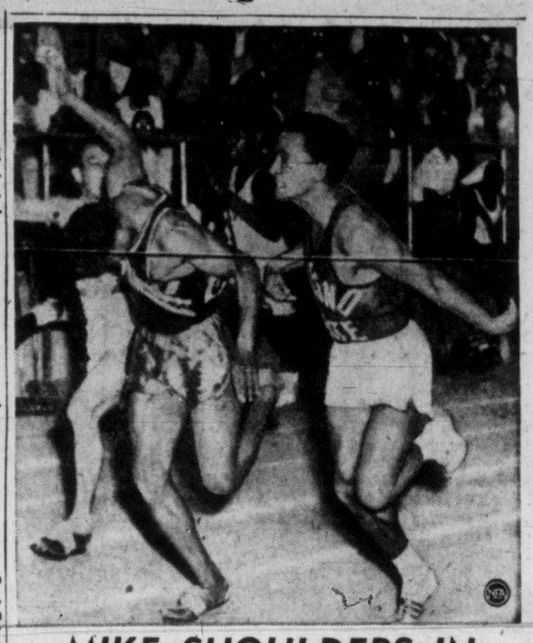
'Pegs Sign Denver End

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers today announced the signing of Ernie Pitts, 20, speedy Negro end with the University of Denver and eighth draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE VICTORIA CURLING CLUB

TAKE NOTICE that the Annual Meeting of the Members of the Victoria Curling Club will be held at 8 p.m., on the 20th day of June, 1957, in the Club Rooms at 1952 Quadra Street, Victoria, B.C.

F. C. MADDEN,
Secretary.



MIKE SHOULDERS IN.

Form was of secondary importance as Trinidad's Mike Agostini puts shoulder to tape to win 100-yard dash in recent California relays at Modesto. Trying to butt ribbon, but a close second, is Orlando Hazely of Oklahoma A & M. Trinidad flash, who will compete in Times-YMCA Vancouver Island track and field meet here June 29, finished in 9.5 seconds, one-tenth second better than Canadian record he equalled in Island meet last year. PRIOR TO START

Streaking A's Move In Today

Riding on the crest of a recent winning streak, Burnaby Athletics will be fast after the Farmer Construction scalp tonight, when they meet in their Northwest International Semi-Pro Baseball League game at Royal Athletic Park at 8.

Manager Bill Kinder led his team to victories in their last two times out. They matched runs and hits with Harwood Roofing and came out on the long end of an 18-13 score Friday and then clipped the Seattle Serv-U-Market team, 8-6, Sunday afternoon in Vancouver.

They will be running into the canny offerings of veteran Bill Prior, who beat them, 10-7, on opening day when they helped open the season's series here.

Since winning the opener, Prior has built up a fine 4-1, won-lost record. He lost his only start when Bellingham Bells took a close one from Farmers here, June 8.

Bill will be anxious to get back onto the winning trail and will be sure to use all of his best pitches against the Burnaby nine, who have yet to win in Royal Athletic Park. In their last meeting Bill Garner held onto the slimmest of leads to eke out a narrow 2-1 win over the A's, June 5.

Farmer Construction could be sadly hampered in the hitting department for the game tonight with doubts expressed by manager Ed Ash as to whether or not power-hitting centre fielder Charlie Boyd will be able to dress.

Boyd was the spark that carried Victoria on their Saturday hitting spree when they hammered Seattle, 16-1, on 19 hits, with Boyd picking up two triples and two singles in six plate appearances.

Following Ladies' Night, which was held Saturday, there were two lucky number prizes not claimed and an added attraction at tonight's game will be the redrawing for those two prizes.
